

VATICAN MONEY IS GOING THE ROUNDS OF UNITED STATES

Note Bears Significant Papal Pictures and Figure of Rattlesnake Striking.

Did you know that United States currency bearing Pope Pius' photograph, the papal cross, a Roman picture group of Columbus "discovering America" and a snake in the act of striking, has been in circulation throughout our country since 1917? Evidently, it was designed by Papal Sir Knight Joseph Tumulty, Fixer Extraordinary for Woodrow Wilson. The one-dollar note on one side has a group engraving of Christopher Columbus and nine or ten of his officers and crew "approaching the shores of America," which they never did, of course, as a matter of history. Columbus is standing in majestic pose with his right hand on his heart. In front of him kneels a bearded pard in an attitude of worship. All around him are kneeling other men, crossing themselves devoutly. At the ship's rail stand a group of men, one gazing toward "America," another looking toward Columbus, arms upraised, one holding his cap in token of victory, the other pointing to "America." Hidden away artistically in the upper left-hand corner, overlooking the Columbus group, is an undeniable engraving of Pope Pius, adorned with his skull-cap. In the lower right-hand corner of the note is an engraving of a coiled rattlesnake in the act of striking.

An oval photograph of George Washington occupies the center of the note. On the reverse side of the note, upper left-hand corner, the words ONE DOLLAR are in one kind of type, and the same words in the upper right-hand corner are in a strangely different style of type but of the same size. The letter E in the word ONE in the upper left-hand corner is clear and free from cunning insinua, but the letter E in the other word ONE, upper right-hand corner—center part of the E—bears the papal cross. Turn the note lengthwise from you and it shines out boldly. Perhaps there are other cunning tokens of the Pope's power in America. These are plain to the eye without a magnifying glass.

This money was issued during the reign of Woodrow the Great, perhaps under direction of his Papal Private Secretary and Arbiter, Elegantiarum, Joseph P. Tumulty, an Irish-American. The discovery of the papal designs on this one-dollar bill was made by a devoted member of the Royal Riders of the Red Robe, who submitted it to the attention of Dr. Martin W. Rose, Imperial Regent of that great American order.

Scrutinize carefully all paper money that comes into your possession, and help to uncover the slick tricks of the papists, who are working like demons to "capture America" by order of "his holiness."

This one-dollar note, series of 1917, is certainly a work of papal art, and doubtless the designs mean a lot to the Pope. His K-C soldiers probably sent him a large amount of them. It is what one would call Vatican money. The worst is yet to come, no doubt.

The Pope's silver money is in circulation in Europe. Grand Dragon Gifford has a sample of it. Ask him for a look-see.

Liquid spirituality shines in the florid face of every other priest you meet.

SAGE OF OREGON IS ASKING A QUESTION

A majority vote of the citizens within the State; and all of the people should submit to the will of the majority. No one could have been more opposed to our present law of capital punishment than myself, but when a large majority of the voters of Oregon voted in favor of such a law, I submit to their will. I am satisfied to leave it to time to prove the wisdom or unwisdom of the majority action. I still have the right to do all I can to educate others so that they will see the injustice of pulling up our criminal weeds and throwing them into the cosmic garden. Our laws make it a misdemeanor for one person to throw any kind of refuse upon another's property; we should be as considerate of God's rights as we are of our own.

To claim that God is in any way responsible for our perversities, is to make a criminal of God. Therefore, the only logical conclusion is that mankind now have just what they have produced. Knowing this truth we should at once change the evil causes which have and are producing evil results. Things which we have made a wrong use of should be used as God intended that they should be; then the results would at once show the wisdom of God's plan and purpose.

I cannot believe that the Catholics would be content to read by the light of a pagan tallow dip if the protestants had given them an incandescent light derived from God's inexhaustible source of love, truth and justice. Results as they are throughout the United States should prove to us that we cannot harvest grain from the tar weed. So we now find that our short comings and long goings of the past is bringing some queer looking and bad acting chickens home to roost.

I can conceive of but one way in which we can be loyal to God, our country, our neighbor and ourselves, and that is to live a clean, wholesome life, doing whatever of good we can simply because it is good to do so, and not because we hope for great reward. Criminal carelessness in the past has enabled the papal agents in the United States to get control of nearly all of our functioning government. I have treated this phase of our present political condition in other articles, but I want to touch upon it here insofar as it relates to our present school bill. I am satisfied that a majority of the public schools in Oregon prefer the public schools to the papal schools; still we find that the great majority vote given in favor of the school bill, is in nowise considered by the papal agents as binding upon them, and they propose to carry the matter to the supreme court.

