Town and County.

Chester Langlois was in town Saturday, shaking hands with his old friends.

B. W. Dean was in town Monday on business and made the TRIBUNE a pleasant call.

A butcher from Bandon was in this section last week, and bought a number of beef cattle.

John Wilkinson is slowly fading away at Knapp's Hotel and may pass away at any time.

Since the period of long storms has passed away, the general health of our people is improving.

Steve Merrill came up last Friday and is at work building a house and otherwise improving his homestead.

There was quite a turnout at the Special Woodmen's meeting last Saturday night where certain questions were under consideration.

Guaranteed Forest Reserve Scrip for sale in large or small quantities, by Frank E. Alley, upstairs over Land Office Roseburg, Oregon. Will place same for non resident purchasers.

Robt. McKenzie Jr. left last week for San Francisco via Coos bay, and was accompanied to the Bay by his brother David and his sister Florence.

Late advices state that Judge Woodruff is not recovering as surely as expected and is in a critical condition, having undergone one or two operations for dropsy.

Will Doyle passed through here Friday on his way to visit his sister, Mrs. Ed Mather at North Bend where he will spend a few weeks watching Coos Bay boom.

Cliff Crews, having sold out at Gold Beach, was in town Thursday night on his way to Coquille City where he will reside with his parents and engage in the cigar business.

In a mile race at Oakland lately, R. D. Home's St. Modan won third money. He is a large likely colt, and before the year is over it will probably take some tall running to beat him.

The Columbia Life & Trust Co., of Portland, has appointed W. A. Wood of this place their agent for Curry county. This is one of the oldest companies on the coast and should do a good business here.

Saturday night one of the hardest storms of the season started in, the wind blowing a gale and the rain falling in old fashion. The storm continued all day Sunday, but faded away the following day.

Dr. Tyler came up from Gold Beach Saturday and left next morning for his home near Denmark.

He says that Alf Gauntlett's little daughter, is improving, and with the skillful treatment she is receiving from Dr. Schliemann and the trained nurse, Miss Kabbee, bids fair to recover.

Mr. Carter, a drummer for Tillman & Bendel, was lately down the coast as far as Wedderburn, but returned north leaving Port Orford by yesterday's stage. He believes that the merchants of San Francisco will assist in securing better transportation to this place in the near future. We certainly need it.

The Berwick got into Rogue river last Wednesday, and had a rough bar to cross. She got her decks washed by the seas that boarded her, wetting all freight exposed, but fortunately doing no serious damage. It is said that she has grain aboard for Port Orford that has been on her for so long that it is spoiled.

Mr. Bishel, aspirant for the Republican nomination for Sheriff, spent Thursday night in Port Orford and left next day to interview the voters in that section. The TRIBUNE acknowledges a pleasant call, and as it believes in a fair field and a free fight, it will voice the sentiment of all by saying that may the best man win.

The Spokane Chronicle of Jan. 14th, has an excellent picture of Frank B. Tichenor, whom it designates as the "oldest Field Worker on the Pacific coast and the best known Organizer in the West," and it proceeds to give a graphic sketch of the energetic work he is now performing along fraternal and other lines. Frank is a Port Orford product, a grandson of Capt. William Tichenor the Argonaut, and we shall watch his career with much interest.

Wm. Meek, who has rented the Neeley ranch north of Port Orford, was in town Thursday and made the TRIBUNE a friendly call.

The Berwick called in late yesterday afternoon and landed a small lot of freight for our merchants and L. Knapp.

Mrs. McBride came up from Bandon Monday on her way to Myrtle Point. She informed us that her grandson, Frank Carey, who has been very low from a trouble resembling brain fever or meningitis, is much improved.—Coquille Herald.

There was a surprise party by the juveniles of town, Saturday night, at the residence of Mrs. Marr, and the night was spent in song and dance and fun, and all say they had a pleasant time. Julius Koch furnished the music on his gramophone.

We have received a letter from Miss Nellie Doyle, which states that she is teaching in the St. Mary's Academy at The Dalles. Miss Doyle was born at the mouth of Rogue river where her parents reside, and her friends are pleased to learn of her growing success in the educational line, for none are more deserving.

George S. Wilson, of Chetco, writes us that in December last his home, with all its contents, was destroyed by fire. To a young man lately married such a misfortune is always serious, but with youth and hope and a loving help meet, it is only a trial of brave hearts, and is not like the losses that break hearts and are irremediable.

