Town and County.

Henry Axtell left here late Saturday evening and expected to make an all-night ride to Bandon on business.

We received a pleasant call last Saturday from Lester and John L. Clark and D. D. Misner, all of Portland, who went down the coast on business.

The Enterprise came up from Rogue river Saturday with a cargo of saw-dust for the cold storage building, returning to the river in the evening.

Judge Hamilton and Dist. Atty. Brown left here Saturday morning for Gold Beach where the Circuit court opened Monday with a very small docket.
F. A. Krebs and son spent Saturday night in Port Orford and left for Gold Beach next morning. We acknowledge a pleasant visit from Mr. Krebs Sr.

Rufus King drove up to Bandon Sunday having as passengers Messrs. Lambert, Ava, Dimmit, Collier and another gentleman all of whom took in the Marchmont races.

J. A. Buchman a Roseburg Atty. and Representative elect accompanied by his wife stayed over night at Lindbergs Saturday, and left next morning for Gold Beach to attend court.

F. Reeb, representing the California Notion and Toy Co. spent Monday in Port Orford taking orders from our merchants. He is going down the coast and speaks highly of the roads.

Ed Mather came down from North Bend to see the races and greet his old friends, and his wife who has been visiting her old home some time will return with him when he goes back.

The damp foggy weather of the past few weeks has checked all forest fires. The atmosphere is clear of smoke, and danger for this year is no longer feared. The forest rangers have done good work also.

Three covered wagons with emigrants, from Idaho, passed through Port Orford Monday in quest of homes. They will stop at Euchre creek and look up that and Gregg creek before going further.

For two weeks past the coast has been void of winds and dense fogs have hung over us much of the time, but Sunday the North wind resumed its friendly work, and the sun smiled through the blue skies like a benefactor.

Major T. J. Devos of the U. S. army passed down the coast last week on a secret mission of some kind. He was a Lieutenant Col. in the Spanish war and distinguished himself and command by capturing a fort at San Juan Hill.

The rafters are up, part of the sides boarded, and the cold storage building is rapidly nearing completion. It is a costly structure and will be an object of curiosity when the outside sheathing of lumber is stripped from its high cement foundation.

Atty. John H. Hall, Judge of Coos County, arrived here Saturday on his way to attend Circuit court at Gold Beach. His mother, Mrs. Martha J. Hall, a pioneer died at Marshfield Aug. 18th at the ripe age of 72, leaving numerous relatives to mourn her loss. She was a noble woman and loved by all who knew her.

The wife of Carl Stewart, who has so long been afflicted with consumption, died August 11 at the home of Rev. Wm. Stewart on Gregg creek leaving two small children besides a husband and numerous other relatives and friends to mourn her premature death. The Tribune extends its heartfelt sympathy to the afflicted family.

Dick Dinnigan whom every body knows from Humboldt to Coos Bay, spent Sunday at Port Orford, and will go overland down the coast to Crescent city where he will take a steamer to his home at San Francisco. He is confident of receiving the Democratic nomination this fall for congress from the Fifth District, and he will sweep the district if nominated. He is accompanied by J. P. Fennell Chief Jailor of San Francisco, who enjoys Dick's stories more than the fun he has had jelling Ruef. Mr. Fennell is a native son, and was never out of the Golden state before.

FOR SALE—A few pure bred Berkshire Boar Pigs. Now ready to be taken away. Price $10 each.
Rout. McKenzie.
Sea View, Port Orford, Ore.

Geo. Guerin, of Langlois, was in town Sunday and says that his father will go to Myrtle Point to be treated by a doctor at that place.

Mr. Merrill and his men have commenced a tunnel in a ledge near Axtell's at a point where a hundred foot tunnel will strike the ledge 150 feet below the surface. In the meanwhile the surrounding country will be protected and if there are any valuable mines in that section they will be found and exploited.

At the teachers' examination at Gold Beach, Misses Ada Bailey and Marie Esser and Mr. H. A. Stites passed for first grades. Misses Gladys Miller, E. O'Connell and Blanche Foster passed for second grades with high average. Two applicants failed for third grades, and Ramona Haskins took the examination for a State Certificate.

Every body in Southern Oregon will regret to hear that the great race horse "Snark" belonging to Jake Fry of Big Bend was kicked in a stable at Roseburg, breaking a leg and causing him to be shot. He was enroute to the Marshfield Fair when the accident occurred. He established a world's record at 5 1/2 furlongs when three years of age; was valued at $2,500 and uninsured.

