United States Minister Conger arrived in San Francisco last week.

The claim that Japan will make upon China for indemnity amounts to $1,750,000.

A dispatch to the Rappal from Rome says that Bresci, the assassin of King Humbert, has become mad in consequence of the ill treatment of his jailers.

The official name of the great exposition to be held in Portland in 1905, as decided upon by the Oregon and Washington commissioners, is: "Where rolls the Oregon. The Lewis and Clark Centennial, and American-Pacific Exposition."

Springfield, Mass., April 25.—Senator Sixto Lopez has notified his friends here that he is going home, and if he finds press reports true as to a general submission to American sovereignty, he will acquiesce and join Aguinaldo in working for a peaceful acceptance of the rule. He said he will make one more speech in San Francisco before sailing, and expects to reach Manila in July.

Manila, April 24.—One hundred and fifteen officers and 2157 bolomen have surrendered and sworn allegiance to the United States at Narvacan, province of South Ilocos.

The Americans are active throughout the archipelago, accelerating surrenders.

Major Noble, Adjutant-General of the Department of the Visayas, has received the surrender of Quentin Salas and three of his officers. All the insurgents, under Salas will surrender soon. It is claimed this will terminate the insurrection.

Washington, April 24.—Lord Pauncefoot, the British Ambassador, was in conference with Secretary Hay at the state Department today for an hour. In view of the approaching absence from Washington of Secretary Hay, the Ambassador was desirous of disposing of pending matters of business. But the important subject of discussion was the canal project.

Secretary Hay has been at work ever since Congress adjourned taking soundings, with a view to learning just what could be expected from the senate in case he should submit another treaty to that body, but up to this time he has not been able to secure a satisfactory view of the legislative field.

The man who spends ten years of his life in the local room of a city daily rarely learns to do more than one or two things. The editor of a country paper must not only know how to do every thing about his office but often must perform the work himself. He is not only a thinker, but also a worker, and a doer.

That the office of a rural publication is the best school is demonstrated by the fact that of the five great dailies in San Francisco, the managing editors of four learned their profession in small towns, and the other entered it through the composing room. Of the special writers across the bay, two of the most noted published papers of their own in small towns, once upon a time; while the reporters who draw the biggest salaries there are all men who had obtained thorough acquaintance with the work before going to the city. The country journalist is all right, wherever he goes, and the state is proud of him. —Los Angeles Tribune.

The Chetco Boom.

Crescent City News.

The account of the large timber land deal, which was chronicled in the San Francisco papers of last week is confirmed to some extent by the recording in this County of deeds conveying from R. D. Hume, Mary D. Hume and the Del Norte Commercial Company to Isaac Minor, of Humboldt County, certain redwood timber lands, saw mill, railroad and other property in Del Norte County, situated principally on Smith River. San Francisco papers, in speaking of the deal, put the number of acres of timber land at 20,000 acres and say that the deal involves nearly $1,000,000. Others besides Mr. Hume and the Del Norte Commercial Company are said to have disposed of large interests to Mr. Minor, namely, Kraft Bros., Bankers, of Red Bluff; James Camp, capitalist of San Francisco and G. W. Chandler, president of Del Norte Lumber Company. There is also included in the deal, rights of way and frontage at the mouth of Chetco river, in Curry County, Or. This purchase of frontage gives Mr. Minor access to one of the best landings along this portion of the Coast. The place is well sheltered from the north wind, has a depth of about five fathoms, two or three hundred feet from shore and is free from sunken rocks. Mr. Hume, who owns other large interests along the coast, some years ago started to develop this section of country and sunk many thousands of dollars in a large sawmill, railroads etc., at Smith River, into which his schooners entered and loaded with lumber. Finding this unprofitable, Mr. Hume had a survey made for a railroad to Chetco, a distance of some sixteen miles, but for some reason abandoned the project and the mill has since lain idle. Mr. Minor is one of the pioneer lumbermen of Humboldt county, where he has valuable interests, and is also the owner of many seacoast vessels. It is said that he will run a direct line of vessels from Chetco to the Hawaiian islands, where he has a large established trade.

The Trouble With Bryan.

His mistake lies in not gauging his own powers and confining himself to his own field of effort. With that he has made the further mistake of bidding for continuous public attention—a thing the people will give to no one—not even to a President, nor to an Army or Navy hero. The public loves a lion, but will not lionize any man to his heart's content. It wants and will have a change of lions. There come into every life waiting periods; seasons when all effort is worse than futile. Mr. Bryan has encountered one of these periods, and it is a great pity he does not know it. He ought to withdraw from the public gaze—write nothing, speak nothing, and do nothing that seemed an effort or endeavor. He should go out on his little farm, or go fishing or hunting. He should read and think and contemplate the world from quiet viewpoints. He cheapens himself by excessive solicitation for the country's favor. He should go into retirement and wait for the country's summons. If ever it shall need him and want him it will call for him.—Spokane Spokesman Review.

Yokohama, April 23.—There is no doubt that Japan has saved the situation in the far East so far in her determination to resist the Russian demands in Manchuria. All that was needed was for one of the powers to take a bold stand against the disturber of the peace, and the youngest and weakest of them all has been the one to seize the opportunity. Every vessel in the Japanese Navy was in a condition of perfect efficiency, with a thoroughly organized transport service, and an army of 200,000 ready at a moment's notice. All of this was, of course, fully known at St. Petersburg, and was the determining factor of Russian back-down. Japan is now in no mood to let matters rest, and the entire press of the empire is unanimous in demanding that steps be taken to safeguard Manchuria for all time against Russian encroachments. Through Russia's loss Japan has made an extraordinary gain in prestige. In assisting in the relief of the legations, and in her recent triumph, she has twice put the nations of the world under lasting obligations. It is significant, however, that there is as yet no undue exultation or bluster, while a manifest disinclination to indulge in any undue exhibition of triumph shows that Japan has assumed her place as a power to be reckoned with in the future.

