Come on boys, an' go a-swimmin';
The sun is shinin' on the hole,
An' the waters are a-singin'
To every lively care-free soul.

Come on boys, an' go a-fishin'; The speckled trout are bitin' fine Over in the brook a-ripplin'— So get your pole an' hook an' line

Come on boys, an' go a-nuttin';
The hazel bush is loaded down.
Bring along a sack for fillin'
With ripen'd nets south o' the town on boys, an' go a-campin': The distant hills are callin' now.

Hur.y up an' start a-packin'—

We'll pitch camp 'neath the piney bough.

Risin' sun o'er hill is peekin'.

The August sky is blue an' clear;
Gee! a boy's life's worth a-livin'
All in the best month o' the year.

D. I. OCCUMNON lowing in appreciation of our humble efforts, while he made us blush with pleasure, our first thought was to let the people of this community discover our good qualities, if we have any, for themselves, but we honestly hade, the any, for themselves, but we honessy, hadn't the heart to say him nay. So here she goes:

Mt. Scott Herald is our paper's name, Edited by our friend Mc.; Not very large, but in everything It shows considerable tact.

Only a part of Lents' enterprise, And if used and read and supported Will help to build this community of ours, To which we are devoted.

So let us stand by this paper of ours, As if of us it's a member, And hold up the hands of our friend

Who for us is an ardent contender Let us not say "It's only a sheet

In which we are not interested": It's helping to build up our end of the town, And our support is well invested.

GOT ALONG WITHOUT BOSSING

Joseph Pulitzer Selected His Right Hand Men With Care, and Then Let Them Alone,

There is an old proverb to the effect that a good boss makes a good workman. There must be something in it. The most successful employ ers are those who have the most worth while employees. Part of the success, no doubt, is in picking the employee. Another part, perhaps, is in letting him alone. If he is worth keeping he is worth trusting. "Joseph Pulitzer never dictated to me," said Samuel G. Blythe, according to an exchange. "He never told me what to write or what not to. Only once in my life did he even make a request of me."

Blythe was for years the star man in the great blind editor's Washington bureau. Now and then, as Blythe explained, Mr. Pulitzer went to some trouble to prove in the editorial colprolapsus of the intellect. Sometimes he massed facts to show that his opinion differed monumentally from that of his Washington luminary. But he never dictated, said Blythe. Or almost never. But once he did ask

"I had been sharpshooting at the manner in which a great firm of architects was abusing the exterior of the White House," said Blythe, "when one day I got a wire from the old man. It ran something like this:

"'Unless you have a deep persons feeling in the matter I wish you would cease further reference to the rebuilding of the White House. Please understand this is not a criticism of what you have written. But the same firm of architects is building a house for me, and if you don't lay off I'll not get into it for two years."

Blythe's conclusion was that an em ployer of that sort is fairly sure to have employees who will rob graves, sit up all night, or tear a thesaurus to tatters for him.

RULED LONG IN WILDERNESS

Colin Rankin, Recently Deceased, Was Fifty Years With the Hudson's Bay Company.

Colin Rankin, who died in Montreal recently at the age of ninety-four, was the first native Canadian to enter the service of the Hudson's Bay company After a half-century in the company's employ, this patriarch of the fur trade retired as chief factor in 1898.

He was taken into the Hudson's Bay company's service in 1848 by Sir George Simpson, known as the "emperor governor." Sir George was one of the ablest of the long line of gover-nors that began in 1670 with Prince Rupert, famous champion of the house of Stuart in Cromwellian wars. Under him, the company was merged with the North West company, which for years had been its deadly rival in the fur trade. Under him, too, the company reached its meridian of power and dominion and ruled three-fourths of the North American continent. Mr. Rankin's service was almost exclusively in eastern Canada. He was in charge of posts at Mattawa, Lachine, St. Maurice, Kickendatch, Bersimis, Saguenay, Simcoe and Temiskaming. He was chief factor over the Lake Superior district and the Ottawa river district. He was known for his vigor of mind and body, and his career, which missed but six years of rounding out a century, was an epic of the wilderness adventure.

Flour Maker's Proud Record. Ranking as the champion flour maker of the world, John Kraft, who retired March 1, after continuous service for 46 years, holds the unique record of making flour enough to feed the United States and its possessions for a period of one year. Because of impaired vision, the Arconaut states. Mr. Kraft, who is sixtynine years old, terminated his connection with a Minneapolis flour company after establishing a record which milling engineers believe will stand for many years. Engineers at the plant estimate that during his 46 years of active service Mr. Kraft made 138,-000,000 barrels of flour. According to the veteran miller, an average normal person consumes about one barrel of flour a year, or its equivalent. Mr. Kraft's output, therefore, could feed the population of the entire United States and its possessions, which is approximately 115,000,000, and at the end of the year have a large surplus.

Jugoslavia Prosperous

Jugoslavai is reported to be in better financial condition than most of its neighbors. Its national debt is about $600,000,000 gold and the budget approximately balances. Per capita taxes are considerably less than onethird what they are in Roumania, Czechoslovakia and France. The wealth of the country is at present mainly agricultural. Grazing is an important industry. Several new fac-tories have recently been opened and it is interesting to note that some of these are financed, wholly or in part, with the capital of Russian refugees who managed to bring their wealth with them when they escaped from their own country.

UNFOLDS A TERRIBLE TALE

Captain Returning From Voyage to the Torrid Zone Has Story of derful Experience.

