

WATCHMAN ON TOWER LAUDS RIGHT POLICY

Proving Again that "Every Gate That Bars to Hate Will Open Wide to Love"

Many gratifying plaudits of every kind were evoked by The Western American's recent declaration of principles, proving again that the people desire harmony with divine will to the extent that human nature can attain it; that they realize the fact that all good comes from truth and love, and that it is folly to waste effort in antagonizing evil, instead of concentrating upon the development and substitution of the good. The endless plaudits, which are not regarded as personal, nor deserved as such, show clearly the intelligent progress of public opinion and justify the claim that the world is growing better day by day.

We appreciate truly the letter from the brilliant editor of THE WATCHER ON THE TOWER, the new weekly Klan journal at Seattle. He is a noted writer, thinker, and soldier, and the new journal is featured by his wonderful new serial story, "If Jesus Comes." This is one of the most remarkable stories of the Christ ever written. Its grasp of world conditions is almost uncanny, its human interest profound and sensational, its meaning and message for Christians irresistible. The Western American may acquire the right to publish this story, as a special treat to its 50,000 readers.

Persons who have $3 to spare (after paying their subscription to The Western American) should subscribe to THE WATCHMAN ON THE TOWER, the great weekly Klan journal of Washington and Idaho, published at Seattle, 612 Securities building. Major L. I. Powell is managing editor, and his literary associate is the remarkable genius above referred to. The $3 will be well invested and sure to return many times the money's worth.

This is the splendid sport model Reo Six won by Sheriff Harley J. Slusher of Clatsop county in the recent subscription contest of The Western American. He generously gave the car to the Astoria Klan, for use in some way to do the greatest good. The car will be given away as a "souvenir" to someone attending the grand kluxer ball at Seaside, Friday, July 6. Be there.

Just read your editorial, "Permanent Policy of The Klan Press."

"We want to convey to you our heartfelt thanks for this essay in wisdom, this quintessence of Klancraft. It is keen, penetrating, scientific, in the meaning of that much abused word, as Jesus would use it, namely, scientifically true to the well-springs of the human heart."

"We have clipped it and framed it. The two large columns hang above our desk in the editorial sanctum, a guide for our daily day-in-the-way we should go, if we would be worthy of the Great Trust involved in our oath as Klansmen."

"More power to your pen and may God guide you in your splendid efforts for the Right. Sincerely yours,

"THE EDITOR,

CARVING A NOBLE MEMORIAL IN DIXIE

ATLANTA, GA., July 5.—Actual carving of the great Confederate memorial on the side of stately Stone Mountain, a shrine of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, was begun Tuesday of last week. Governor E. Lee Trinkle of Virginia delivered the principal address and Gutzon Borglum, the famous sculptor, who will supervise the carving, went over the side of the cliff to begin the actual work himself.

The following day, Governor Trinkle came to Atlanta, where a complimentary breakfast was tendered him.

Governor Hardwick, who was twice defeated for political preferment last summer by the Klan, was present at the breakfast.

"CARNIVAL" OUTRAGE IS HIT BY THE KLAN

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 5.—A gratuitous effort to involve the Klan in a reported uprising at Bladensburg, Md., near here was made by one of the newspapers June 23. The whole thing arose over the resentment of the people to "carnival shows," which resentment the Klan has endorsed.

PRIEST INCITES MOB VIOLENCE IN GOTHAM

Mayor Hylan Takes Part in the Incubation of Riotous Methods.

NEW YORK, July 5.—Rev. Patrick

J. Tuigg, Catholic priest and pastor of the Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel in Brooklyn, which Mayor Hylan attends, is inciting members of his congregation to mob violence against the Klan. Mayor Hylan tacitly has approved the suggestions and admonitions of the priest, as he has attended meetings at the church where exhortations to violence have been made.

"Go down to Bay Shore," the priest told the men, "and break up their damnable meetings! Do it without violence if you can, but if you cannot do otherwise, fight, and fight as only Catholics can fight! The means are of but small moment. The big thing is to stamp the Klan out of existence, no matter what methods are employed. The ends justify the means."

His remarks were greeted with enthusiasm and, after the sermon, Mayor Hylan was one of the first to pass the collection plate, thus signifying his approval of the mob violence order.

MY MOTHER.

I think back through the years, the lean and the fat, the good and the bad ones, to my earliest recollection. I see a woman with an eye that flashes swift as an Archangel's wing; and a mouth that breaks with laughter and hardens at sight of wrong, singing lullabies; a woman who, with hand grasping the Unseen Hand, walks the briar-bordered paths of life unashamed, unafraid, unharmed. She is clad in garments of beauty for me; age does not soil them, nor years make them cheap and tawdry. Her tongue is without guile, having never been the messenger of a lie. It is 17 years since her soul went home to God and her fingers became for me the fingers of an Angel; but I have not forgotten all she said. She told me there was a Santa Claus, and I believed her. He brings me no longer drums and fifes; he brings to me the vision of my mother; and the music of that angelic chorus, which sang at Creation's dawn and at the hour of man's redemption.—Brother Thomas R. Marshall, 33 degree, Ex-Vice-President of United States. (From the Masonic Analyst, Portland, Ore.)