Mrs. F. A. Stewart recently received a very interesting letter from Mrs. Isaac Coy, formerly Miss Susie Carey, which states that they have a nice little home at Gold Hill, and a family of four young daughters to bless them and keep them busy. They like that country, but sometimes sigh for the cool sea breezes of the coast, and long to see their old Curry county friends, to whom they send their greetings.

We have received from our young friend, Frank B. Tichenor, a very beautiful picture of an apple, on which is a map of a section of Coos county, supposed to be the "Home of the World's Best Flavored Apple." We admit the beauty and excellency of the apple, but demur to the limit and accuracy of the map and all on that there are hundreds of miles of country on the West slope of the Coast Range Mountains with climatic and other essential conditions precisely similar to those of Coos, for the growth of the "World's Best Flavored Apples." This territory reaches from Cape Mendocino to the mouth of the Columbia river.

Ashland Tidings, Jan. 13: Mrs. W. W. Kinnicut, of Camas Valley, Douglas county, died on Maple St. in Ashland, where the family had been residing for a short time, yesterday, of quick consumption, aged 19 years, and the body will be taken north on this evening's train for interment. Mr. and Mrs. Kinnicut were enroute to a southern climate for the benefit of the latter's health, when they stopped at Ashland, a month or two ago. Besides the husband an infant child survives the deceased.

Mrs. Kinnicut before her marriage was Miss Lena Murray, and was well known by many people in Coos and Curry counties, who extend their sympathy to her family for her untimely end.

Another Theatrical Holocaust. By the capsizing of the kerosene foot-lights in a theater at Boyertown, Pa., Jan. 13th, fire suddenly spread throughout the building, precipitating a wild stampede, resulting in the death of 180 people, some burned and many trampled to death.

"A Good Name at Home" "Is a tower of strength abroad"—and the excellent reputation of C. I. Hood Co. and their remedies in the city of Lowell, where they are best known, inspires confidence the world over, not only in the medicines but in anything their proprietors say about them. "If Made by Hood It's Good."

"I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best all-round family medicine known today." Mrs. G. D. FARLEY, 620 Wilder St., Lowell, Mass.

"I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to any one." JOHN B. DUFFY, 14 Auburn Street, Lowell, Mass.

"I am a strong and healthy woman today, from taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I keep in the house for all the family." MRS. FANNIE BALCH, 108 Leverett St., Lowell, Mass.

"I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood-purifier in the world." Miss JEROME E. CARLSON, 113 Liberty St., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold everywhere. In the usual liquid, or in tablet form called Sarsatabs, 100 Doses One Dollar. Prepared only by C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass.

Making Good.

There is no way of making lasting friends like "Making Good" and Doctor Pierce's medicine will exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity, are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards.

A good, honest, square-deal medicine of known composition is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the proprietary medicines that have come into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have gone by the board and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popular favor, while scores of less meritorious articles have suddenly flashed into favor for a brief period and then been as soon forgotten.

For a torpid liver with its attendant indigestion, dizziness, headache, nervous depression, food hoarse, nasty coated tongue, with bitter taste, loss of appetite, with distress after eating, nervousness and general weakness, it is good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an honest, square-deal medicine with all the ingredients printed on bottles rapidly disappearing to prove a "cure-all." It is only advised for women's special ailments. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Less advised than some preparations sold for like purposes, its sterling curative virtues still maintain its position as the "great" remedy, where it stood over two decades ago. As an invigorating tonic and strengthening herb, it is unrivaled. It won't satisfy "who want 'em," for there is not a drop of alcohol in it.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the original Little Liver Pills, although the first pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when once tried are ever afterwards in favor. Easy to take as candy—two or three a dose. Much imitated but never equaled.

Although it is stated to be larger than the state of Rhode Island and includes valuable farm and timber lands as well as an excellent deep water harbor, Curry County, Ore., according to F. B. Tichenor, who was born in that county, there is not a saloon, barber shop, meat market, undertaker, drug store, or dentist.

"This remarkable county is the most western county in the United States. It lies on the Pacific coast just north of the California line."—Spokane Chronicle.

Clarence Boice, who was removed from the Bandon Life Saving Service to that at Empire, will be Captain at the latter Station.

A. B. Sabio has received the announcement of the marriage of his daughter, Mattie E., of Long Beach, California, to J. H. Clifford, an officer in the Bank at that place. Mrs. Clifford grew to womanhood in Bandon, and was well known here.

The Bandon Creamery will be the name of a plant to be built at once in this city, and to be completed by April 1st, 1908. J. R. Green, of San Francisco will be the owner and move to Bandon permanently to take charge of the management of the plant.

