Spring will soon be here, and with it will come the tourists, some of whom will be seeking homes and investments. The appearance of a town has much to do in deciding prospective buyers where they will locate. Needless to say, they will not linger in a town that has a run-down, slovenly appearance. Don't let your town look that way—clean up, paint up, and make your place look prosperous. It will not only pay you personally in the preservation of your buildings and the satisfaction of having things looking nice, but it will help develop your town. Try it.

The TRIBUNE has sacrificed its editorial space this week to the notice of sheriff's sale of Lakeport property—one of the last lingering echoes of that gigantic swindle. And we got out of sorts; not as the term is usually applied, as the notice suits the printer much better than using the space to air his views, but our cases ran short of the numerals "1" and "2," and the printer's vernacular were "out of sorts."

Port Orford is entitled to some help from the county to put front street on a grade and gravel it. As it is now it is a poor road to say nothing of being the main street of a town. The work should be done this spring before the summer travel comes.