HARDING AT MERCY OF ROMAN CATHOLICS

(Continued from Page 1) ern railroad. He is a great hand-shaker and present giver and literally has filled the Moran home with hams, pipes, flowers, tobacco, fruit, and is a frequent visitor there. He is a great "back patter," and is said to be after the post as chief of the detail. Jervis, however, does not seem to be awake to this.

Starling was a Presbyterian during the Wilson administration and is a Baptist under Harding. During the last administration he was a staunch Democrat and is now a rock-ribbed Republican. On trips, he acts as advance agent, going ahead to make hotel arrangements and the like, and has letters addressed to him as "Business Secretary to the President."

Mr. Ferguson's Pedigree.
W. G. Ferguson, Roman Catholic, was appointed in 1917 from Boston and was without any previous secret service experience. He went on the European trip with President Wilson where, with one John L. Sullivan, also a Catholic, he used to do night work at the President's residence in Paris. He was not taken to England. He used to be a policeman, and was used principally at hospitals where he kept drunks from hurting themselves. At one time he was recommended for superintendent of metropolitan police of the District of Columbia by the President, who later regretted it and named a more experienced man. It is said the President is very fond of Ferguson, but no reason can be learned for his attitude. He is regarded as a "dangerous" Catholic, not overly bright, but tricky, and is making the most of his opportunities. He frequently received, openly, letters addressed to him as a Knight of Columbus.

Landvoigt Is Some Athlete.

W. A. Landvoigt, Catholic, is a Washington product, and was appointed through John Wilson, cousin of former President Wilson, and was a clerk in the office of former Superintendent of Police Pullman, in the District of Columbia. His greatest claim to fame is that he is an athlete and will tell one so himself on the slightest provocation. He is continually getting hurt or laying off on account of sickness; is very excitable and nervous and it is doubtful if he has ever fired a revolver.

Halcyon Hot Tempered.
James A. Haley, Roman Catholic, was appointed in 1915 and has been on the White House detail for about a year. He gets all the soft jobs. He is hot-tempered, said to be exceedingly profane and of the "know-it-all" variety.

The Joke of the Detail.
John J. Fitzgerald, Catholic, was formerly a chauffeur in the secret service. He was appointed in 1915 and had trifling experience in New York. He is very pronounced in his views on religion and is the most stirring of all the members of the detail in remarks after having been in a Protestant church with the President. He is very egotistical. He is considered by his associates to be the joke of the detail.

George Druscher Is Good Boy.
George Druscher, Catholic, is a Washington product, of no political pull. He was a clerk in police headquarters for two years and was sent to the White House temporarily during Mrs. Harding's illness. He still is on the job and is a good boy. He does not carry his religion to the extremes. He is strong and alert, but does not brag of his prowess.

Styie Is a Lonely Mason.
John W. Styie, Mason, was appointed in 1911 as a stenographer to Chief Wilkie. He did some outside work and was named on the White House detail in 1914 by President Wilson. He ranked next to Jervis until Moran was named chief and the Catholic clique came into control. He is about ready to be dropped from the White House detail.

Charles Fredericks, Roman Catholic, is dominated by a Catholic wife and regularly attends that church. He is chauffeur for the secret service.

Myles McCabill, Roman Catholic, is sometimes temporarily assigned to the White House and used to take all the Presidential trips. His brother is a Roman Catholic priest, and he is probably the worst man of the entire Catholic lot. He is rated as a very poor agent, and he writes his brother everything that goes on about the White House.

Mason Is Sent Away.
When President Harding came to the White House there was another Mason on the detail—Albert C. Parlin. About the time the President went on his last Florida trip, Parlin suddenly was detached from the White House detail and sent from the city by Moran, who did not even give him a chance to defend himself. He is believed he was dismissed from the White House because he was accused of having blackballed Harry C. Barker, a secret service man assigned to Mrs. Harding. The secret service men hold Barker in but little esteem because of the mental work which he does to curry favor with Mrs. Harding.

It appears that Barker made application to Federal lodge in Washington through one Benny Hays, messenger, at the White House and was blackballed. Hays and Barker, in investigating the reason, made Parlin the "goat." It leaked out later that Barker was blackballed because of his Catholic wife, who dominates him. He is said to have told Mrs. Harding it was on her account, thus bringing her into it.