Homes trainers and jockey passed through Port Orford Saturday on their way to the Fair at Marshfield, with his fleet Illies Letitia, Elida and his beautiful two-year-old Agness, who captured all her races at Marchmont. When Elida and Tosca meet on a good track it will be worth going miles to see and other three year-olds had better look on and learn what running really is.

Eloped to Coquille.
Geo. Ferrier and Mrs. McKeel gave their friends the slip Sunday and went to Coquille where they were married returning Monday. On the same evening they were given a charivari at the home of the bride's daughter Mrs. Nevgren—Bandon Recorder.

The Wedderburn Races.
It is conceded that the Marchmont races at Wedderburn last week was one of the most interesting and successful meets ever held in Southern Oregon and deserved a larger attendance, which it will be sure to have in another year. The horses were of high class and strikingly beautiful, and they ran for laurels rather than for the money. Mr. Hume was never known to put one of his horses, and this fact will do more than anything else to make the Marchmont races popular. His string of horses was far better than was anticipated, and comprised the following: Yo San, Letitia, Elida a three year old, and Agness a beautiful two-year old.
L. J. Simpson's string of handsome thoroughbreds, in charge of trainer Armstrong, showed up in the pink of condition, his great mare Tosca beating Doc Rowell 1/2 of a mile and finally beating the best-footed Elida a half mile in 48 1/2 corrected time—a marvelous performance on a heavy half mile track, gratifying alike to the owners and trainers of both horses and not likely to be equaled in many years.
Johnny Heston's horses brought down from Marshfield were Doc Rowell and Cresceton, both classy horses of wide reputation. The mile race between Cresceton and Letitia was the great betting event of the meet, and the old horse was beaten by the game filly in the best race ever seen in Curry county, although he had beaten her 1/2 of a mile on the first day.
Besides these strings, Penia, Joe, Cyclone, Bob Baber and Blue Diamond were there to capture any soft snags that might appear.
We give the official time below of each race, but the track is too long by 24 feet and the reader can correct the time by deducting a half-second for the half mile or 1/2 of a second for each furlong.

Langlois Items.
Mabel Jensen came down from Bandon Thursday, returning Saturday.
Mrs. Lindberg passed through town last Tuesday. She has been in Coquille for several weeks.
Mr. J. S. Capps and F. M. Langlois with their families left Sunday morning for the Fair at Marshfield.
The Misses Johnston of Los Angeles returned to their home Wednesday, after a month's visit with their brother near Langlois.
Miss Linda Sutton, Mr. Hazlett and Robert Forty of Port Orford and Fred Jamieson of Sixes attended the dance Saturday night.
Jennie and Graye Boscon arrived Saturday from Myrtle Point where they attended the Annual Institute held at that place. They were accompanied by Mrs. Nellie Kerrigan of Coquille.
Mr. Park and family were passengers on the last boat for Willows Cal., having moved to Langlois for the summer only for the benefit of Mrs. Park's health.
Misses Ella Johnson and Emily Harlocker, who have been guests of Sylvia Racker for the past week, returned to their homes at Coquille Monday.
Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Woodruff left for a two weeks camping trip to Coos county. They were accompanied by Miss Gould of Marshfield, a sister to Mrs. Woodruff.

Miss Clio Tyler started for Crescent City Friday to enter High School. Miss Clio is already a graduate from the Grammar School at that place and will finish High School preparatory for College work.

The dance Saturday night was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed by all. An excellent supper was served at the Langlois Hotel. Dancing was kept up until a late hour when everyone went home wishing there would be another wedding soon, eh George?

One of the prettiest weddings ever solemnized in our town took place at the Methodist church Wednesday, August 19th, when Miss Marguerite Russell and Mr. John Haugen were united in the bonds of matrimony. The church was beautifully decorated with cedar, fern and roses, and the bridal couple marched up the aisle to the sweet strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March played by Miss Willard. The bride wore a gown of white silk and had a filmy chiffon veil held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms, and carrying cream roses. Nellie Jensen was lovely as bridesmaid in a cream tulle, while Gentry Russell acted as best man. After the ceremony a bountiful dinner was served to over a hundred guests. Mr. and Mrs. Haugen are both excellent young people, the bride being a young lady of many accomplishments and was a great favorite among the younger set, while the groom is a young man of excellent moral character and business qualifications. The happy couple will leave for Marshfield Tuesday, thence to Salem via Roseburg, and will be at home to their many friends about Sept. 15th. A large circle of friends and acquaintances of Langlois and vicinity join in wishing them a happy and prosperous journey through life.