A terrible tale of the torrid zon was unfolded by Capt. R. H. Torrible the other day on the arrival of the steamer Denis, which plies between New York and Manaois, a port about 1,000 miles up the Amazon river. The skipper vowed by marine and other saints that never had he seen sights so strange, according to the New York

Amazon, near Manaois, he said he saw myriads of electric eels so strongly charged with electricity that the broad bosom of the stream was flooded with light and the crew were able to read their pocket Bibles by the glow, which was estimated at 40 watts per cel. When seamen brought some of these high-voltaged eels on deck, Captain Torrible said, the ship's dynamos were short circuited and there was the dickens to pay until the eels were discon-

But Skipper Torrible hadn't finished While the Denis was tied up at the pier, a boy who was working with a loading gang fell into the river. The luminous eels surged around him, and when he was picked up he was dead A physician who examined the body said that the lad was the victim of an electric overcharge, Captain Torrible brought back with him a sundodging monkey, which prowled only at night. He declared that the simian like an owl, was casual and apathetic by day, but when the sun went over the horizon the monkey had 20-20 gilms and was an ultra-lively stepper. The captain took newspaper men into his cabin, where the pet was kept, and pulled down the shades. The sun dodger reacted to the gloom by appropriating and immediately eating a straw kelly recently purchased at considerable outlay by one of the report-

The skipper said that he had purchased a Brazilian sloth to bring back to the United States, but the animal was too lazy to eat and died on the way here.

REAL HUMORIST OF AMERICA

In One Writer's Opinion, the Country Editor is Entitled to Honor of the Title.

The funniest things which are written and printed in this country are not written by Irvin Cobb or George Ade or Ring Lardner. They are not written by the professional humorist of the great newspapers.

They are written by the so-called country editors and notably by socalled country editors of Ohio and Kansas. We hardly think anyone with a real sense of humor who reads large numbers of newspapers and magazines and modern books will dispute this assertion.

Humor is merely the ability to see and react understandingly to the mirth-provoking side of human nature, which is not the least ample of its sides. A humorous paragraph may be grossly exaggerated in its interpretation of human nature, but human na ture must be somewhere down near the bottom of it or it is a failure. This explains why humor is so much more amusing, so much more satisfying than wit. Wit needs no human nature as its foundation, it may be simply a lightning-like play on mere words, sufficient to cause a smile, a laugh perhaps, but none of the solid comfort derived by the discerning from true humor,-Ohio State Journal.

Simple Matter of Finance by Which Frederick Became Possessed of All-Day Sucker.

Frederick has not yet learned the addition and multiplication tables, but he has reached such an understanding of finance as a verb transitive that one wonders as to his future.

WHAT REAL VACATION MEANS Play is the Foundation, and That Con-slets of Doing Anything That is Not Work.

A real vacation, if you can get one, consists of play, asserts Preston Slos-son in the New York Independent. ake, If you build a fire to warm months.

If you build a bonfire because you like to see sparks redden against the sable background of the night you are at play. If you dance to improve your waistline or to learn a new step you are working. If you dance because you "just" can't make your feet behave" the orchestra starts, you are playing. If you go fishing to catch fish you are as much at work as if you were building bridges or writing editorials to make money. If you go fishing in the true fisherman's spirit you won't care much whether they bite or not.

The vacation mind is a law unto tself. If it enjoys an occupation it keeps on while the enjoyment lasts, September 21 to 23. thought every fiber of the tired body may be shouting "quit."

If it ceases to enjoy an occupation it stops at once, though it create consternation all around. A real vacation is a trip into a fairyland, where the natives never heard of duties or obligations and the only law is "Do what you really like."

ALSACE BEGINNING TO LIVE

Writer Finds a Feeling of Relief Peryading the People of the Province, With Reason.

It is a strange, yet stimulating experience for anyone who is interested in the relations between peoples to visit the much-contested strip of land death, and everywhere the blackwhite-red flags were hanging out at half-mast in honor of the man who had made the two provinces a Reischland-part of the new German em-gone, even from Germany itself, is the black-white-red flag; gone are the Prussian officers and officials, the redhatted station masters, and all the other paraphernalia of imperial German routine. The older order survives but here and there, in the great official buildings erected and arranged on the grandlose German (or, as the Ger mans now call it, Wühelmian) scale in the familiar square blue Germa letter boxes, in the neat blue stree signs which have been left standin with a neat new French sign affixed above or beneath. No doubt the minor officials have been but little changed. The village station master and the postman have but doffed their German insignia to don its more easy-fitting French equivalent. But if the men are the same, the faces, as well as the uniforms, are different. There is a feeling of relief, of detente, in the air. One has the sense of a people that has returned to the normal. At last, after a long ordeal, they can be themselves. They are free to settle down and to begin to live.-Alfred E. Zimmern in the Manchester Guardian

GO HEAVY ON SOFT DRINKS People of the United States Consume

Annually a Vast Amount of Sweet Concoctions. That more than $1,000,000,000 is annually spent in the United States for soft drinks is the conclusion reached by experts in the revenue bureau, who base the figures on the tax returns from the sale of 10,000,000,000 glasses a year at an average of ten cents a glass. This vast sum, according to a chemist in the health department, is paid for sodas and other drinks com posed largely of coal tar products of practically no food value and masquerding under the protective cloak of "imitation" and "artificial," which ex-under existing statutes. Orangeade, if genuine, is glucose sweetened water and oranges without any artificial coloring. The imitation orangeade, according to the chemists in the New York city department of health, is a combination of oil or orange coloring, sweetened with saccharine that comes in bottles. Saccharine is a coal tar product 500 times sweeter than sugar, and of no food value, which is considered injurious to health by medical authorities if taken in excess of four glasses a day.-P. Q.