Remarks by a Mother Here—To Children.

I am a Belgian, and the old man who lives with me calls me the Duchess. I came here by steamer to Port Orford last year with my sister and some more folks, but a great number of them don't understand us and our ways of living. I and my sister have twelve children two months old, and the old man has turned them out of doors in a pen. I have got four children three weeks old indoors, and Sis has a nest full, the old man thinks about eight. We live on almost anything the old man gives us excepting Oregon larch and myrtle. I get new milk twice a day, and ground barley, oats, wheat and all kinds of garden sass in season or out of season. We have young ones about every six weeks, and I leave my children when a day or two old and go outside and look around and when I want to suckle my children I scratch on the door. Sometimes the old man goes to bed and I wake him up. One night I got him out at midnight. He gives us a box filled with dry straw for a bed, and we tear off the fur from our breasts and line the nest, and when we leave our children we pull the fur over them and leave them nice and warm as they have no coat on them when they are born until they are about two weeks old, and from then until three weeks old they begin to run around and nibble on anything they can find, such as old straws, chips, splinters, bones, cat cardboard boxes or anything they find. My children took a toe off the old man's slippers one night but he only laughed.

I don't know how things are going to turn out with us, but I think some of us will have to emigrate soon, as I heard the old man say there were about thirty of us—and today it is raining a little, and he brought in a bull calf he said was a short-horn, and must be kept dry, and he has no shed, the hen house is full of little chickens, so we have to divide room with the old fellow. The cat does not bother the children, but if they get too inquisitive gives them a spat on the ears; but I think the way things look she thinks of bringing a family of her own to live here, and things may be different; so whether the old man, the bull calf, the cats or the hares will leave remains to be proven. It may be we will all get out in the sunshine, excepting the old man, and he will have that tired feeling he is so used to.

LANGUID

Many a school-girl is said to be lazy and shiftless when she doesn't deserve the least bit of it. She can't study, easily falls asleep, is nervous and tired all the time. And what can you expect? Her brain is being fed with impure blood and her whole system is suffering from poisoning. Such girls are wonderfully helped and greatly changed, by taking

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Hundreds of thousands of schoolgirls have taken it during the past 50 years. Many of these girls now have homes of their own. They remember what cured them, and now they give the same medicine to their own children. You can afford to trust a Sarsaparilla that has been tested for half a century. $1.00 a bottle. All druggists. If your bowels are constipated take Ayer's Pills. You can't have good health unless you have daily action of the bowels. 25 cents a box. One box of Ayer's Pills cured my dyspepsia. L. D. CARR, JR., Jan. 15, 1900. Bath, N. Y. Write the Doctor. If you have any complaint whatever and desire the best medical advice you can possibly receive, write the doctor freely. You will receive a prompt reply, without cost. Address, Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

How the Money Went.

Salem, April 24.—The expenses of the last Legislature, as shown by the books of the Secretary of State, aggregate $45,809.54. Of this sum $22,000 was for clerk hire. The mileage and pay of the members of the Legislature amounted to $15,242.08. In miscellaneous expenses the Legislature cost the State $8,566.94. The average expenditure per day was $1145.24.

Among the miscellaneous expenses, one of the largest items was that for postage stamps and newspaper wrappers. This amounts to $1011.70, an average of $11.24 per member. The 90 copies of Hill's Code, which were distributed to the members and taken home by them, took $826.20 out of the treasury. The largest three stationery bills foot up $1222.85, and there are other smaller bills on the same account. Each member was supplied with several newspapers, and these cost, in the aggregate, $645.90, or about $7 per member. The other items of expense are for miscellaneous, such as extra janitor work, extra light, water, gas, cuspidors, chairs, towels, repairs, etc. Revision of the Senate journal cost $196, and the same work in the House cost $676. Speaker L. B. Reeder drew $160 for helping to correct the House journal, and spent all his time in California while the work was going on.

The total appropriation for Legislative expenses was $50,000, and now there remains an unexpended balance of $4190.46. There will be a few more small items of expense, but the probability is that the cost of the Legislature will fall short of the appropriation about $2000. The appropriation for covering the cost of the session of 1899 was $50,000 and all that sum was expended.

The 1901 R. Hicks 1901 Almanac.

Whatever may be said of the scientific causes upon which the Rev. I. R. Hicks bases his yearly forecasts of storm and weather, it is a remarkable fact that specific warnings of every great storm, flood, cold wave and drought, have been plainly printed in his now famous Almanac for many years. The latest startling proof of this fact was the destruction of Galveston, Texas, on the very day named by Prof. Hicks in his 1900 Almanac, as one of disaster by storm along the gulf coasts. The 1901 Almanac, by far the finest, most complete and beautiful yet published, is now ready. This remarkable book of near two hundred pages, splendidly illustrated with charts and half-tone engravings, goes as a premium to every subscriber who pays one dollar a year for Prof. Hicks' journal, WORD AND WORKS. The Almanac alone is sent prepaid for only 25c. Order from WORD AND WORKS Publishing Company, 2201 Locust Street, St. Louis, Mo.