Why? Because they have been very busy for many years looking after our courts and understand the personnel of even our supreme court, much better than does the average American. The near future will show whether I am right or wrong in my deductions.

If the decision of the Supreme Court should set aside the Oregon school law, what effect is its action going to have on other states which are about to follow the Oregon example? And what is to be our next action to repeal Romish rule? I, at least, know that we are not engaged in a Sunday picnic.

If we will consider intelligently what the Curia Romana has been doing with their billions of income during the last thousand years, we cannot fail to understand why it is that they control the international banks and so many interlocking corporations. Nor will we longer wonder why it is that newspapers, magazines or periodicals, they now own or control nearly all.

"The Argosy," it has absorbed the "All-Story," the "Cavilier," and the "Railway Men's Magazine" and is now no larger than one of these magazines were formally and to my way of thinking, not nearly so good. Still thousands; yes! millions of protestants go on patronizing retailers who must ever hold first allegiance to a papal king.

Is it any wonder the Pope must have a building of twelve hundred rooms, and a retinue of thirty-five private secretaries? It is claimed that three ordinary churches would not fill the throne room of the papal capital building. What think you Christ would say to these pillagers were He to return to earth? "Feed my lambs!" Why, it is nothing for the Jesuits to fleece Christ's lambs even during the rigors of winter. Were it not for some really good priests the sufferings of poor Catholics would be worse than they are.

The Pope claims to be God on earth, with absolute dominion over the earth and to even have power to excommunicate angels. Those who believe such egotistical rot must see that there is no reason for Christ to return to the earth, for the Pope has taken Christ's job.

If the Popes were all good men we might make some allowance for their colossal ignorance. But when we read the history of their infamous lives we have no patience with their blasphemy and hypocrisy. Think of a man claiming to be God on Earth, whose father was his half brother, his grandmother being his own mother and afterward his paramour; and more his accession to the papal throne being obtained by the assassination of his grandfather, and his own father, who was also his half-brother.

Is it any wonder that the Curia Romana forbid their poor victims to read any publication of the truth? The greatest kindness that Protestants could do for the lay Catholics would be to give them a true history of all the popes. Very few of them have been fit to associate with clean beasts and nearly all of them have died a violent death.

Anyone claiming to be an American citizen who will prostitute himself to Jesuit influence in order to obtain place, power or money, should be sent out of the United States and should never be permitted to return.

The following statistical fact statement should be read and fully considered by all Catholics as well as Protestants in the United States and British Columbia.

Papal America includes all of South America and Mexico. The illiteracy of these countries is more than sixty-five per cent.

Protestant America includes the United States and British possessions; the illiteracy of which is less than eight per cent. The difference in percentage would be greater were it not for papal Quebec in Canada.

The factor of time is practically the same; the educational system in South America and Mexico has been the papal parochial school.

In North America—excepting Quebec, Canada—it has been the public school system. I use the term, has been, advisedly. I cannot truthfully say is, because of the encroachments of the papal agents in the United States. Their publishers print our text books, revise our history and push in their Romish propaganda wherever they can, and give greater eulogy to the few Romanists who have a place in history; and do all in their power to gain complete control in the United States and Canada.

They know that the names of Washington and Lincoln are enshrined in the memory of the American people, and because of this they are continually connecting the name of some

CONDON PEACEFUL AND ORDERLY NOW

Grand Dragon Gifford Is Given Genial Welcome. Even Outlaws Respectful.

Fred L. Gifford, Grand Dragon of Oregon, visited the merry little city of Condon, Gilliam county, a day or two ago, and was cordially welcomed by everyone. All wanted to dine him, and some wanted to give him a drink. (But he's b.d.) The Klansmen there, of whom there are hundreds and rapidly increasing, were quietly DEE-LIGHTED to see their famous Chief. The Romans regarded him with respectful curiosity, and more than one was observed devoutly crossing himself. The Little Giant had a warm hand and a cheery smile for everybody. The fine Klan hall at Condon was shot up by a small bunch of cowardly, night-prowling miscreants (all full of moonshine), a few days ago. These outlaws joined with the white folks in welcoming Mr. Gifford.

