Town and County.

The hotel Masterson is now open and meals will be served at all hours until after the Agate Carnival.

The Tillamook called in yesterday and took another shipment of railroad ties. She also landed some freight that she brought down from Bandon.

Dr. Sorensen and family of Bandon, who have been in town for the past week, have gone down the coast as far as Pistol river on an outing. They will take in the Agate Carnival on their return.

Supervisor Marsh has had a crew of men at work during the past week making a change in the grade at the foot of the Hubbard's Creek hill south of town. This will eliminate the steepest hill in the county road that is in this district.

A. B. Carey made a trip to Bandon Saturday with his high stepping blacks, returning Monday. Mr. Carey will take charge of his stock ranch near Corbin in the near future, and the family by the name of Jewett, who have had it rented, will return to Coos county.

S. S. Jeffries, the barber who has been located at Wedderburn for the past couple of months, stopped in town a day or two since our last issue while on his way to Myrtle Point where he has accepted a position in a barber shop.

The Civil Service examination advertised to take place before postmaster Johnston at Port Orford on the 9th inst., wherein applicants for the postmastership at Gold Beach were to be examined, did not take place, owing to the fact that no applicants appeared. Evidently there are not many office-seekers at the county seat, and just what action the government will now take is not known.

J. C. Eggleston, circulation manager of the Coos Bay Times, and Jack Kelley, representing the Neubaugher company of San Francisco, were in town one day last week on their way south. Mr. Eggleston represents a good paper, and was working the territory as far south as Gold Beach. The gentlemen were accompanied by their wives, and spent Sunday sight-seeing at Port Orford on their return north.

Wm. Candlin, representing the Pacific Paper company of Portland, was in Port Orford Thursday evening returning from one of his periodical visits to Gold Beach. Mr. Candlin is a popular salesman and covers the territory from Siuslaw to Rogue river. He was accompanied on this trip by A. Wilson, of the Rhine Candy company of San Francisco, who was making his first trip into this territory.

Dr. David T. Day, from Washington, D. C., passed down the coast the latter part of last week, in company with another gentleman by name of Smith. Dr. Day is connected with the mineralogical department of the government, and is particularly interested in stimulating the production of platinum. He is taking samples for experiment from the black sand beaches along the coast.

Forester W. B. Milbury in speaking of the government trail that is now being completed between Port Orford and Agness, when in town a few days ago, said that the distance over it between the two places will be between 38 and 39 miles. The trail is being well brushed out and graded, and many of the high climbs, for which the old hunting trail was noted, have been avoided. This road will make it possible for horseback travelers to make the trip from Port Orford to Agness or Illahe in one day's ride, whereas it is more than 60 miles around by the mouth of Rogue river, the old route, and required two day's travel. The old military trail to Agness, that the new one follows in most places, had become so indistinct that several persons were lost in the last few years trying to follow it, some of whom had considerable difficulty in finding their way out of the mountains. The latest incident of this kind occurred about three weeks ago when an Englishman lost his way in trying to come to Port Orford. He was out three days and nights without food and when he finally wandered into a miners' camp on Middle Elk was all but exhausted and his mind was giving way under the strain, but he got all right after a few days rest. The new trail will eliminate such accidents.

Agate Carnival Notes.

Notwithstanding reports to the contrary, the wrestling match between M. Lutsey and Beach Chapman will be pulled off at the Agate Carnival—2 o'clock P. M. Friday the 15th. In getting it the committee had to meet opposition from towns ten times the size of Port Orford, but it landed the match, and in doing so is giving the largest purse ever offered an athletic event (horse race or otherwise) in the history of Curry county. Both men are top-notchers, and the event is as classy a one of its kind as any city in the world can stage. Nothing's too good for Port Orford.

The Bandon orchestra of six pieces, good as the country affords, will play for the dance on the big pavillion both day and night.

The Arnold Amusement company, one of the best shows on the road, will give day and night peformances in their big tent. Their fancy rifle shot is the equal of Buffalo Bill.

