Town and County.

S. P. Peirce spent a few days in town last week.

Mr. Burnham of Haunts ranch was in town Monday on business.

Commissioner Sypher went down to attend County Court, leaving here yesterday.

Alf Miller came up Monday to set up a tombstone in memory of Mrs. Bertha Ashman.

Last reports state that Bryan is certain of the nomination, having a margin of 116 votes.

The approach to Sixes bridge has been completed, and travel was resumed last Thursday.

Ames Johnston has been awarded the right to have a stand on the Fourth of July grounds, and will be protected by the committee on grounds.

The Enterprise came down from the Bay Wednesday, arriving here early, discharging a lot of freight and took on a load for river in the afternoon.

Clint Malehorn has been doing good work, and making the dirt fly between here and Rogue river, and the road is now said to be in good condition.

Beecher Jess has bought the tools at Nielsen's blacksmith shop and has rented the Nortberg building opposite Johnston's store, and will put up a shop building at once.

The Enterprise came up from Rogue river Monday night on her way to Coos Bay, to bring down material for the Cold Storage building, which will be 50 by 140 feet, and cost $30,000 so we are told.

Anderson the slayer of Mrs Gordon was tried last week at Coquille City before Judge Hamilton, the jury rendering a verdict of manslaughter, which saves his neck but sends him to the penitentiary.

Jo Knight passed through town Friday with a small band of beef cattle which he purchased down the coast for the Myrtle Point market. He also bought of Will Colebrook a yearling colt by Marwood, which promises to be a racer.

Will Colebrook came up with Jo Knight Friday, and took in the entertainment and dance. While here he engaged Bert Johnson to take his two-year old Skipper colt to Wedderburn to train for the Marchmont races. It is a promising colt.

Mr. Merrill, a California mining expert, accompanied by his grand son and nephew and Henry Axtell, arrived at Port Orford Tuesday morning on their way to Axtell's mines on Elk river, which Mr. Merrill proposes to develop if warranted, after examination.

Five large steam schooners passed up the coast Monday inside the reef and fully as many the day before. This indicates that lumber trade is reviving, and business conditions are improving, as many vessels of this class have been tied up in San Francisco for want of freight at profitable rates.

Work is to be started in about 10 days on the cold storage buildings under contractor Hugh McLain, and we understand that quite a number of men have been secured to assist. In order to be benefited by the fall-fishing on Elk and Sixes rivers, the work will have to be vigorously pushed to completion.

Floyd Huntley was in town Wednesday, on his way to his home in Gold Beach from the Oregon Agricultural College. He visited his sister Mrs. S. P. Peirce of Sixes river a few days. James Caughell Jr. his school mate returned via West Fork and down Rogue river. The boys enjoyed their school experiences.

Editor Thresher of the Radium, wife and son arrived in Port Orford Saturday night, and after spending a few days here on business, will go to Coos Bay and then to Portland and thence to Echo, Umatilla Co, where they will locate.

Mr. Thresher has made the Radium an excellent paper, and its mechanical work of such high order as to rank as the neatest paper in Oregon. Their many friends regret their departure from the county, and wish them success and happiness wherever they may locate.

Besides being an expert printer, Mr Thresher is a lawyer of fluent speech, and a graceful writer of more than ordinary learning and ability—and best of all a genial, manly man.

Wm. Hurst Jr. has been very ill at his home at Elk river with tonsilitis.

Fred Lorensen is driving the stage between here and Corbin in place of Lorin Forty.

The thermometer got up to 70 last Monday and people called it hot. Back East they are dying of sunstrokes, tornados and freshets.

Port Orford invites every one to join in celebrating the glorious Fourth of July, the greatest anniversary in all history. There will be plenty doing during the day time and a grand ball at night.

Our old friend and faithful subscriber, J. P. Wentz, of Smith river, Del Norte County Calif. was chosen as a delegate to the Republican National Convention, and there is no doupt that he acquitted himself with credit and honor.

There will be a meeting at the picnic grounds at the mouth of the lake, Friday to fix up the grounds. Everybody is asked to come, in the forenoon, bring lunches and some tool to work with—ax, hammer, or rake.

Mr. Millbury, the Forest reserve agent who resides in Eden Valley was in town Monday, leaving here for Myrtle Point, on a tour of inspection. Money will be available in July for resuming work on the road down Rogue river.

Rolla Canfield says that trying to survey in Port Orford in harmony with previous surveys is like working at the "Fifteen puzzle." As the line between the Tichenor and Jensen properties is liable to be litigated, Geo Fitzhugh will assist in surveying it.

