ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING.

"Contempt of Court" is now much bigger than it was before Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison butted into it. Now everybody is butting.

The Legislature convened Monday, but we have no news as to its organization. Statement No. 1 men will undoubtedly organize the House where they have a large majority. Chamberlain will undoubtedly be elected on first ballot on Monday the 17th. Being directly nominated and elected by the people, we hope to see a high class of men in charge, who realize that their duties are to the public generally, and that they will honorably stand the close watch that the people are sure to make.

We advise our readers to study carefully, the article on Oregon's rubber system of Assessment and Taxation so plainly and ably set forth in last week's TRIBUNE, by Hon. J. H. Upton. People cannot boast of their intelligence, when they tamely submit to such legislation, although it is in harmony with the general trend of legislation, and department rulings, that favors the rich at the expense of the poor. Because of Multnomah's power in the legislature, we may never expect relief, while our session last but 40 days, and any kind of ignorant fool can be sent there from our rural districts. We shall have to invoke the Initiative and Referendum before we get relief, provided that the Initiative and Referendum is not killed by our tricksters or by our courts, before we can act.

New Land Rulings.

The Roseburg land office has just received the new regulations governing the acquisition of title to public lands under the timber and stone act. The gist of the new regulations is that all such lands applied for since the 30th of November, 1908, shall be sold at an appraised value. The examination must be based upon personal examination of the land within 90 days before the application is filed, and it must show the quantity, variety and value of the timber, as estimated by the applicant, and also his estimate of the value of the land itself. At the time of filing such application a fee of $10 must be paid. Under the old regulations this fee was paid at the time of proof. The method of obtaining title is thus set forth:

Any qualified person may obtain title under the timber and stone law by performing the following acts: Personally examining the land desired; presenting an application and statement, accompanied by a filing fee of $10; depositing with the Receiver the appraised value of the land; publishing notice of application and proof; making final proof.

If the government does not make an appraisal within nine months after the filing of application for the land the applicant may buy at his own appraisal by depositing the money within 90 days after the expiration of the nine months and making final proof in due form.

Hereafter an applicant, who is a married woman, will be required to show that the money she pays for the land was not furnished by her husband.

Those who have filed timber and stone applications this month will have 30 days to file new applications under the new regulation. If they fail to do this their claims will be rejected.

Nothing can be done for the Anti-Pain Pills for rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, etc.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

(MYRTLE POINT ENTERPRISE)

The Coos Bay Telephone Company has purchased the Bandon Telephone Company's exchange at Bandon and a few lines running out of the City by the Sea, giving the former exclusive charge of the lines in Coos and Curry counties. The deal was affected last week. The Company is stringing a complete metallic circuit between Marshfield and Myrtle Point. They are also taking up the slack and reinsulating the old toll line.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Haines are expected in from the valley this week, having phoned from Roseburg Wednesday that they were on their way home. Mrs. Haines will keep house for her son, C. W. and look after the motherless children. Mr. and Mrs. Haines are just returning from Los Angeles, but during their absence since last September, have visited at the home place of Mrs. Haines, and the house where she was born 65 years ago in Illinois.

The biennial report of the superintendent of the State Insane Asylum shows that there were 1558 patients in that institution at the close of the year. The majority of the counties in the state sent a number of patients in proportion to their population, with the exception of Marion, Clatsop and Umatilla, which sent much more than their proportion. Coos sent 19, Curry 1; Douglas, 34; Lane, 42; while Marion sent 103; Umatilla, 50; Clatsop, 54; and Multnomah, 335.

T. R. Billings, who was down from Eden Valley the first of the week, reports that a couple of miners got lost in the hills recently in endeavoring to reach the Rogue River Valley from Johnson Creek. The snow was deep on the mountains, and after losing their way the men became very much worn out. They separated and one of them finally arrived at the Billings' home after wandering about all night, during which he had several mishaps, at one time falling in the river and losing his hat. From the Billings' home a search was made for the other man, who was finally found but in such a weakened condition that he had to be carried in.

The boiler of the Massey saw mill on the South Fork blew up Monday morning with serious consequences to the machinery and building, but fortunately with no fatal consequences to the men who were there. At the time of the explosion Emery and Elton Robbins were standing about three feet back of the boiler, and the force of the explosion threw them about thirty feet. Elton was quite severely scalded on the back and legs and received other bruises and injuries, but reports state that he is getting along nicely and will soon recover. Emery was bruised about the face, head and back, but his injuries were of minor consequence. The boiler and machinery were broken up and scattered. The 7,000 pound wheel was broken into bits, one of it being found at least thirty yards from the engine house.

Name Love the Best.

We think home love is the best. The love that you are born to is the sweetest that you will ever have on earth. You, who are anxious to escape from the home nest, pause a moment and remember that this is so. It is right that the hour should come when you in your time should become a wife and mother and give the best love to others, but that will be just it. Nobody, not a lover, not a husband will ever be so tender or so true as your father or mother. Never again after strangers have broken the beautiful bond, will there be anything sweet as the little home circle of mother, father and child, where you were cherished, protected and kept from harm. You may not know it now but you will know it some day.—Ex.

Some Bees.

Three hundred billion bees, according to an expert, made enough honey last year to fill a train of cars long enough to reach from New York to Buffalo. At the low wholesale rate of 10 cents a pound it was worth $25,000,000, and if the 700,000 beekeepers of the country had worked as industriously and skillfully as did the bees the weight of the output would have been three times as great and value $75,000,000.

Not only did the little workers contribute that vast supply of pure and delicious food product to the nation, but as they made it they treated it antiseptically with formic acid, thus preventing impurities or decay.

