10,000 PRESENT TO HEAR FAMOUS EVANGELIST

"It pays to advertise." The Mt. Scott Herald announced last week that Billy Sunday would speak in the auditorium in Portland last Sabbath. There were 10,000 out to hear the sensational gentleman, exceeding the capacity of the auditorium more than 2,000, necessitating a second meeting and discourse by Mr. Sunday. While the writer fails to appreciate his method of bringing them to the fold, feeling very much the permanent effects of conversion in this unique way, as a go-getter and stellar attraction Billy probably excels any individual in his line of work in the United States. Among many of his droll sayings at the morning meeting were:

"Any man who can look at the short-skirted, bare-necked, frazzled-headed, gum-chewing, fudge-eating modern flapper without having a moral blow-out should get a government pension."

"No wonder that when some women go fishing in the matrimonial pool they catch a bullhead, a goldfish or a sucker."

"If a lot of you should die right now you'd be in hell by noon."

"You can't put anything over in the game of life without Jesus. Don't blame society or environment for your misdeeds. Look in the mirror and say, 'There's the guy that's to blame.'"

"Thank God I've lived to see the white dove of prohibition come to roost in the dome of the national capitol."

"The average age of criminals is lower now than it used to be. The average age of prostitutes has dropped from 20 to 16."

"I've seen equipages of the rich drive up to theaters in Chicago and women get out wearing gowns that would make the Milky Way look like a second hand store."

"The police can't play wet-nurse to your family flock. You've got to teach boys and girls to be good men and women right in your own home."

Carols sang by the Whitney boys were a grand musical treat, and Mayor Baker, in introducing the speaker, made the following most appropriate remarks:

"The people of Portland must not expect the police department to bring up their sons and daughters. That is the duty of the parents. Too little interest is shown by parents nowadays in their children and the result is that juvenile courts, police courts and divorce courts are overworked."

MARRIED IN PORTLAND: BRIDEGROOM KNOWN HERE

At the First Evangelical church, E. Sixth and Market streets, on Friday, Aug. 26, at 8 o'clock p.m., a very pretty wedding took place. The bride couple were two popular young people, Paul Winslow Bradford, well known in Lents, and Miss Bernice Ernestine Wiechman, daughter of Mrs. Martha C. Wiechman.

The church was decorated in ferns and potted palms. Mrs. Euna Yates, aunt of the groom, sang "I Love You Truly." Prof. Streyfeller played Mengelsohn's wedding march. Rev. H. Hermann, uncle of the bride, was the officiating minister.

Mark Bradford, brother of the groom, was the best man. Keith McClure and Kenneth Krupke were the ushers. Miss Florence Drenched was the maid of honor; Agnes Schwartz and Esther Maurer were the bridesmaids. Little Dorothy Bradford, niece of the groom, was the ring bearer. She carried the ring in a Lily. Little Dorothy Beerman, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl; she carried the flowers in a basket.

The bride came in on her great uncle's arm and was met at the altar by the groom. She was dressed in a pretty white net dress with a satin sash and a bridal veil; her bouquet consisted of pure white roses and sweet peas in a bed of maiden-hair fern.

Rev. Ezra Maurer, pastor of the church, closed the ceremony with prayer and the bridal party retired to the basement, where a reception was held. They had a table exclusively for the bridal party; it was decorated with a pure white cloth and in the center stood the bride's cake and above was a pink wedding bell. All the guests assembled in the basement, and each took home a piece of wedding cake wrapped and sealed, in small packages, with the initial "P."

Alvin K. Bradford of Banning, Cal., sent a hanging basket he had made out of reed for a wedding present. Alvin is an invalid.

The bridal couple left for their home on East Belmont street.

These questions will be so clearly and Scripturally answered by one who began an intensive Bible study and gospel work more than 35 years ago, that even a child can understand them. Facts of the greatest importance will be placed before the audience. Lents pastors specially invited. Admission free. No collection. —J. C. Vanzandt.

EVANGELICAL CHURCH NOTES

Contributions are coming in nicely for the church repairs fund. Bids are being considered, and it is expected that the work will soon be under way.

Our pastor has been taking a much needed rest. He and his wife left on Monday for Vader, Wash., where they will spend a few days. Mr. Silver is said to have spent a part of last week at his favorite pastime of trout fishing.

Rev. Shucknecht, former presiding elder of the Evangelical association, filled the pulpit Sunday, owing to the absence of the pastor. Rev. Culter will again be in his pulpit on next Sunday.

Ted Lee, who was operated on over a week ago for appendicitis, was returned to his home Sunday afternoon. William Knecht, whose funeral service is to be conducted Saturday afternoon, will be remembered as a son of Mrs. Rennicker. He was a faithful attendant at our services for a number of years before going overseas.

HERE AND THERE ABOUT THE CITY

Little Items of Interest to Herald Readers Culled From All Over the Rose City.

A score of trustees, direct from police headquarters, constitute an array of municipal scythe-swingers in cutting weeds on lots about the city. Alleged vagrants, drunks and drug addicts make up the "special detail" squad who are ridding the city of noxious weeds. Each trustee is offered two days off his sentence for each day spent in lot barbering. Two patrolmen are directing the activities of the sicklers and see that there is no loafing on the job. The prisoners are on the job eight hours a day.

In Portland a quart of milk is sold for less to the consumer than in any city in the United States, according to figures recently given out by the Washington state department of agriculture. The figures show that milk is retailed here at from 8 to 11 cents a quart, while in Miami, Fla., a quart of milk sells for 25 cents. Seattle comes next to Portland for selling milk cheap, and the southern states rank the highest in cost. In most of the southern cities a quart of milk retails for from 18 to 20 cents.

Hoboes are flocking into Portland at the rate of about 100 a day, according to the chief of police, who issued orders Wednesday to run out of town itinerants as fast as they come. The officers on duty near the North end and the railroad yards are instructed to keep their eyes open for bums and to arrest all such on vagrancy charges. The rock pile is in prospect for all such as linger around after being warned to get out. Seattle is driving hoboes out and as a result Portland is getting the scum of the northerly neighborhood. The police have no intention of allowing this condition to continue.

William F. Bent, commander of the Portland chapter of Disabled American War Veterans, ended his life by putting a bullet through his heart in the lobby of the New Perkins hotel Monday night. Bent was one of the heroes of Ypres with the Canadian forces and was discharged from the king's forces after being severely wounded, having lost most of his face and received a bayonet wound thru the body. Surgeons rebuilt his face and later he was accepted for service in a non-combatant branch of the American army, after he had endeavored vainly to get to the front. He was also a veteran of the Spanish war. Shell shock, from which he had not entirely recovered, is ascribed as the cause of his act in ending his life.

About 18,000 people have visited Portland's municipal auto camping ground since the opening of the season, according to figures recently compiled. All told 4500 machines have camped there since May 9, when the grounds were really formally opened. Four persons is estimated to be a good average to a car. At least 90 per cent of them go away with the kindest feelings toward the people of Portland.

People who respect themselves are never without the respect of others.

LOSS OF PEP
MANY MOTORISTS
do not realize that a corroded or dirty carburetor is often the cause of the loss of "pep" in their cars, which annoys them so much. Yet this is a very vital fact.
The carburetor is very delicate and must be clean at all times and properly adjusted, otherwise your engine WILL NOT RUN SMOOTHLY.
Carburetor work receives special attention at this garage. It means better service from your car and greater enjoyment for yourself.