SALMON MOUNTAIN MINES.
A Most Promising Property
In Process of Active Development.
Not many of our readers are aware of the extent of operations being carried on at the Salmon Mountain mining property, situated at the extreme southern Coos county near the dividing line between Coos and Curry. This property, owned by what is known as the Salmon Mountain Coarse Gold Mining Company, of which Orvil Dodge, one of our widely known and respected pioneer citizens, is secretary and manager, has been in a state of active development for five years past, and there are at least indications of abundant reward for the efforts put forth.

But little has been published in reference to the mine, yet the pecuniary benefits resultant from the work carried on have long been felt by the business men of Myrtle Point, Coquille and elsewhere. The writer had recently the pleasure of a visit to Salmon Mountain, and his vague and half confident conception of what was there to be revealed was very effectively strengthened soon after arrival. There is no longer any doubt that the company have a good thing—a big thing, in fact, when the machinery requisite in reducing the ore shall have been installed, the advent of which will be the signal for increased prosperity, permanent in its nature, in the southern part of Coos county.

On a direct line the mine is but eighteen miles south of Myrtle Point though as the road traverses it is 32 miles and is about six miles from Eckler, in Northwest Curry. A crew of men have been steadily employed, and, without exception, the skilled workmen who have developed in some of the most noted gold producing properties of the world are enthusiastic over the outlook hereat presented.

The mine embraces ten placer and two quartz claims, besides a quartz and a placer claim located on Johnson creek recently, a short distance from the main works. One tunnel 800 feet long has passed through 40 feet of ore that assays $5 to the ton, and is not yet through, and mining men estimate they are approaching a contact that will show up the mother lode of this region. Beside the immense body of ore opening up in the tunnel the assayer called the writer's attention to thousands of tons of ledge matter that had been uncovered in the placer operations, which matter from a careful test had revealed good mill ore.

The placer mine has been worked since 1866, being purchased by the present company in 1903, and the pioneer settlers figure that it has yielded from $100,000 to $200,000, not withstanding but a small space not to exceed one acre has been worked out. Wonderful pan prospects are found on the remaining ground, showing conclusively that under the present management a quartz as well as a placer mine of great value has been developed. A first class assayer in the person of Ross C. Dwyer is regularly employed in the premises with a complete outfit for carrying on his work, but the manager of the property has even gone to the trouble of having out side tests made as well. Some time ago he shipped samples of ore to the Selby smelter at San Francisco getting returns that disclosed $75 to the ton. Other assays have shown very high values, some going to the lofty figure of $600 per ton. The richest ores were gotten from the many veins that seem to penetrate all through the big sombre mountain. In addition to the 800 foot tunnel above mentioned there are six others of various lengths, all of which have produced more or less ore of acknowledged richness.

The mine is situated at considerable altitude on a spur of lofty Salmon mountain, and there is a commanding view of the surrounding country during transparent atmosphere. A tributary of the Coquille river flows near. The property is well watered, and an abundance of timber at hand. The company has at present a small quartz mill, pulverizer and concentrator; also a saw mill of minimum capacity, all operated by power furnished by a six horse steam engine. A blacksmith shop and an assay office also stand among the cluster of buildings that ornament the elevation. In the country adjacent there are several smaller mines and prospects, all of which appear to be bringing their owners good returns.

A visit to Salmon Mountain at this season of the year is well worth the pains of the sightseer, a journey that mining men in particular make when on a trip through the county. We opine that the near future will show the place to be one of the important gold producing properties of the rich and developing West—Sentinel.

(COOS BAY NEWS)
Gov. Chamberlain and other distinguished men of Oregon will be in Marshfield during Fair week.
Kyle's cold storage plant on the Siaslaw is putting up chimneys. The price paid fishermen is two cents per pound.
Elijah Smith of the Southern Oregon Co., arrived in Portland from Boston lately, and is soon expected on the bay.
A row boat containing W. W. Coran and wife of Eugene, and Bert McCulloch of Marshfield, capsized Sunday, while boat riding on Isthmus slough. When the boat capsized Mrs. Coran was held down by the overturned boat, and the men had a hard time in extracting her, which they finally succeeded in doing, and after placing her on the bottom of the boat they headed for Archer's wharf, where they were assisted ashore by two men who had witnessed the accident. They were fortunate in saving their lives.