In one year the bees sent to market a product worth nearly as much as the barley crop; three times as much as the buckwheat crop; $6,000,000 greater than the rye crop, and nearly $9,000,000 greater than the rice crop. All the rice and buckwheat grown on an aggregated area of 2,126 1/2 square miles did not reach to the value of honey by $151,259.—Ex.

There is something wrong with the backbone of a young man who can be bluffed by a kissable girl's "don't."

The contented man is "few in a hill." The country needs the fellow who believes there's more a-coming to him.

The famous won't stack $20 gold pieces are said to "be in the hands of the collectors almost exclusively." Hum. The ones that will stack, too, probably.

If the women of this country had the right of suffrage it is likely they would look more clearly into a brutal tariff that imposes duties of upward of 100 per cent, on their woolen dress goods and the flannels of their children.

How To Gain Flesh

Persons have been known to gain a pound a day by taking an ounce of Scott's Emulsion. It is strange, but it often happens. Somehow the ounce produces the pound; it seems to start the digestive machinery going properly, so that the patient is able to digest and absorb his ordinary food which he could not do before, and that is the way the gain is made.

HIS HOPES BLASTED.

This is the true story of a discouraged and wrecked humorist. The victim has recovered entirely and counts it as one of the fortunate things of his life that, as a funny man, he was shipwrecked early.

A few years ago there was a student in one of the leading universities for who the untaking part of the faculty—any university has some professors not guilty of thinking much—predicted what they called a brilliant future. The young man heard of what they said and believed it, too.

He was known as the college wit. He wrote alleged humorous pieces for the college publications, and when he made speeches at college dinners his auditors were convulsed. Every one seemed to like the youngster—whose name might be McAndrews, although it isn't.

McAndrews was all the more popular because he was working his way through college. He had lived most of his life in New Jersey. One day he was approached for a contribution for an athletic fund.

He frankly said he hadn't any money to spare, but he would give a public humorous lecture in the town hall if the university would rally round him. When he announced that, his subject would be "New Jersey—travels in an unknown and foreign land," there was an immediate promise to rally.

And rally that university did. Word was passed around that it was going to be a great show. The gym club was called upon to rehearse grinds on New Jersey in general and on McAndrews in particular.

There was a large advance sale of tickets. McAndrews rose to the occasion. He worked early and late in writing funny things into the lecture.

He called out the alleged humorous things ever printed about New Jersey and resorted to them as his own. He picked out all the peculiarly named places in the state, such as Hokokus, and made them the scenes of the things he talked about.

McAndrews wasn't entirely satisfied with the words he wrote and soon decided that he must fortify them. He got an old brick and pounded it up fine. Then he took some white sand, that he got from a saloonkeeper, and mixed it with the pulverized brick. He bottled the mixture, sorted the bottles and labeled them as samples of New Jersey soil, to be passed around in the audience.

Something more was needed, and so he got some brown color flasks, filled them with water and labeled them "Jersey Lightning—Tanglefoot Brand." These also were to be passed around.

To add a finishing touch to the hilarity of the evening McAndrews had a map made, dividing New Jersey into three districts, which he called the Mosquito, Cranberry and Backwoods districts. Then he had stereoscopic views made of the mosquitoes, the life size representations of which were as big as barn doors.

The night of the lecture came. The university president and two-thirds of the faculty were present. Scores of well-known townspeople came. A judge of the court of appeals and two supreme court justices in town came also.

From the moment McAndrews opened his mouth to say "According to the latest census returns, New Jersey contains 3,729 square miles, 148,768 chicken coops and 3,897,236,641 mosquitoes" every one of his sentences was greeted with laughter or audible chuckles. His stereoscopic pictures caused shouts of joy.

His samples of the soil and Jersey lightning were passed about eagerly. One of the tanglefoot bottles disappeared and a staid doctor of divinity on the faculty was accused of appropriating it. It was a night of great fun, and at its close McAndrews was besieged by scores with their congratulations.

The university president generously said it was the most distinguished audience assembled in that town, with the exception of one that George William Curtis once had. A humorist, McAndrews was a howling success. The entire university was sure of the brilliant future awaiting him.

In that audience was a college girl, the chairman of the lecture committee of a neighboring girl's college. She, too, caught the enthusiasm of the moment and offered McAndrews the sum of $25 to come to lecture to the girls.

He snapped it up as quickly as a get-rich-quick man can snap money. It was like finding a gold mine.

The girl chairman went home to boom the lecture. She advertised McAndrews as the renowned wit of his university, the coming humorist of the United States, the only legitimate successor that Mark Twain would ever have.

The night of that lecture came on. The lecture was given in the college chapel, one of those cold, blue places that are sometimes found in institutions established in the interest of some religious sect.

The college president sat on the platform and his face was grave. His whole aspect seemed to say: "Young man, this is a holy place. Let no undue levity be attempted here."

McAndrews gave the lecture, and the audience laughed just once. Years later, when McAndrews came to know Mark Twain, he plucked up courage to write Mr. Clemens to know if he would look that lecture over and say whether there was really anything funny in it. He got a letter in reply telling him to send it along.

Mr. Clemens returned the manuscript later with the remark that it was "quite good." McAndrews then said there gave up all hope of being a humorist.—N. Y. Sun.

An Ancient Foe

To health and happiness is Scrofula as ugly as ever since time immemorial. It causes blemishes in the neck, disfigures the skin, inflames the mucous membrane, weakens the muscles, weakens the bones, reduces the power of resistance to disease and the capacity for recovery, and develops into consumption.

"A bump appeared on the left side of my neck. It caused great pain, was lanced, and became a running sore. I went into a medical college. I was persuaded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when I had taken six bottles my neck was healed, and I have never had any trouble of the kind since." Mrs. K. T. BRYAN, Troy, Ohio.