The eldest son of John Kronenberg Jr. was drowned last week at the Aberdeen mill near Bandon, by slipping through a boom of logs and never coming to the surface. He was related to L. Knapp and Mrs. A. Marsh, aged 19, and a very promising young man.

The TRIBUNE extends its heartfelt sympathy.

George Forty made another raid on the sea lions at Cape Blanco reef last Wednesday, and killed 39 males which surpasses any days killing of yore—the largest males do not weigh over a ton, which is about one half the size of a large one of old.

Louis Steinbach of Roseburg was in Port Orford Thursday night, accompanied by George Wickers and mother, and Adolph Hemming, all of Cold Water Michigan, whom Mr. Steinbach is driving down the coast to Del Norte and then back to Roseburg via. Grants Pass.

Clint Malehorn and his crew passed through here Tuesday with the road scraper having finished the work south of here to Rogue river. All say that he has done good work, and that the scraper is a success, and much more economical than the old way of repairing our roads.

James K. Mack, the veteran printer and journalist, editor and proprietor of a Firemans journal of San Francisco, arrived in Port Orford Saturday from the north, on his annual outing to this section to keep up his health and to greet his old friends with a hearty hand clasp. He went down the coast next day on his bicycle.

Both Skipper and Red Tip are standing training well, and will be in condition to meet all comers at the Marchmont races, in August. They are very beautiful horses, and top notchers in breeding and speed. It is said that there are some high-class horses to be there to make them run for their laurels.

Humes hatchery at the mouth of Rogue river turned out over a million young salmon last week. They had been fed until they were several inches long, and so strong and active as to elude their enemies. Mr. Hume's method of feeding young salmon has revolutionized the propagation of salmon by artifical means, and is one of the greatest forward steps ever discovered.

W. E. Burrows of Ophir was in Port Orford Monday on his way to Tennessee to visit his people, and dispose of a farm which he owns in that state. He has patented a clevis pin which cannot fall out, and has made arrangements in St. Louis to have them manufactured, and while in the East he will have them put on the market. His clevis is just what farmers and teamsters need, and we hope he will meet unbounded success.

We wonder if horsemen have noticed that there will be 24 running races at the Marchmont track and only six at the Marshfield Fair, and one of these an exclusive affair. The purses are larger at Marshfield; but the number of purses at Marchmont should make it much more attractive to lovers of the thoroughbred.

O. W. Briggs, formerly of the Coos Bay Times spent Tuesday in Port Orford, while on his way to Wedderburn, where he will take charge of the Radium. Mr. Briggs is an old hand at the business, and handles the stick and the pen with equal proficiency, and is with all a pleasant gentleman as newspaper men are ever found to be.

Rolla Canfield came up with Mr. Thresher who is Atty. for Mrs. Tichenor, to survey her property here, and especially the line between her place and Jensen's, the latter is said to claim quite a wide strip of the Tichenor property. Mrs. Tichenor proposes to put up a fence on or near the line, and Mr. Thresher will let the contract for the fencing, providing an amicable settlement can be made.

A large number of Coos Bay people went to Allegany today to attend the double wedding at the G. A. Gould home on North Coos river this evening when Miss Grayce Gould and C. V. Woodruff and Miss Georgia Gould and Dr. Richmond were united in marriage.

The ceremony will be solemnized on a handsomely decorated barge on the river by the Rev. Gordon of the Coquille Methodist church. About 300 invitations were issued for the wedding.—Times.

Graduating Exercises.

Friday night a large crowd assembled at Nielsen's hall which was beautifully decorated to honor the occasion of the graduating of Miss Linda Sutton and Clarence Zumwalt in the eighth grade.

Miss Sutton recited with much spirit "The Rising of 1776", while Mr. Zumwalt read an essay on "Our Navy," treating the subject clearly and covering its entire history.

A most excellent Musical Program was rendered by Prof. Pearse on the violin and Mrs. Stewart on the piano, and some fine songs were sung by Mesdames Jensen and Stewart and Prof. Johnston, all of the Port Orford Quartette.

