

OREGON NEWS NOTES OF GENERAL INTEREST

Principal Events of the Week Briefly Sketched for Infor- mation of Our Readers.

Arthur H. Gritzmacher, 28, and Fred Bishop, 46, both of Orengo, who were killed Sunday when a motorcycle they were riding crashed into a state highway truck, were held by a coroner's jury to have met death unavoidably.

The total tax levy for the year 1922, based on the tax rolls for the year 1921, is $40,401,709.21, exclusive of the so-called fire patrol levy of $72,296.41, according to a statement prepared by Frank J. Lovell, state tax commissioner.

J. W. Parker, owner and manager of the Parker stage lines, has filed suit in the Marion county circuit court to restrain the city of Silverton from enforcing an ordinance requiring an annual license fee of $200 for the operation of his stages.

Total resources of the 279 banks operating in Oregon at the close of business June 30, amounted to $290,727,197.53, as against $297,734,314.08 on June 30, 1921, according to a statement issued by Frank Bramwell, state superintendent of banks.

Unless his time is consumed in fighting forest fires, Stanley Walters, district forester, plans on scouting the highland forests at the base of Mount Hood this summer to lay out the route of a trail that will travel the entire distance around the peak near the snow line.

Eleven negative and six affirmative arguments dealing with proposed initiative measures and constitutional amendments to go before the voters of Oregon at the general election in November, have been filed with the secretary of state for publication in the voters' pamphlet.

Representatives of 12 states, including women of national reputation, attended the fifth annual conference of directors, state supervisors and teacher trainers in home economic education of the federal board for vocational education, Pacific region, which was held at the Oregon Agricultural college.

The state board of control, at a meeting in Salem, purchased a site for the Oregon employment institution for the blind in Portland. The site contains 11 acres and is located on Gilsan street, between Eighty-third and Eighty-fourth streets. It adjoins a 16-acre tract purchased recently by the city of Portland for park purposes.

There were three fatalities in Oregon due to industrial accidents during the week ending July 27, according to a report prepared by the state industrial accident commission. The victims were F. F. Foster, fireman, Portland; Joseph M. Cantrell, quarry foreman, Dufur, and J. M. Holcomb, fire fighter, Portland. A total of 694 accidents were reported.

Unless the Marion county court obtains the right-of-way for the Pacific highway through the town of Jefferson, this part of the road will not be paved this year, was the announcement made by officials of the state highway department. The road to be paved is practically a mile in length, and according to the lowest bid opened at a recent meeting of the highway commission will cost $24,000.

A suit to enjoin the secretary of state from placing on the ballot at the general election in November a proposed initiative measure sponsored by G. G. Green, of Oregon City, and having for its purpose the regulation of the state's fish hatcheries and preventing the use of wheels, traps and seines in the Columbia river, probably will be filed in the Marion county circuit court here within the next few days.

Final approval by department of agriculture officials is all that is necessary before work can begin on improvement of the Lebanon-Cascadia road at Shea hill, for years the worst section on this roadway to the interior country. The Linn county court has signed an agreement to co-operate with the federal government in construction and maintenance of the highway. Bids have already been received for the work. Linn county's share of the expense will be $38,000, the government providing a like sum.

The process of handling berries and other fresh fruit by the cold-pack method will be practically revolutionized by the new process put into use for the first time this year by the Oregon Growers' Co-operative association. Barreling and subsequent refrigeration of the fresh berries have been practiced for some time, but this has been supplanted by the use of five-gallon lacquered cans. The fruit is placed in cans in fresh condition and sealed, after which they are frozen hard and placed in cold storage.

The harvesting of winter wheat in Oregon is proceeding without interruption and considerable threshing has been done, says the weekly crop summary of the weather bureau. The harvest of spring wheat and oats is well under way in some localities.

Spring grain that was sown early is fair in some sections and poor in others; that which was sown late is generally poor and in many cases is a complete failure. Irrigated corn continues to do well, but unirrigated corn is showing more serious effects of the drought.

The stern father entered the parlor, and was shocked to see his daughter and her young man occupying the same chair.
"Sir," he said, "when I was courting my wife, she sat on one side of the room and I sat on the other."
"Well," replied the young man, "that's what I should have done if I had been courting your wife!"
A porpoise will devour its weight in fish every 48 hours.

Two men were waiting for a train, and one said: "I will ask you a question, and if I cannot answer my own question, I will buy the tickets. Then you ask a question, and if you cannot answer your own you buy the tickets."
The other agreed to this. "Well," the first man said: "You see those rabbit holes? How do they dig those holes without leaving any dirt around them?" The other confessed: "I don't know. That's your question, so answer it yourself." The first man winked and replied: "They begin at the bottom and dig up." "But," said the second man, "how do they get at the bottom to begin?" "That's your question," was the first man's rejoinder. "Answer it yourself." The other man bought the tickets.—Boston Post.

Why Do So Many People Have Weak Arches?
If shoe clerks are correct in saying that 60 per cent of the women they wait on have weak arches; if the army examiners were correct in rejecting on account of flat foot enough men to make a big city—then it does seem strange that so many people should have to suffer from failure of the foot to hold up under the weight of the body. They're not all fat people, either.
The Answer
Broadly speaking, the reason is this: Every part of the body is always clad so as to permit reasonable muscular freedom, except the foot. Here the ligaments and muscles which should hold the arch bones in place, become atrophied through restricted circulation and lack of exercise in shoes that are rigid, tight, ill-fitting. Down goes the arch. There are other special causes, but the bulk of the sufferers can blame the shoes they have worn.
You Can Avoid It
How much better to wear Cantilever Shoes, with their flexible arches, and room for every part of the foot. They allow the arch muscles to exercise and strengthen naturally as you walk. Circulation is free. They are restful shoes to wear all day. They are comfortable. All these features for your comfort and well-being have not prevented Cantilevers from being good-looking shoes. Their trim appearance is one of the pleasures in wearing them.
These shoes are very finely made. The prices are moderate.
