Redmond, Oregon, July 28, 1910

That Redmond is a live town is easy of demonstration. All kinds of business is prosperous. We are not desirous of having the public think we are suffering from a boom. We are enjoying an increase of business and prosperity. Our streets are crowded early and late, people and teams are bringing in produce and money to exchange for goods, and our merchants are paying the highest market prices for produce and are selling goods at "live and let live" prices, and the people are not slow to take advantage of this opportunity and get the bargains as advertised by our merchants.

One of the traits of a wide awake, progressive town is civic pride. It is a good trait, for while sometimes it leads one into making slightly exaggerated statements, yet in the main it is a good, healthy feeling for the individual, and at all times conducive to the growth and prosperity of his city. It makes one vigorous in defense, and persistent in undertakings; it is an incentive to industry; it makes the individual contented and therefore happy. Believe in your town and talk your belief. If you have any old fogies remember they are in the minority, and that it takes all kind of people to make a world anyway. Encourage live people to move in by making it worth their while. Welcome outside capital in developing any natural resources the town has.
Don't begrudge the dollars the enterprising man makes, but hustle around to collar a few yourself.
Above all "pull together," and the town will ride the high wave of prosperity over the most discouraging breakers, and every inhabitant will get his or her share of the profit from the voyage.

This paper is endeavoring to give its patrons the best service that is possible to give and all that the patronage will permit.
The Spokesman is being frequently complimented on its appearance and the amount and kind of matter it contains. Our citizens can make the paper still more effective by liberal patronage both in subscriptions and advertising.
The paper will always endeavor to merit the patronage.

If you know or hear of an interesting item in the community make it a point to see that it finds a place in your local paper. We should much appreciate your effort, and will take means to ascertain or verify any lacking points. Anything which tends to better or brighten the news service of a paper makes it of so much more value to the community, and the subscribers are the ones mostly benefitted thereby

THROW BOQUETS AT US

Prineville Journal: Volume 1, No. 1 of the Redmond Spokesman is at hand. It is a bright, newsy number, and a credit to its editors, the Palmers. These gentlemen know how to get out a good paper and will do their share of the work of pushing the Redmond country.

Redmond Hub: The Redmond Spokesman has made its welcome appearance on our exchange table. The Spokesman is characteristically neat in appearance; a close reproduction of the Laidlaw Chronicle.

Mitchell Sentinel: Something new, the Redmond Spokesman, Vol. 1, No. 1, is on our table, a bright, newsy, six-column paper, well gotten up, and it looks like it had come to stay. It is published by H. H. and C. L. Palmer, and certainly has a good location if Redmond gets as much as one-half that is promised, it surely will make a good town.
The Sentinel wishes you all kinds of good luck, gentlemen, in your undertaking.

Chehalis, Wn., Advocate: The Redmond Spokesman of Redmond, Crook county, Ore., made its bow to the public July 14 in attractive form, and local interest is centered around this weekly by the fact that its editor, H.
H. Palmer, was a former resident of Chehalis during his connection with the staff of the Lewis County Advocate. Associated with him is Mrs. Palmer, an able newspaper woman who is also well known in this city.
