

FARMER A CROESUS.

LOPS FOR YEAR 1904 EXCEEDED ALL RECORDS.

Corn is King, its Value of Field Amounting to $1,000,000,000.

Washington.—The Agricultural products of the country in 1904 were the greatest in its history...

The figures are enormous. The quantity of corn approached 1,500,000,000 bushels...

The cotton crop is second in the value list, and the indications are that the crop value of lint and seed will reach $600,000,000 in 1904.

Hay and wheat are contending for third place in point of value. It is estimated that these two crops, hay and wheat, will be worth on the farm this year as much as the corn crop, namely, something more than $1,000,000,000.

Potatoes and barley reached their highest production in 1904. The total crop was 69,600,000 bushels greater than ever before, except in 1892.

The principal crops that are valued by the agricultural department of the government have an aggregate farm value this year amounting to $3,583,000,000. This is an increase of 14 per cent over 1903 and 42 per cent over five years ago.

Farm horses have increased slightly in number and more in value, and the aggregate was never so valuable as in 1904, with a total of $1,136,940,384.

The value of farm mules also reached its highest point, which is $217,532,832. The steady advance in poultry in number and in the quantity and value of products leads to some astonishing values for 1904.

The summary of the values of agricultural products for 1904 places the total at $3,900,000,000, after excluding the value of the farm crops that are fed to the live stock.

Miracle of Falling Walls Repeated in a Little German Village—Notes Cause Ruin.

Berlin.—The Bible miracle of the walls of Jericho falling after the Jewish soldiers under the leadership of Joshua marched around them a certain number of times, sounding their trumpets, found a repetition the other day at Hildesheim, near Leipzig.

It is said that a combination of notes caused the ruins of the walls, just as occasionally a note struck in a room will cause the breaking of glass without apparent cause.

FUNERAL SERMON BY WIRE

Distant Sick Man Hears Address at Wife's Coffin—Injured Settling Medicine.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Benjamin P. Walsh, an Allegheny druggist, lay on a cot in the Allegheny general hospital with a telephone receiver adjusted to his head.

The telephone company had arranged a transmitter in front of the coffin. Rev. Thomas Park talked into the receiver while addressing the mourners in the room.

A mile and a half away the sick man heard every word. Walsh was hurrying home with medicine for his wife, who had pneumonia, when he fell from a street car and fractured his leg in two places.

Moccasins for Soldiers.

Inquiries Made by Representatives of Powers at War for Bangor's Golden Slippers.

Inquiries have been received in Bangor, Me., from persons supposed to represent either the Russian or the Japanese government concerning prices for moccasins in large quantities and the earliest date of delivery at Atlantic or Pacific ports.

The moccasin is the favorite footwear of the lumbermen of Maine, and was first made in Bangor in 1851. At first only one or two styles were made, but now moccasins are manufactured in great variety, ranging from slippers for women and children—soft as kid and embroidered with beads—to the stout boots and large rigans of the Penobscot lumbermen.

Much of the sewing is still done by hand, being let out by the piece to French Canadian families in the neighborhood of Bangor. All moccasins are made of a specially prepared leather, rendered a golden yellow by a peculiar process of tanning.

The common moccasin is not proof against water, but it has room for several pairs of stockings, and that is a strong point in its favor. For keeping the feet warm and dry in cold weather the moccasin has no equal.

The greater part of the moccasin leather still comes from the place of its origin, Pawtucket, R. I., although a considerable quantity is tanned in Bangor. Some years ago Bangor men established factories at Red Wing, Minn., and Racine, Wis.

The dainty bath slippers, which are not really moccasins, but are made from soft elk skin, are in great demand at home and abroad, and are especially favored by the ladies of Japan, to which country Bangor sends large quantities. It now seems likely that "Bangor's golden slippers," as moccasins are called, may be worn by the contending armies in Manchuria.

Certain wise doctors have lately been assuring the world that the Japanese are sure to be beaten by the Russians because they live on rice, which is a food not at all calculated to supply the waste upon the human body caused by the hardships of a military campaign, says the New York Mail.

This may be true, though the world will wait and see. Curiously enough, at a time when the physiologists are giving this warning, the rice growers of the United States have combined to teach to the American people the assumed food value of rice and to induce the people, if they can, to consume a great deal more of that grain than they do.

As a matter of ascertained fact, rice is below all other grains produced in commercial quantities in America in its food value—below wheat, maize, rye, oats, barley and buckwheat. It is vastly poorer than any of these in ash, in protein, in fiber and in fat, and surpasses them only in starch. It is not to be thought of for any western people as a main article of food. However, it is not as a main article of food that it is used in this country. Our diet is, fortunately, much more varied than that of the Japanese. Rice is employed in increasing quantity, and to advantage, as a palatable subsidiary article of the national diet. It is a peculiarity of the human stomach that in addition to the nutritive quality in food it demands mere bulk. Concentrated foods soon ruin the digestion. The stomach eagerly calls for something to throw away. Rice supplies this demand. As a food which one may take a large quantity of without getting much to eat it is, no doubt, filling a long-felt want in this country.