Dr. Glanville delivered an appropriate and forceful educational address, and was followed by County Superintendent Johnston who presented diplomas with the following address:

"In accordance with the rules and regulations, as adopted by the state board of education, you have passed, very creditably, the 8th grade examination, entitling you to this diploma, which I now take pleasure in presenting to you. In the history of Port Orford's school, I believe you are the first to receive a diploma of graduation, though you are not the only ones who could have passed, yet you are the only ones who have reached the goal, and by your efforts, and by the aid of a competent and untiring instructor, you now see your efforts crowned with success. You should be proud of this success and thankful for your ability to achieve it. But this peice of paper in itself is of little worth. A flame may destroy it and leave nothing behind but its ashes. But the knowledge which you have gained, of which this diploma is a written testimonial, can never be destroyed, and the great responsibility of employing it to a useful purpose devolves upon you alone. In the battle of life which now lies before you, strive not for riches alone, for they like this paper may easily be destroyed, leaving behind shattered hopes and anguished mind: But rather let the goal of your life's ambition be, both by word and deed, to elevate the condition and lighten the burden of your fellow beings, and those deeds will stand out as lasting monuments to your invaluable worth; And now as Co. Superintendent of Curry County, and again as your sincere friend I most heartily congratulate you."

Prof. W. A. Wood, teacher, and chairman then closed the meeting by an off hand speech full of practical advice to the students and patrons of the district.

The floor was then cleared and one of the largest dances of the year was then tripped off with flying feet.

Harry Orchard says he ought to be hanged. Who says he is not truthful! He says he wants to be hanged! Who says he's truthful?

The new Clerk, Sheriff and Coroner take possession of their office on the first Monday in July, as do the others, ordinarily. Those going in now will hold until January 1st 1911, owing to the change in the date of holding our election, which will hereafter be the first Monday after the first Tuesday in November.

Charles Nickell, former publisher of a Southern Oregon paper who was convicted by Francis J. Heney three years ago of conspiracy to suborn perjury in the land fraud cases and sentenced to 13 months' imprisonment at McNiel's island, has received word from his attorney, Martin L. Pipes of Portland, that a rehearing has been granted him by the federal court of appeals.

Obituary.

Died, at the home of her son, H. G. Stratton, in Coquille June 21st, Mrs. C. C. Stratton. The deceased was born at Oregon City, May 5 1841, and was at the time of her death 67 years of age. She leaves an aged husband, Rev. C. C. Stratton and two children, H. G., and Miss Mary to mourn her death.

The deceased was a daughter of Rev. Alvin Waller a pioneer missionary whom we knew in our boyhood days in Polk county, where in the '50s, we also knew her husband the Rev. C. C. Stratton, before their marriage. He was a most elegant and scholary speaker, whom we first heard in "Old Dallas" before the days of the "Old La Creole Academy", whose first terms we attended under Miss Boise and Prof. Oulthous, Lyman Leach and M. F. Mulkey. Verily Mrs. Stratton saw the birth and growth of Oregon in all its marvelous ways.

My Hair Ran Away

Don't have a falling out with your hair. It might leave you! Then what? That would mean thin, scraggly, uneven, rough hair. Keep your hair at home! Fasten it tightly to your scalp! You can easily do it with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is something more than a simple hair dressing. It is a hair medicine, a hair tonic, a hair food.

The following letter will be appreciated by our Port Orford readers just at this time, as it fairly rings with human and Patriotic spirit that would put no bar in the way of a fourth of July celebration.

Marshfield, Ore. June 20th, 1908.

Mr. J. huston,

Dear sir:

In answer to your request to hold a celebration on the 4th of July on the land belonging to the heirs of the Luse estate I asked my brother and wife and we all accede to your request.

I hope you will have a pleasant gathering and wave the dear old flag aloft that day and teach the rising generation Loyalty and Patriotism.

Respectfully Yours,
Mrs. W. R. Smith.

Judge John L. Childs, of Del Norte, newly elected Grand Prelate of the Knights of Pythias, made Rathbone Lodge an impromptu visit last Friday night. The Judge was on his way home from the Grand Lodge at Long Beach and stopped at Ione to visit the Preston School. About 7 o'clock Friday evening Chancellor Commander Greenough phoned to Jackson that he would be up with the Grand Prelate that evening. The refreshment got busy and prepared a hurried lunch. Judge Childs is a pleasant gentleman and an entertaining talker and his visit was enjoyed by the Jackson Knights. The Judge is the manager of the Crescent City News, the leading paper of Del Norte county.—Amador Dispatch.

The permanent fence enclosing the Alaska Yukon Pacific exposition is nearing completion and in a short time small admission fee will be charged to visitors.

The landscaping of the grounds of the Alaska Yukon-Pacific exposition has begun and the sight is beginning to have the appearance it will have in 1909.

Airship races will be one of the many attractions at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition. The New York Areo club is taking great interest in the matter.

The United States government will spend $600,000 for its building and exhibits at the Alaska-Yukon Pacific exposition.