Friday forenoon there will be a basketball game on the pavillion, folowed by the barbecue and picnic dinner. In the afternoon will be the wrestling match, big show and dancing. Saturday forenoon there will be races for everybody—children and grown-ups—novelty races, etc. Saturday afternoon will be the Gold Medal Athletic Championship—running high and broad jumps, pole vault, shot put, 220 yard hurdle, 100 yard dash, 220 and ¼ mile run, followed by horse-racing—saddle horses ½ mile, free-for-all 600 yards and repeat. After supper comes the reproduction of the Battle of Battle Rock—bigger and better than ever before—a unique treat.

A wonderful collection of Agates, also Indian Curios, Sea Mosses and Fancy Work will be on display at all times.

The Agate Carnival is something that no place in the world can duplicate. Come and be convinced.

Hotel Masterson for good service.

N. H. Larson made a flying trip by auto to Bandon Monday evening returning on the steamer Tillamook yesterday.

Mrs. T. L. Carey and daughter Evelyn arrived in town Tuesday evening from Wedderburn as Agate Carnival visitors.

Several of the young people from Langlois came down in Fred Guerins auto Sunday and spent the day on Agate beach.

The steamer Brooklyn called in early yesterday morning and loaded 214,000 cedar shingles for delivery at Brookings.

Among the early visitors to come to town for the Agate Carnival are Frank Langlois and wife from Dairyville, who are now camped at Agate beach.

Mrs. A. J. Krants of Portland, formerly Miss Ruby Stewart, arrived at Port Orford Monday evening on a visit to her parents at this place, also to enjoy the Agate Carnival.

Atty. A. J. Sherwood, District Attorney L. J. Liljeqvist and L. H. Hazard, cashier of the First National bank of Coquille, with their families, run down to Port Orford by auto Sunday and spent a few hours on our beaches, returning the following morning.

Dr. Pemberton was called to Port Orford Sunday to attend Wm. White, an employee at the Knapp hotel, who is still rather dangerously ill. White made a trip to Bandon about a week ago, and evidently the "sea breeze" there did not agree with him as he returned in a bad condition, and his heart action has been affected since.

When returning to their home at Corbin from Port Orford last Thursday with a wagon and team Mr. and Mrs. D. Quellen met an auto on one of the mountain grades that frightened their team so that they overturned the wagon, throwing Mrs. Quellen out and severely bruising her. Although not severely injured Mrs. Quellen was badly bruised and has since been confined to her room.

Later—We learn that Mrs. Quellen is more seriously injured than at first supposed, and that she has been unable to move herself since, internal injuries being feared.

Messers. Drew and Gee, manager and linesman respectively of the Bell telephone company at Marshfield, made a trip to Rogue river last week looking over the telephone line with a view to putting it in good condition. Mr. Drew stated that the company was going to put it in first class shape, and that the larger number of the poles from Bandon to Gold Beach would be replaced with new ones and that a heavier wire would be stretched instead of the old one. The work will be commenced within the next few weeks and will be completed as soon as possible.

Undertaker Lindberg and Dan Jurgensen went to Gold Beach last week with the casket for Mrs. Moore.

Mrs. Alice Zumwalt came up from Rogue river a few days ago, and will visit in Port Orford until after the Agate Carnival.

Ernest Watson, of South Bend, Wash. who has located a homestead on Rogue river, made us a pleasant call on his return.

The Tramp called in at Port Orford for a few minutes Sunday evening while on her way from Rogue river to Coos Bay. She had a couple of fishing boats in tow.

Mrs. J. T. Mars and family, who had been camped at Elk river for a week or so, moved into Port Orford last Saturday, and pitched their beautiful tent in Azalia Park, near the church.

County Attorney Meredith passed through town yesterday enroute to Langlois to investigate what is reported as a bad rape case involving two young men and a young girl, one of the men having fled to Roseburg where he was arrested.

Willis Scott Duniway, State Printer of Oregon, and eldest son of Abagail Scott Duniway, died suddenly at his home August 5th of heart failure after long affliction with the fatal illness. He was but 57 years of age but had lived a useful, honorable life, adorned by talent of a high and varied order.

