

PORT ORFORD LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

Beautiful oil paintings of our beaches by Mrs. Inez Durbin of Port Orford are on exhibit at the Kozy. Dr. R. P. Lewis of Los Angeles is here prospecting for gold and platinum. He and Richard M. Price made a trip Saturday into the middle Elk district. C. V. Danielson and family of Marshfield met with a car accident Sunday afternoon about a mile and a half from Port Orford before entering town. They met another car in a curve of the road and turned out. The four wheel brake failed to work properly and the car ran into a telephone pole. Five people occupied the car, none being hurt except H. V. Tremble who received bruises on the face. About $300 damage was done to the Nash car, which carried insurance, and had been purchased by Mr. Danielson a few weeks previous.

After being aided by Mr. and Mrs. Lininger and the Kruse family, all of Marshfield, the party ate picnic dinner at Battle Rock beach in good spirits. Mr. Carter delivered the Danielson Nash car Tuesday on a truck to Marshfield to be repaired. Hammers and saws are now playing a tune in Port Orford, there being seven buildings under construction.

Warren Jamieson is placing a telephone at his logging camp at the Corbin place. O. J. Mather now has a telephone at his mill on Sixes. Mr. and Mrs. David McKenzie and family and Mrs. Dieterich were dinner guests Sunday at the W. J. Sabin home.

The Hull and White Bros.' new house, near the Fromm building, is making rapid progress. The Hess family, who managed the Seaside hotel, for a short time, left Monday for Bandon to make their home temporarily.

The Clinton family have moved back from Coquille to the Norton house overlooking the ocean. Jack Clinton will remain in Coquille until school is out. Sunday night a fishing boat from Seattle sheltered in our harbor. It contained a refrigerating plant aboard and four ton of halibut, caught from the Port Orford halibut reef.

The dance Saturday night in the W. O. W. hall, under the auspices of Neighbors of Woodcraft, was a pleasant occasion and profited $18.00. Refreshments were served at the midnight hour including ice cream, cake, sandwiches and coffee.

Next Sunday is Mother's Day. Everybody should observe it. Mrs. Smith will occupy the pulpit in Rev. Smith's place. There will be appropriate decorations and music for the occasion. Wear a white flower if your mother has passed on, a pink one if she is living.

Rev. Smith left Monday for Newport, Oregon, where he went to attend the funeral of a dear friend, W. G. Shaman, who was proprietor of the Drist Inn, and died suddenly of heart disease.

The Sabbath school is growing. Forty-two were present last Sunday. There was only a small number at the Sabbath morning service, several members being out of town. Rev. Smith preached an exceptionally good sermon.

Twenty young people attended the Christian Endeavor Society last Sunday. Eleanor Purdin was leader. The Ladies' Aid met last Wednesday at the manse, Mrs. Smith being hostess. Fifteen members were present. Although some members are deprived the privilege of attending on account of the busy season, yet a renewed interest is being manifested and those who attended report a delightful and profitable time together. Mrs. Smith served delicious refreshments.

Fred Scofield has the foundation laid for a bungalow on the lot occupied by the Smith house, which he purchased and recently remodeled and painted. The building of the Hatton service station and harness shop on the Roosevelt Highway in Port Orford is progressing. The new building belonging to John Marsh now has the frame work for two stories with W. S. Robinson as head carpenter. Rev. and Mrs. Smith visited Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Russell and family Thursday on Floras creek. W. H. Cochran and family have moved into the Art Mayea house. Warren Jamieson and family have moved to Sixes.

PORT ORFORD WOMAN UNDERGOES SERIOUS OPERATION IN CALIFORNIA
Mrs. C. H. Pearse's many friends will be sorry to hear it was necessary for her to undergo such a serious operation as the following night letter indicates:
Los Angeles, Calif. April 30, 1925.

Mrs. Ella Knapp, Port Orford, Oregon. Please publish in Gold Beach, Bandon and home newspaper, answering many inquiries. Mrs. Pearse underwent blood transfusion Monday afternoon. Major operation Wednesday morning. Removed large cancerous mass and part of lower bowel. Resting easily, but very weak. Still hopeful.

Signed, C. H. PEARSE. Friends of Mrs. Pearse will anxiously await further news of her condition and hope for a complete recovery of her former good health.

CLUB TO HAVE CHARGE OF MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES
Civic Improvement club members were guests of Mrs. Hans Adolphsen and Mrs. Umbenhaur last Thursday afternoon. The club members will have charge of an appropriate Memorial day exercise for March 30 and the public is requested to turn out and pay tribute to their relatives and friends, who have passed on. It is hoped that a patriotic exercise will be observed in honor of the old and young soldiers buried here. The club members were very much delighted with the dainty refreshments served by the hostesses, who were very lovely in similar spring dresses. They served ice cream, individual sponge cake and coffee.

KEEPING WELL
DIRT IN THE EYE
DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

ONE of the commonest of human accidents is to get a speck of dust or a tiny cinder in the eye. Often the speck is too small to do an injury to any other part of the body, too small perhaps even to be seen. But the covering of the eyeball and the lining of the eyelids are so delicate and sensitive that a mere speck may not only cause intense pain but may also do serious damage. Generally, some member of the family or some fellow employee in the shop or office volunteers to take it out for you. Sometimes he succeeds; sometimes, with a soiled handkerchief or a dirty toothpick, he not only fails to remove the cinder, but also irritates and infects the eye.

