Joaquin Miller has been visiting his old time friends on Coos Bay. We wonder what his poetic feelings are when he meditates upon his beautiful but neglected wife and children that once resided at Port Orford!

The gasoline schooner, Enterprise came down from Coos Bay Thursday and landed a lot of freight for Port Orford, and left next morning for Rogue river. She will then go to San Francisco to be thoroughly overhauled and completed according to Mr. Hume's plans.

Being behind in our type setting we are forced to lay over until next week, an article similar to ours on "How to vote" on the pending Initiative and Referendum measures. As part of ours was in print when we received Mr. Upton's is our excuse for publishing ours first. Our next issue will be on the 27th, and will thus give our voters time to read both articles, which we hope will be of value in enabling them to vote.

The laurels and rhododendrons are bursting into bloom, and soon our forests will be a blaze with their glorious hues.

We ask our voters to remember that Mr. Chase got a law enacted by the legislature that would have protected the Elk from last year's slaughter and this year's extermination; but Gov. Chamberlain vetoed the bill on grounds that have been declared by the U. S. Supreme court as illegal.

The Socialist papers say that they will have a presidential ticket in every state in the Union, and indications are that they will poll a very large vote. The panic has made tens of thousands of Socialists and the failure to curb the Trusts, and control the Railroads, will make as many more. If Taft is nominated the labor vote will leave the Republican party and vote Socialist or Democratic.

The Radiom says that there are over a million and a half of young salmon in Hume's hatchery near Wedderburn, that are over 2 1/2 inches long and are being fed on salmon heads that were ground up and canned for such purpose last fall. They are growing rapidly and are so healthy that but few die. If the theoretical propagators of fish could only visit Mr. Hume's cannery they would learn more by ten minutes observation of practical work than by ten years of so called scientific speculation in laboratories.

A private letter from Los Angeles states that Dr. Goodwin, who was a president of the P. F. & L. Co., and is indicted at Portland, is seriously ill and his friends are taking steps to appeal his case to the U. S. Supreme court. This means still further delay of the trial at Portland, if ever tried. Instead of 122 claims as stated by the press the company bought but seven claims; and the chances are they were acquired without collusion. This is the extent of the Curry County "Land Frauds," over which so much trouble and expense has originated.

Last Friday there drifted into Port Orford the strangest visitation from the sea that ever puzzled the oldest inhabitant. Robert Forty discovered it floating in the bay and went out to it in a boat and secured the wonder. It was a fine new Revenue flag 2 1/2 by 4 feet, fastened to the top of a short round staff, which was stepped in a casting with a hole in the center and the casting was securely fastened on three four-foot planks, which made a base not easily capsized and buoyant enough to float the upper stories. The flag is of fine make and uninjured; but the question is who set it afloat? Where and why?

The Fleet Goes By

Yesterday afternoon the people of Port Orford were feverishly expecting the great Fleet of Battleships, but it was about seven o'clock when their smoke was seen off Rogue river, and running, shouting boys told the people that the show had begun, and there was a hurried exit from every home and a rush for Fort Point and the Heads with their elevated view. It was a lovely, windless evening with bursts of sunshine illuminating the horizon, on the rim of which the 17 ships seemed to sail, distinctly outlined upon the brilliant sky with their long streamers of rolling smoke. The spectacle was equally grand when night came on and "darkness was upon the face of the deep" and Admiral Sperry said, "Let there be light and there was light" - until into the bosom of the night this light faded away, perhaps forever.

Mrs. Bertha Gordon, a woman notorious for her immoral and eccentric character, was fatally shot May 8th on the launch Bonita, just as the boat was to leave Marshfield for North Bend. A bar-tender named Mazook Anderson did the shooting, claiming like a coward, that he did it in self-defense. The woman was of no use to the world, except as an example of the effects of evil ways, and if the murderer be hung, the world will be the gainer. The woman had been visiting saloons, brazenly treating men and drinking with them, and thus she has made a text upon which the cause of Temperance can preach one of its most convincing sermons. It is a saloon tragedy which a dullard will comprehend. - Mrs. Gordon died on the 13th.

California strawberries are in the market. They are sold at the rate of three boxes for 50 cents.

A petition is being circulated asking that Coos county give bounties on the scalps of wild animals as follows: Panther $10; coyote $5, and wild cat $3. These "varnints" besides killing domestic animals, slaughter deer and destroy game birds.

The big Smith mill is certainly making good - better in fact than was claimed for it. The mill was supposed, when in good working order, to cut 250,000 feet in 10 hours or 500,000 in a double shift. Lately, since adjustments have been perfected, and since the employees have had some experience with the labor saving machinery, the cut has been gradually increased until the original figures have been badly beaten. The mark now set for the mill is 300,000 in 10 hours, and men in a position to know say the plant is capable of doing it. Marshfield is proud of the big mill, which is probably the most complete plant of the kind in the world.

Why I Hate the Liquor Traffic.

By Gov. Hanley of Indiana.