Every one who has agates that are worth exhibiting are requested to display them or hand them to the general committee who will see that they are exhibited and returned. Each one helps to make the Carnival more attractive to visitors—all big things are made from small things—and it all helps to keep up the reputation of Port Orford as having the most wonderful agate beaches in the world.

The Christian Endeavor held a business meeting and social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. H Larson one day last week. After the business was transacted games were played, and a candy pull helped to add to the enjoyment of a very pleasant gathering. The Endeavor is in good condition in every way, and has a large and growing membership.

F. F. Friant, who bought the Quellen place at Corbin last week, was called by telegraph to Los Angeles, Friday, which necessitated his leaving here about a week before he had planned to leave. Mr. Friant said that it would probably take him several months to arrange his business so that he could come here to make it his home. Mrs. Friant, however, will be here in November, if not before, when the half-way house will be reopened to the public. Mr. Friant does not expect to do much with the place in the way of improvement this winter, but next summer he expects to transform it into a model summer resort.

The boys who are working on the government trail at Iron Mountain have come in for the Carnival, making the 28 mile walk at night to avoid the heat.

Picnic Dinner Friday.

In order that the women folks of Port Orford and vicinity might better enjoy the Agate Carnival the committee has decided to hold the picnic dinner and barbecue on Friday instead of Saturday, as has previously been announced. All those living in the country who can are requested to bring baskets as the town wants to uphold its name as a place for good things to eat, and let none go away hungry. Remember it is Friday instead of Saturday.

Death of a Pioneer.

Charlotte Moore, who had been an invalid for the last year, died at her home in Gold Beach August 9th, 1913. Mrs Moore was the widow of A. H. Moore, deceased, to whom she was married April 5th, 1860 in Curry County, Oregon. She was the daughter of Israel Morrison, a pioneer of this county. She was born in Knox County Illinois, Dec. 18th, 1844, and was 69 years of age at her death. She is survived by a son, Fred S. Moore, now of Seattle, who was once Sheriff of Curry County, as was his father. She had a daughter whose residence we do not know. Mrs. Moore was a woman of fine ability, and of extensive accomplishments, and will be sadly missed by her numerous relatives and friends. Her interment was in the Gold Beach cemetery.

Still Seeing Things.

Ye editor is still seeing things. A few weeks ago we noted the meeting of a large bear in the woods, and last Saturday evening we saw a panther on "The Heads" not more than half a mile from town. We were armed with our 30-30 and looking for trouble when we saw the panther sitting on a little open spot about 75 yards from us, but the shades of night were commencing to fall and wanting to be absolutely sure of the character of our game we watched it for several minutes, until it suddenly raised from its haunches and slipped into the brush. Were it not for the fact that we are an occupant of the water wagon we would be tempted to think that we had gotten hold of the wrong brand, but as it is we will have to believe what our eyes have told us.

Frank Tichenor Sends Regrets.

We clip the following from a letter from Frank B. Tichenor of Seattle, bearing the date of Aug. 5th. Mr. Tichenor was the one who originated the idea of the Agate Carnival, and for years he has been an active and optimistic booster of Port Orford:

"I want to express through you to the committee who have charge of the Port Orford 3d Agate Carnival my deepest appreciation for your kind invitation, which has just reached me to partake of the festivities at Port Orford on the 15th and 16th, and also to address the public in general.

"One always feels like working for the community where the people are appreciative and there is no little town on the Pacific Coast that is as wide awake and is doing so much for itself according to its population as is Port Orford and I can bespeak for Port Orford a bright future.

"I have planned every way possible to be with you August 15 and 16th, and no one is no more sorry than I in not being able to be present. The best I can do now is to be thinking of you and wishing you well and I hope that the weather conditions will be favorable."

Visit Curry County.—Leland Brown, son of District Attorney and Mrs. George M. Brown, and Harold Billows, left for the Culver ranch, in Curry County, this morning, where they will spend several weeks enjoying their annual outing. The boys are making the trip on horses and are well armed. Following their arrival in Curry County they will spend a few days in the hills hunting deer and other game. Mr. Brown will join them about the date of the opening of the Circuit Court in Curry County.—Roseburg News.

