Committees to Get Busy

The committees for the 4th of July celebration that were appointed by the Commercial Club last week, will meet subject to the call of the respective chairmen. No member has been appointed on more than one committee and the Commercial Club urges the necessity of each committee getting the work under way as soon as possible, and to hold meetings at least once a week, and in order for the Executive committee to keep well posted, each committee is requested to file a weekly report of progress with the above committee.

Railroad Yards Are Built at Metolius

The tracklayers on the Oregon Trunk railroad reached Metolius last Tuesday morning. It will take them a number of days to lay the necessary sidetrack as this will be the freight and passenger terminals and hence they will require extensive yards. The Herrick construction company has the contract for erecting the company's buildings along the line and as the material for the depot and some of the other very necessary buildings is now on the ground, construction will commence at once.

Mass Meeting

A mass meeting is called by the council for Tuesday March 7th, at which time members of the council and citizens of Redmond who have lived under the provisions of the proposed new charter will explain its workings and beneficial results. Anyone having any objections to any of the provisions of the new charter this will be the time and place to air their grievances.
