If you have an heirloom, try to make it the center of an artistic group. Such a piece as this cloisonne vase is much more effective than if placed at random in a modern room.

A Group of Little Girls

A group of little girls were telling each other of the love each felt for her mother; and as the testimony went on, the strength of the statements grew, each child feeling obliged to surpass her mates. Finally, one said positively:

"I love my mother so much, I would die for her!"

The impression of this declaration die for her!"

The impression of this declaration subdued the circle. The climax had been reached. What more could anyone say? But a lady, sitting near, had overheard the conversation, and seized the moment of silence to make a quiet little remark.

"It seems very strange to me," she said, "that a little girl who loves her mother enough to die for her, doesn't love her enough to wash the dishes

We who are older and know better, require just such homely reminders to bring us back from our theories to the facts of life. The love that is "to the level of every day's most common backs," is the early supported the support of the level of every day's most common backs, is the early supported to the support of the su tion of material power, is not all there is to living. Life is something more than these two things, and the man who misses this truth misses the greatest joy and satisfaction that can come into his life—that is, from service to others.—Edward Bok.

HOMEY OLD-FASHIONED DISHES

Who does not like the good old raised doughnut when it is tender and light? The average doughout bought in the market is tough, indigestible and usually fried in some compound that makes it impossible to get it past your nose. The way the old cooks nade such doughnuts was to remove a cupful or two of the bread sponge, add sugar, egg and shortening to it and mix well, set away to rise, knead, roll out, cut and then let rise again. For frying, good sweet lard is used, and when you bite into one of these crisp, brown, tasty cakes they are not at all of kin to the kind you buy.

Norwegian Meat Balls.-Put three pounds of round steak through the meat grinder nine times, add a spoonful of cream at a time to the pulp, working it in well; when moist enough to shape, make into balls, season with salt and pepper and drop into boiling broth to cook five minutes. Skim out and serve with a little of the broth thickened with flour and butter mixed. Pour around the balls. The broth is prepared from the meat trimmings and stringy portions left from the meat grinder. Cover with cold water and simmer until a good broth is Bread Griddle Cakes.-Take two or three slices of stale bread, soak in cold water until soft, then squeeze dry. Place in a bowl and cover with sour milk. In the morning add soda, just flour enough to make a good batter and fry on a hot griddle. If a tablespoonful or two of melted fat is added to the batter no grease is needed to fry them.

Fatiman Bakels.—Beat four eggs until very light, add one cupful of sugar, one cupful of cream, one tablespoonful of vanilla. Add flour to roll very thin, cut in diamond shapes or tear off the pieces, fry in deep fat, sprinkle with powdered sugar. Other flavoring may be used, such as orange,

The Old Lady's Secret

An old lady who managed to retain an appearance much younger than her years, with a bright eye, and a smooth, healthful skin, although her age was over 70, was asked how she contrived to retain her physical charm so long. This was her reply: "I know how to forget disagreeable things.

The reporter was sent out by a certain city editor to question a well-known young amatur sportsman who was being sued for divorce. The reporter called up a couple of hours later and said: "Boss, I can't get anything out of this fellow. He's a big whale, and when I rang the bell and asked him how about this divorce action he just reached out and clipped me on the jaw and knocked me down. Then he slammed the door. I waited around awhile and brushed myself off, and then I tried it again. He came out, and said: "Oh, you're here again, are you?" and he took me by the collar and throw me down a flight of stairs. So I guess there's nething doing on getting anything out of him, boss. I'll come right in." "No," said the city editor. "You go right back and tell that big loafer he can't intimidate me." can't intimidate me."
