Admiral Sampson Dead.

Washington, May 6.—Admiral Sampson today had a violent hemorrhage. His condition is critical.
At two o'clock this afternoon Admiral Sampson was unconscious and breathing laboriously. His physicians state that he is failing rapidly, and that the end may come at any moment. For several days past the Admiral has been growing weaker, and the hemorrhage this morning brought on the sinking spell.

The hemorrhage from which Admiral Sampson suffered this morning was from the brain. At this hour (2:45 P. M.) his unconsciousness is very profound.

Sampson died at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

An Astoria dispatch, under date of May 24, is to the effect that reports from the several packing-houses along the lower Columbia are to the effect that the run of salmon is ahead of that of last year, and the outlook is regarded as promising. Most of the fish now taken are sent to the cold storages. The prevailing prices are six cents for fish weighing over 25 pounds and five cents for fish of less weight.
Already the fishermen have encountered the dangers incident to the vocation, and there have been many narrow escapes from drowning. The squally weather makes fishing most hazardous, and within 24 hours fully a dozen boats met with mishaps. Three or four drifted into the breakers, but in each instance the life-saving crews hastened to the rescue and saved the men and their gear. One boat was capsized and it was feared for a time that the two occupants had been drowned. Latter, however, the men turned up, having been rescued by fellow fishermen. Another man, who was given up for lost, returned to the city after an absence of two days.
He had landed at Chinook, and his long continued absence caused much concern among his friends.

Washington, May 4.—The principal feature of the programme in the House this week will be the bill to place three new stars on the American flag. The omnibus bill for the admission of Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona to statehood will be called Tuesday. The friends of the bill do not desire protracted debate on it, and will try to secure a vote that day. There is much opposition to the bill on the Republican side of the House, on the ground that the territories are not yet fitted for statehood, but the friends of the bill entertain no doubt of its passage. The Democrats in caucus agreed to give it their united support, and at least 60 Republican votes are counted on.

Herr Most is to go to jail for the publication of an article on murder as a remedy for social evils just before the assassination of President McKinley. He was sentenced at the time to a year's imprisonment but took an appeal from the decision of the sentencing court. The appeal has been denied, and the sentence must be served. It is too bad that more of the advocates of anarchy and murder can not be with him, in order that the public officials might be secure.

Oregon's Next Governor.

In an interview as to his policy if elected governor Mr. Furnish said: "I can promise the people of the State of Oregon that when I am elected governor their every right shall be deeply respected. I believe that I can truthfully say that when my term shall have expired the people will have no cause for complaint against my administration. My every act will be in accord with the rights of the entire people. My administration of public affairs shall correspond to my administration of my private business—shall be conducted on a plane of economy commensurate with the best interests of a progressive commonwealth. It shall be my ambition to serve the state as the trusted manager of a great private business would be required to serve those by whom he was employed. There will be no unnecessary frills or furbelows about the gubernatorial office if I am chosen to fill it. I shall seriously contemplate the trust imposed in me and shall aim to discharge it in the interest of all the people as my best judgement shall dictate. In my hands the office of governor shall conserve the entire state, preferring no one section to another, nor any class of citizens to another class.

In the municipal court at Portland, last week, Judge Cameron fined W. N. Daniels $30 on a charge of selling light weight butter. "The charge in this case is that Mr. Daniels did expose or offer for sale 60 squares of butter each of which is and was represented by him to contain two pounds of butter, when in fact these squares and each of them weighed less than two pounds—30 ounces or less at the time of offering or exposing the same," said the Judge. "Section 7 of the act under which the prosecution is brought looks to the protection of the purchaser. On weighing all the boxes there is an average shortage of 3/4 pounds to the box. One box short of weight went one pound more.
Mr. Daniels ought to have seen to it that the butter he received from the Elsyass Creamery Company, of Eugene, weighed what it was represented to be. Maybe the creamery people are to blame in this matter.
The solid butter in one box weighed 54 1/2 pounds, and in another 56 1/2 pounds when they should have weighed 60 pounds. Some rolls weighed short 1 1/4 ounces, and some 2 1/4 ounces. Intent does not enter into this case. If defendant is paying for full weight butter and is receiving nearly four pounds less to the box of 60 pounds than he is purchasing, he is a careless business man. The wrapper on the square of butter represents that there are two full pounds of butter, and the public should not be deceived. The lowest penalty under this act is a fine of $25, and the highest $100.
The defendant is found guilty and is fined $30.

