VOL. XX, No. 12

1922 IS BUILDING YEAR

Mt. Scott is Doing Its Share of the Improvement

Before the Mt. Scott Improvement club in recent meeting City Commissioner Barbur stated that 33 per cent more permits for building homes were issued in January, 1922 than in January, 1921. Electric permits issued in January, 1921 numbered 682; for January, 1922, 1019. Plumbing permits this year are 100 per cent more than last year during the same time. If any Mt. Scott resident believes that Mt. Scott is not doing its share to increase the building permits of Portland let him read the building, electrical and plumbing permits in this issue of The Herald. If he will follow them every week he will find the immense building program now going on here. He will understand why the Mt. Scott business people smile through a rainy March which has succeeded a long, cold winter with attendant unemployment, much sickness, and cesspools inflicted at the time sewers are being constructed.

Foster Road Improvement

The city advertised for bids for the improvement of Foster Road from Powell Valley road and 60th street to 72nd street last week. Bids were opened next Wednesday.

For the benefit of those readers who have forgotten the details of this improvement as appearing in The Herald some weeks ago the detailed plan of improvement is:

The pavement is to be asphaltic concrete pavement No. 1 on a crushed rock base; asphaltic concrete pavement No. 2 on a crushed rock base, concrete pavement No. 1 or concrete pavement No. 3 as shall hereafter be determined by the council, except the central 18.5 feet of the roadway which is to be occupied by the tracks of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company. That portion of the roadway occupied by the tracks of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company shall be improved by laying a concrete base six inches thick, a crushed rock ballast two inches thick under the ties, by laying a concrete base between the ties, and paving with either concrete pavement No. 1 or concrete pavement No. 3 as shall hereafter be determined by the council, except that portion to be improved with macadam as hereinafter provided, which shall be improved by laying a crushed rock ballast eight inches thick under the ties and paving with crushed rock macadam. The improvement must be completed 180 days from the date of the passage of the ordinance by the council.

HE CAN'T GO WITHOUT DRINK; COURT FINES HIM ONLY $25

Chris Lollock, 6112 84th street, entertained so effectively in District Judge Deich's court recently that he escaped with a mere fine of $25 for possessing liquor.

"I drove a brewery wagon for Weinhard's for 17 years," Lollock explained, "and since I rolled out of my crib I haven't gone a day without my drink."

He insisted that the 11 pints of moonshine found under his bed by deputy sheriffs was for his own use and that he wasn't selling any.

"Well," said Judge Deich after pronouncing sentence, "if you ever come back here again you want to bring a preacher along to pray for you."

"Thanks, judge," said Lollock, raising his hand in the air in sign of renunciation. "I won't be back."

"The front car was derailed," said Mrs. Stowe, "and Johnny was bounced back and forth across the car. He finally fell in the aisle just before the lights went out and I saw he was bloody."

Dr. E. de Witt Connell, called to testify as to the injuries received by Olney, said that Olney's deafness probably was due to the accident, but doubted whether the loss of sight in one eye was traceable to that cause.

Mt. Scott Industry Brings Payroll to District

Michaelson-Mayson, Inc., is the name of a davenport manufacturing establishment which brings to Mount Scott a business averaging $4000 each month. Ten people are employed and the product, davenports, are sold in Portland and surrounding territory.

Sales are made direct to the home owner, thus eliminating the cost of handling and retail sale. Ninety per cent of the sales are made in Portland, but numerous orders come from Washington and outside Oregon cities and towns.

HE SELLS DA HOOSH, COPS DECLARE; FOUND GUILTY

Bootleggers and moonshiners who think they can go into police court and perjure their way to liberty are not only going to receive the extreme penalty for their offense, but they must likewise face the state grand jury on perjury charges, announced Municipal Judge Rossman last week when he held Theodore Armatus, convicted bootlegger, to the grand jury for perjury. Bail was set at $1000.

Armatus was found guilty of bootlegging and sentenced to six months in the county jail and fined $500. An additional bail of $1000 was ordered by the court when the defendant's attorney announced an appeal to the circuit court would be taken.

First evidence in the case was heard by Judge Rossman March 14. At that time Armatus denied he had ever visited at 5315 52nd street, where police found a still and liquor which he was accused of manufacturing.

But residents of that district identified Armatus as the man they had seen daily about the house, while police officers testified they had found mail at the place addressed to him. Armatus finally admitted he had visited at the place frequently.

The police charged that Armatus was living at that address with an American girl, who posed as his wife.

As soon as weather permits a regulation field for baseball and one for playground-baseball will be laid out and put in order. These will occupy the space in the rear of the building. An agitation is stirring to purchase additional ground to the rear and prices have been asked by the board on 2 1/2 acres. With this, ample room for all games and contests will be provided.
