Boom Your Town

Boom your town. If you don't, who will?

Make all the new comers and prospective residents think it is going to be the metropolis of this part of the country, and it soon will be.

Get in live, energetic men and the town cannot help but prosper, go forward and grow.

You never saw a town amount to anything where business men and citizens were always engaged in telling how dead it was—lifeless, and that all the powers that be, could not start it moving building up and endowing it with new life.

This is enough to kill any town, while the statements are not true.

Make the best of everything.
Take the progressive side of every reasonable question. Advertise your town and business in every possible way, and your brightest hopes in regard to it, will be fully realized.

The Use of Printer's Ink

Make free use of printer's ink.
Talk to the world about your business—the line of goods you carry, their style, peculiarities and adaptabilities. In purchasing, do so with care, remembering that goods well bought are half sold. Make careful selections, buy cheap, and make the selling price reasonable. Tell the people what you will do, and do as advertise, every time. Send out your messages every week. The people look for it and are disappointed if they do not see it; and it is often the case, after your long silence, that the constant appeals of others have caught the eye and drawn thitherward many a good customer you once had, who is now a patron of him who neglected not to tell where to go to get what he wanted at reasonable rates.

This is as it will be, and should be, in this busy age. People take and read the paper for a purpose, and one is to find out where they can get what they want without spending a day hunting over the town to find it. The merchant who apprise them of this fact, in a judicious way, will be the one who catches the trade, builds up a lucrative business, and makes his calling a success.

He Works for All

Suppose every business man in town took as much interest in the upbuilding of the town and forwarding of all enterprises as the newspaper man. He works for railroads, manufactories, schools and churches, good streets and roads, urges, pleads, scholds and badgers and cavorts around generally. Imagine his feelings when some grouch of a fellow reproaches him because he don't boom things enough.

If the town does boom and the price of real estate advances and the owners grow rich from the results of his labors he makes nothing by it. He is like the poor boy at the circus—he can stand and look at the pictures without the necessary quarter to gain admission.

Like a Banquet

A wise conducted newspaper is like a banquet. Everything is served up with a view to variety.
Help yourself to what you want and do not condemn the entire spread because pickles and onions may be included. If you do not relish them someone else may find them palatable. Be generous and broad enough to select gracefully such reading matter from newspapers as will be agreeable to your mental taste. You, as an individual, are not compelled to swallow everything. We do not all think alike on every subject, and it is a good thing, as it makes more variety, and variety is the spice of existence.

Fortunate for Him

One of our subscribers took us to task last week for failing, as remarked, to publish all that happened. It was fortunate for this particular individual that discretion occasionally demands the omission of unpleasant items.

Should we publish all that is told us we would be with the angles 20 minutes after our papers were mailed. We try to print all items that are news, or that will encourage, help or cheer any of our citizens along life's rugged road. We all doubtless would enjoy reading "all the news" when it's about the other fellow but our policy is to turn over to the gossips the spreading of scandals that only leave sorrows in their trail.

The person who would not be satisfied with the spring weather that has so far obtained in Redmond and this section during the month of March, surely must be hard to please. No where in Oregon can a better climate be found than right here in Redmond and the Redmond District.

Take as good care of your money as you can if your means are limited, but don't try to save your smiles or kind words. The more liberal you are with these the more you will have.

A town never loses anything by extending a royal welcome to every deserving stranger who appears in its midst. Hospitality is a priceless gem, but it costs very little.

It pays to read the advertisements of enterprising home merchants.
They are the people who make it possible to have conveniences right at your door, so to speak.

Even the electric button is no good unless it is pushed. Moral:
Push your town.

If there is ever a time when silence is golden, it is when a man is mad.