May Remove Coos Co. Officials

SALEM, Or., Aug 4.—Condemning the mob—particularly its alleged leader, Al Powers, of the Smith Powers Lumber Company—which several weeks ago deported Dr. Bailey K. Leach, the Socialist editor of "Justice" from Coos County, and also the county officials for not enforcing the law and preventing the action of the mob, Governor West has directed a letter to Attorney General Crawford asking him to present the subject to the Circuit Court of that county and have the officials removed from office in the event that they are found to have been derelict in the performance of their duty. The Governor in a communication to the Attorney General also condemns the I. W. W. who do not observe the law, and has no praise for Dr. Bailey K. Leach, but says that the action of Leach and the I. W. W. did not warrant mob law. Summing up the case the Governor says:

"If no showing can be made as to the failure of the local officials to enforce the law as to the I. W. W.s and Dr. Leach then it is evident that there was no justification for the mob and it should have been suppressed. A showing to the court that no effort was made by the local officials to suppress the mob could result in nothing but findings that the law was not being enforced. This would call for a removal of the delinquent officials.

TEMPERANCE.

This column is edited under the auspices of the W. T. C. U., with Mrs. H. T. Stewart as editor-in-chief, and the Mesdames A. S. Johnston, E. J. Loney and R. C. Young, assistant editors.

My uncle told me so hisself,
An' course, he tole me true,
Him didn't gib up smoking 'cause
Gb fear what it might do,
Or 'cause 'twas money wasted, or
So drefful, drefful wrong,
Or 'cause some folks make such a fuss
An' lecture all day long.

But just a-cause some day, perhaps,
Some little boy might know,
An' 'cause his farver likes to smoke,
Might come to evil so.
An' big men's can't do what they like
In such a worl' as ours,
Where all among big grown-up folks
Is little human flowers.

Nen uncle pulled my ears an' ast
What makes me stretch my eyes;
"Its chaps like you, ole man," him ser,
That puts reformers wise.
Now there's your little cousin, though
You think he's weak an' small,
He made his dad give up his pipe
'Fore he was borned at all!"

Judge Fry of the "Speeders" Court, Chicago, has established a precedent worth following. He compelled a chauffeur who, while intoxicated, ran an automobile recklessly and dangerously through the streets of the city, to bind himself under oath not to taste liquor for at least one year. If this course were faithfully pursued, all the reckless and intemperate drivers of machines might in time be compelled to become total abstainers. A strikingly large number of automobile accidents are due primarily to the semi-intoxication of the chauffeurs or drivers.

Tracing the downfall of girls to the restaurants and where liquor is sold and immoral dances are permitted, the May grand jury of New York urges a change in the statutes providing that liquor tax certificates shall be summarily forfeited in the case of all premises in which dances of an immoral nature are allowed.

"It has been brought to our attention" reads the presentment of the jury, that within the last few months the amount of suggestive dances in hotels and restaurants where the sale of liquor is allowed has greatly increased and, we believe, with deplorable results to the morals of the young." To the same effect is the testimony of Mary Bartelme, assistant to Judge Pinckney in the Chicago Juvenile Court. Liquor and the dance hall, she claims, are responsible for the ruin of a large number of the girls who are brought before her as judge. All investigations made by vice commissions go to show that the men engaged in the white slave traffic rely very largely upon drink to bring about the downfall of their victims. The result of the Chicago commission's work showed that the most conspicuous and important element in connection with the social evil is the saloon, and the most important financial interest, next to the business of prostitution, is the liquor business. In the face of such overwhelming testimony that the enormous profits derived from the enforced slavery of the inmates of houses of vice are largely built upon alcohol, it is difficult to understand how right-minded, clean-souled citizens can vote for a continuance of the saloon. The change of the statutes that the New York grand jury should have recommended was forever prohibiting the manufacture or sale of liquor in the state.