To the Happy Hunting Grounds. Old Indian Lyman and his squaw Jane, who for many years had lived near the forks of Haynes slough, occupying two little huts, were found dead on Sunday afternoon by Alex Simpson, who lives near by. The old couple had grown very feeble of late, and the white neighbors made it a point to visit them occasionally and attend to their wants. Nobody had been there, however, for several days, and the condition of the bodies indicate that death occurred four or five days ago. The body of Jane was outside the hut. It was her custom to take a bath every morning in the slough, and it is presumed she was returning from her bath as the body was made, when she dropped down and died. It is supposed that Lyman found her dead, as his cap covered her body. His own body was just inside the door of the hut. He had evidently tripped and fallen on going inside, and in falling the right side of his head struck on a corner of a box, cutting a gash near the ear which bled considerably. The position of the body indicated that he had not moved after falling. Dr. Miagus, coroner, visited the scene, but deemed an inquest unnecessary.

The Indians were each over 100 years old, early settlers stating that they were past middle age when the whites first came to the bay in 1552. The county has been allowing them aid for some time, and neighbors had seen that the old couple did not want for food and clothing.

Building Road Down Rogue River to the Sea. The government is making good progress under the direct supervision of the forest y service in extending a road down Rogue river into Curry County. This particular stretch will open up a wide latitude of country rich in mineral and prolific of the best marketable pine. When this work has been completed 10 per cent of the proceeds will be devoted to the school fund, thus increasing the permanent means of keeping up schools. About $5000 has been appropriated to be used in developing highway, and it is expected that Congress will set aside $500 more to be used on this project.

Extreme difficulty is met in some places. For instance along Rogue river in some places men in taking the initiative step in building were swung out along the bank of the river until the drilling could be done.

The contiguous territory will yield millions of feet of pine and fir, which will increase the revenues of the government at the rate of $2 and $2.50 a million.—Crecent City News.

The barkentine Gleaner sailed Sunday with a full cargo of lumber, bound for Chilli.

Logan Barrett, who has driven stage on the beach route for many years, says that last Friday was the roughest day on the beach he had ever seen. Several times he was obliged to drive on to the seawall, and even then, on two or three occasions, the huge breakers flooded the stage.

The siren-whistle was given a test, Wednesday evening, and proved satisfactorily that it is capable of making seventeen different kinds of noise at the same time, besides being loud enough to cause a commotion in a cemetery. It bellows like a bull, screams like a California lion, howls like a wolf, yelps like a coyote, wails like a Billings gate Bidly and sobs like a love torn maiden, besides doing other stunts too numerous to mention.

The schooner Lucey, bound from San Pedro to the Umpqua, has been heard from at last. She got into Port Townsend, Wash., on Saturday, 49 days out. Friends of Capt. Peterson and the crew were much relieved on hearing of her arrival in the Sound; as it was feared that she may have foundered in one of the severe gales.

Mrs. Esther M. Lockhart celebrated her 83d birthday yesterday, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. Sengstacken. Mrs. Lockhart is one of the earliest pioneers of Coos county, having arrived on Coos bay on the 18th day of October, 1853, in company with the families of Dr. Overbeck and Judge Tolman, and the three ladies—Mrs. Lockhart, Mrs. Overbeck and Mrs. Tolman—were the first white women that saw Coos bay. Mrs. Lockhart has been confined to her bed from paralysis for several years, but bears up wonderfully well, and takes great interest in the welfare of this section and in the development of the country generally.

Varney at Top. Clarence Boice, formerly No. 1 at the Bandon life-saving station, has assumed the duties as keeper of the Coos bay station to fill the vacancy caused by the transfer of Captain Norman Nelson to the Golden Gate station at San Francisco, considered one of the best positions in the service.

At San Francisco Captain Nelson succeeds Captain George Varney, formerly a seaman in the Coos bay station, but who was promoted to Superintendent of the life-saving service in the California district on the death of Major Blakeney, who was also well known on the bay.

Varney's promotion came in accordance with the civil service rules. Many old acquaintances here, who knew Varney when he was in the ranks, will learn with pleasure of his succession to the high position.—The Sun.

FRANK A. STEWART, Administrator of the Estate of Fred D. Stewart, deceased.

Girlhood and Scott's Emulsion are linked together.

The girl who takes Scott's Emulsion has plenty of rich, red blood; she is plump, active and energetic.

The reason is that at a period when a girl's digestion is weak, Scott's Emulsion provides her with powerful nourishment in easily digested form.

It is a food that builds and keeps up a girl's strength.