London, May 6.—Bret Harte, the American author, died suddenly last night at the Red House, Camberley, near Aldershot, from hemorrhage, caused by an affection of the throat. Mr. Harte had been suffering from swollen tonsils since December last, but he did not consider the attack to be serious. A week ago he went to visit friends at Camberley and was present at lunch as usual yesterday. He suddenly became ill in the afternoon, went to bed and died in a few hours. His end was peaceful.

The Red Bluff Cause states that the proposed railroad from Yreka to Crescent City and on into Southern Oregon is to be built and the survey is under way. Col. B. W. Morgan Draper, of the Waldo Smelting Company, now superintending the engineering. Colonel Draper is the consulting engineer of the California and Oregon Railroad which is being built northward from Yreka to Crescent City. The new road will virtually be an extension of the line under way and in time will become a part of the new coast road to San Francisco. With the building of the new road the great Waldo copper mines in Northern California and Southern Oregon will be opened to the world. The only thing that has held them back has been there remoteness for transportation. The prime object in building the new line is to afford means of moving the product of these mines to the markets. The new road will be standard gauge and be equipped to do general transportation work in a first-class way.
It will be known as the Oregon and Pacific Railway."

London, May 5.—The tardy official admission of the real nature of the illness of the Queen of Holland, which the Associate Press was able to announce April 17 from Amsterdam, may be regarded as an indication of a very grave crisis in Her Majesty's condition, and coming so suddenly upon the bulletins announcing her imminent recovery, it will cause a shock throughout Europe. Apart from the difficulties surrounding the question of the succession to the throne of Holland the death of Queen Wilhelmina, if this should, unhappily, occur, would tend to convulse the Continent politically. In Germany especially it is a matter of the deepest importance. The German press claims that Prince Albrecht, of Hohenzollern, the acting regent of Brunswick, is among the nearest in the Dutch succession, and in all the European capitals nervous apprehension exists that the absence of a direct heir to the Dutch throne might precipitate a struggle for the possession of Holland, which in Berlin is regarded as Germany's natural right.

Washington Dispatch to Boston Globe.

Members of Congress are dreading the day when Commissioner Ware takes charge of the pension office. They believe that every soldier in the United States who has been denied a pension or an increase under the regime of Mr. Evans will apply to the new Commissioner of Pensions for a reconsideration of their claims. They are predicting that the Pension Office will be flooded with claims that have been rejected by Commissioner Evans. The impression is general throughout the country that Mr. Evans was unusually strict in his examination of claims, and that many claims which were acted upon adversely would have received favorable consideration at the hands of another man. While this impression is erroneous, it is general, and thousands of old claims will be refiled with the hope that Commissioner Ware's interpretation of the pension laws will differ greatly from those of Mr. Evans.

A representative of an American company has purchased the wrecks of the Spanish warships Almirante Oquendo and Viscaya, and they will be broken up and sent to Philadelphia as scrap iron, says a Santiago, Cuba, dispatch to the Tribune.
The vessel will yield about 30,000 tons, and the government will receive $1 a ton.

New York Sun.

Popular election of United States Senators would undoubtedly end deadlocks by allowing a plurality to elect, but a simple act of Congress allowing a plurality of the Legislatures to elect would cure this evil just as effectively, if it is thought desirable, without involving an alteration of the Constitution.

Three hundred million copies of speeches delivered in Congress are to be distributed during the coming campaign. What a flood!