Personally, I have seen so much of the evils of the liquor traffic in the last four years, so much of its economic waste, so much of its physical ruin, so much of its mental blight, so much of its tears and heartaches, that I have come to regard the business as one that must be held and controlled by strong and effective laws.

I bear no malice towards those engaged in the business, but I hate the traffic.

I hate its every phrase.

I hate it for its intolerance.

I hate it for its arrogance.

I hate it for its hypocrisy.

I hate it for its cant and craft and false pretense.

I hate it for its commercialism.

I hate it for its greed and avarice.

I hate it for its sordid love of gain at any price.

I hate it for its demoralization in politics.

I hate it for its corrupting influence in civic affairs.

I hate it for its incessant effort to debauch the suffrage of the country; for the cowards it makes of public men.

I hate it for its utter disregard of law.

I hate it for its ruthless trampling of the solemn compacts of state constitutions.

I hate it for the load it straps to labor's back, for the pained hand it gives to toil, for its might have-beens.

I hate it for the human wrecks it has caused.

I hate it for the almshouses it peoples, for the prisons it fills, for the insanity it begets, for its countless graves in potter's fields.

I hate it for the mental ruin it imposes upon its victims, for its spiritual blight, for its moral degradation.

I hate it for the crimes it has committed.

I hate it for the homes it has destroyed.

I hate it for the hearts it has

Keep the Balance Up.

It has been truthfully said that any disturbance of the even balance of health causes serious trouble. Nobody can be too careful to keep this balance up. When people begin to lose appetite, or to get tired easily, the least impediment brings on sickness, weakness, or debility. The system needs a tonic, craves it and should not be denied it; and the best tonic of which we have any knowledge is Hood's Sarsaparilla. What this medicine has done in keeping healthy people healthy, in keeping up the even balance of health, gives it the same distinction as a preventive that it enjoys as a cure. Its early use has illustrated the wisdom of the old saying that a stitch in time saves nine. Take Hood's for appetite, strength and endurance.

Convalescents need a large amount of nourishment in easily digested form. Scott's Emulsion is powerful nourishment - highly concentrated. It makes bone, blood and muscle without putting any tax on the digestion. ALL DRUGGISTS; 50c. AND $1.00.

Notice to Horsemen.

I hate it for the malice it has planted in the hearts of men - for its bitterness - for the dead sea fruit with which it starves their souls.

I hate it for the grief it causes womanhood - the scalding tears, the hopes deferred, the strangled aspirations, its burden of want and care.

I hate it for its heartless cruelty to the aged, the infirm, and the helpless, for the shadow it throws upon the lives of children, for its monstrous injustice to blameless little ones.

I hate it as virtue hates vice, as truth hates error, as righteousness hates sin, as justice hates wrong, as liberty hates tyranny, as freedom hates oppression.

I hate it as Abraham Lincoln hated slavery.

And as he sometimes saw in prophetic vision the end of slavery, and the coming of the time when the sun should not shine and the rain should not fall on a slave in all the Republic, so I sometimes seem to see the end of this unholy traffic, the coming of the time when, if it does not wholly cease to be, it shall find no safe habitation anywhere beneath "Old Glory's" stainless stars.

Our Next Senator.

Hon. W. C. Chase, Republican candidate for Joint Senator for Coos and Curry, arrived in Port Orford Saturday, in the interests of his candidacy, and intended to go on down the coast, but having caught the prevailing bad cold he deemed it prudent to forego the trip, especially in such variable weather.

It requires but a few minutes talk with him to enable one to know that Mr. Chase is a man absolutely honest in his convictions; that he is a man of wide information and is of that sort of student whose mental growth will never cease, because there is no egotism in his nature that prompts to self-satisfaction and glorification. He is a sound lawyer, and proved himself to be an industrious legislator for the public good, and is uncontrollable by the tricksters and corporations.

In an interview with him we asked him if there were any special matters for legislation which he had in view. He said there were several and named the following:

He favors changing the Registration law so that when a voter has once registered he need not do so again unless he changes his residence or his party affiliation. Our present law is an outrage - an act of legal tyranny, and because of its biennial annoyance thousands of men will neither register nor vote.

If the people will signify their approval of the measure, by letter or otherwise, he will favor the creating of a new Agricultural Fair District to embrace Coos and Curry because their interests are identical, and in many ways differ from those on the east side of the Coast mountains, for which reason our people will never extensively patronize a Fair in the sultry interior. But a Fair on the breezy coast in the hot season, would attract thousands of people for self-evident reasons.

Another matter of direct importance to all our voters will be pushed if Mr. Chase is elected (and he will be) and that is to enact a law that when school money is apportioned to a district it shall remain with the district to be subsequently used for schools in that district and for no other purpose, and shall not be turned back to the treasurer to be re-apportioned as at present.

The foregoing shows our voters that Mr. Chase is in favor of laws that will help them and help our Senatorial District. They are not of a selfish kind, and he assures us that he has no personal interests to serve, nor will he be the tool for any man or corporations that have such interests.

I will rent my Gregg's creek ranch and bench mines for one year on easy terms, or sell at a bargain. FRANK A. STEWART.