In his honor a big outdoor Klan meeting was held, with the "Mit-yute" Men on the sidelines getting an eyeful. The Grand Dragon talked plainly as usual, when his time came to speak, and everybody applauded heartily, INCLUDING the observers on the sidelines. Mr. Gifford conferred with public officials and others interested in law and order, and he came away with the conviction that Condon is at heart a law-abiding place, full of good Americans; that only a few thoughtless nincompoops had been led into dangerous mischief by a small group of Roman scoundrels, ex-saloon keepers and bootleggers. A good spirit now prevails, and the decent citizens of Condon and Gilliam county, both Klansmen and Romans, are insisting upon law enforcement and a tolerant and friendly give-and-take in the Great Controversy which is going on everywhere in America.

Mr. Gifford made a statement after he returned to his Portland headquarters. It follows: "Oh, Condon is all right. That's a good American community, and every decent citizen there believes in fair play. We must remember, too, that many people don't understand even yet the principles and purposes of the Klan, and that men are but boys grown tall." Asked what would be done if the Roman-bootlegger bunch broke loose again, Mr. Gifford only uttered a deep growl.

News has reached the state department that the Turkish government has rescinded its order prohibiting all foreigners except British, French and Italian from leaving the country without permission from the Ankara government. Americans are exempted from a former order which compelled them to get a special permit from Ankara.

More than 15,000 immigrants entered through the port of New York July 1, the bureau of immigration of the Department of Labor has just announced.

doubtful saint or papal agent with these beloved names. Should they gain complete control it would not be an hundred years until they would have all the names signed to the Declaration of Independence in their list of Saints; just as they have Joan d'Arc. They now extol the poet Dante, as a consistent and exemplary Roman Catholic, after trying for more than five hundred years to destroy his epic poetry. It is now in order for them to canonize Arius, Hus, Abelard, Wyclif, Jerome of Prague and Savonarola. Then they might claim Voltaire, Rousseau and Paine.

And now, WHAT DOES AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP MEAN TO YOU? Does it mean that you cringe or fawn to papal influence in order to get trade, hold office or to keep your job?

Does it mean having a Jap or a Chinese servant who won't talk back when you make an ass of yourself?

Does it mean that you patronize a Dago or a Greek place of business, usually run by a white slaver?

Does it mean that you have a right to exhale your foul breath and cigarette smoke into another person's lungs?

Does it mean that you have a right to make lewd remarks about women and girls upon the street, regardless?

Does it mean that anything that can be "got by" within our multiplex, man-made laws is all right?

Does it mean that a despicable life by a few dollars payment, a coward's plea for mercy and a sorry look, be set aside regardless of the existing evil results which are due a traitor's wrongdoing?

PATRONIZE HOME INDUSTRIES

There is nothing the matter with Oregon EXCEPT—That entirely too many of us get up in the morning at the alarm of a Connecticut clock; button a pair of Ohio suspenders to Chicago trousers; put on a pair of shoes made in Boston; wash in a Pittsburg tin basin, using Cincinnati soap and a cotton towel made in New Hampshire; sit down to a Grand Rapids table, eat pancakes made with Minneapolis flour, and Kansas City bacon fried on a St. Louis stove; buy fruit put up in California, seasoned with Rhode Island spices; put on a hat made in Philadelphia; hitch a Missouri mule fed on Iowa corn, in a Vermont harness to an Ohio plow, and work like fury all day on an Oregon farm covered with a Massachusetts mortgage; and at night crawl under a New Jersey blanket and be kept awake by a howling dog—the only home product on the place—WONDERING ALL THE WHILE why ready money isn't more plentiful in Oregon.

Happiness Is A Roadside Flower

And as we journey down the open road of life, the flowers that line the roadside are nodding their heads encouragingly to us, and the gentle breezes of the day are wafting to us their fragrance.

The open road—what a world of meaning in that term—open to the men who worship at the shrine of the far flung dare—
Open to men who never stagger beneath the flail—
Open to men when the wolf of despair gnaws at their souls—
The open road—glanced through the open door of opportunity—through which you may pass out into the vineyards of the world, following the spot of blue—ambassadors to the Human Race—God's every star your ally—

Building better than you know, as you put the shoes of happiness on the feet of little children and the staff of happiness in the hands of the aged, the infirm and the weak—renew a glad note of happiness in a bruised woman's heart, when death—the Arch Monarch of the human race—has robbed her of her all.

The Blue Bird of Happiness will sing in your heart if you insure your life today.

TRIBE OF JUDAS NUMEROUS TODAY

JUDAS ISCARIOT, who betrayed our Lord, has had countless relatives through the ages, and today their name is legion. Some of his cousins can be found, perhaps, even among the hosts of the Fiery Cross, awaiting an opportunity to sell the Innocent One for thirty pieces of silver. The fate of each of these inevitably is the same as in Apostolic days. Give a traitor rope enough and he will always hang himself.