The best way to take a cinder or other foreign body out of the eye is to take a clean (that is, an unused) toothpick, twist a little clean cotton around one end so that the point of the toothpick is covered. This cotton should be rolled tight. If the cinder is under the upper lid, stand behind the patient, tell him to throw back his head and then to look down. Grasp the eyelashes of the upper lid firmly and draw the lid gently down and away from the eye, then quickly turn the edge of the lid up over the thumb-nail or over a pencil or toothpick, so as to fold the lid up and expose the eyeball. If the eye is now slowly turned up and down and from side to side, the cinder will be seen as a dull point on the shining surface and can be easily taken off by passing the cotton-covered point of the toothpick over the eyeball, with a light, brushing movement. Don't use force or rub the eyeball, as a loose cinder may easily be forced into the eyeball and become embedded.

If the cinder doesn't come out readily, don't try to dig it out. You will only damage the eyeball. Put on a thick compress made with a large, clean handkerchief, wrung out of cold clean water, tie another handkerchief around the head to keep the cold compress in place and send the patient to the nearest doctor.

Cuts or scratches of the eyeball should not be neglected. Infection may destroy the eye or, if this does not occur, the scars from infected wounds of the eye may permanently interfere with sight.

Guineas
In the days of the merchant adventurers the coins minted from the gold brought from territories clustering around the Gulf of Guinea were styled "guineas," and they thus became as famous throughout the world as the Gold Coast itself.—Theodore Ruete in the Empire Review, London.

Saw Economy
Circular saws in common use put 60,000,000 cubic feet more in the nation's sawdust pile than bandsaws would put there if they were used.

Another cause of bolshevism is this custom of bringing pigs to town in automobiles right past men that never get ride in cars except at funerals.

GOVERNMENT TO SEE FORESTS ARE PROTECTED

FIRST OF SERIES OF SUITS IN NATION — WIDE CAMPAIGN BEGIN IN SAN FRANCISCO—FIRST OF KIND.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—Believed to be the forerunner of a nation-wide campaign by the government for the protection of virgin forests and timber lands from being devastated by fires, suit has been filed in the United States court here by Gerald R. Johnson, assistant United States district attorney, against the Feather River Lumber Company of Portola, Plumas county, for $175,000, alleged damages to the government forests that were burned over through the asserted carelessness of the company's employes last fall.

Characterizing the forest conflagrations as the direct result of carelessness and negligence, Mr. Johnson stated that numerous other equity actions against persons believed to be responsible for devastation of the forests might be stated soon in California and in every part of the United States where damage has been caused on government timber lands by flames.

According to the government attorney, approximately 4000 acres of virgin timber lands and forest reserves of the government, adjoining the property of the Feather River Lumber Company in Plumas county, were devastated through sparks from a small steam locomotive and hoisting engine of the company, which caught fire and spread to the government property.

"The fires," he stated, "were the direct result of carelessness on somebody's part, and it is the intention of the federal government to take every possible action to prosecute those believed to be guilty, either through equity action or criminal prosecutions."

The suit, which is believed to be the first of its kind on record, was launched by the federal government as an aftermath of the huge conflagration which swept a large proportion of the California forest reserves last year.

Chinaman Plays on Yale Team

"Mike" Foon Kai Kee of Denerba, Cal., is the only Chinese playing on an American university baseball team. He is the regular third baseman on the Yale team, and according to Joe Wood, Yale's head coach, he is a marvel. Nothing gets by him in the field, and he is a good batter.

Oregon has a strong exponent in Bert E. Haney, member of the federal shipping board, and it is hoped he may be reappointed a member of that body. He has been a strong friend at court for his state, and is in a position to be of great service to Oregon.

Crocodiles' Advantages
Crocodiles, particularly those of the Egyptian Nile, are mighty hunters, although they exercise great judgment in choosing their victims. They are extraordinarily tough and tenacious of life, and are so shaped and defended by their strong skins that other animals have much difficulty in combating them.

Effective Duster
You can make a duster that is valuable for fine furniture by saturating a piece of cheesecloth in kerosene oil and hanging it out in the sunlight to dry.

INVITATION TO "MEET A STRANGER" BRINGS FINE

It doesn't pay to get funny with the officers of the law as was learned by Geo. Coburn, a well known resident of Bandon last week when he invited the chief of police to step into the back room of the former's establishment and "meet a stranger." The "stranger" was a bottle of real liquor. The officer took both liquor and Coburn off to the justice of the peace's office, where the stern realities of the law were impressed upon Coburn with a fine of $150.

A GREAT TEACHER

ADVERTISING conducts a public school. Its pupils are all the readers of the home paper—in short, the whole buying community.

ADVERTISING teaches that loyalty to the home merchant brings real returns in better service and better values. It's a lesson that requires the repetition afforded by the weekly arrival in the home of The Tribune.

You can teach the public to rely on your Advertisements as safe guides to economy and satisfaction in shopping. Moreover, people appreciate being asked for their patronage. To them
