

The Redmond Spokesman

Published at the "Hub City" of Central Oregon

VOL. 2. No. 3

REDMOND, CROOK COUNTY, OREGON, THURSDAY, JULY 27, 1911

$1.50 PER YEAR

SAYS SHOULD CLEAN UP CITY

Portland Man Tells How People Can Eliminate the Parasites

MAKES PLEA FOR A BETTER CITY

In a Strong Talk Tells of the Pitfalls Laid for Both Boys and Girls

T. J. Hazleton, secretary of the Commons Prison League of the state, and also representing the Portland Commons Girl's Louise Rescue Home, "was in Redmond several days last week. While here he observed conditions in the city, and in an address Sunday forenoon at the M. E. church stated that he was surprised and shocked to see the moral conditions that obtained here in allowing parasites from the restricted district to remain in the city.

He pointed out to the people how this evil could be remedied, and told them if they wanted to rid their town of these undesirable the right way was to go to the city council and make their complaint. If that body did not take action then to take the matter up with the district attorney, and he would be compelled to act in the matter, for there is a stringent law on the Oregon statute books in regard to males consorting with lewd women and living off their earnings.

He said it was a disgrace for any city to let the parasites parade the streets and flaunt their vice in the face of decent people. That the offense could be stopped if the people would demand of their elected officials that the nuisance be abated.

During the course of his address Mr. Hazleton made a strong plea to mothers and parents to look more closely after the morals of their children, and bring them up in the way they should go. He cited a number of instances that had come before the attention of the officials of the Louise Home and the Portland Commons, and told his audience how to guard their children from getting into the primrose path that would lead them downward.

At the close of his remarks a collection was taken up for the fund for enlarging the Girl's Louise Rescue Home, and a goodly sum was subscribed.

CROOK CO. MACHINERY IN A MIX UP

Suit Is Filed in Multnomah County by C. P. Judge for Commissions Alleged to Be Due Him for Road Machinery Sold to County

A suit has been filed in the circuit court of Multnomah county by C. P. Judge against the Beach Manufacturing Co. of Portland, for commissions he alleges are due him for the sale of the road roller and other machinery to Crook county.

Mr. Judge claims he was the accredited agent of the company and entitled to receive the commissions for the sale of the road machinery, but that one D. D. France who lives in the Powell Butte district, stepped in and got the money, asserting he had sold the machinery to Commissioner Bayley and Judge Ellis for the county.

Mr. Judge objects to this part of the transaction because he transacted all the business pertaining to this deal in the past year, or more, with County Judge Ellis of Bend. And so far as the transaction was concerned between Judge Ellis and Mr. Judge, the regular agent for the company, there was at no time any understanding between them that Mr. France was to purchase this machinery, or that any one, whatsoever was to receive any commissions out of the deal.

This Beach Manufacturing Co. is the same concern that got into a mixup with the mayor of Vancouver a short time ago where it had been printed in a Vancouver paper concerning a bribe that had been given for the purchase of oil sprinklers, for that city.

Mr. Judge intimates that before the matter is finally threshed out in court some interesting developments will be shown regarding who the commissions were cut up with.

W. C. T. U. Meeting Tomorrow Afternoon

The local W. C. T. U. will meet tomorrow, Friday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Herrick. The meeting will be under the direction of the president and general topics for the good of the order will be taken up and discussed. Members are earnestly invited to be present and bring some material for the meeting.

The Spokesman's Job Printing pleases.

HOGS, STOCK AND DAIRYING

Future of This Section Depends Upon Above Industries

SHIP OUT PRODUCTS, BRING IN MONEY

Use Grains and Grasses to Put Stock in Condition for Market

The future prosperity of this section of Oregon depends upon the agricultural resources of the country. Heretofore the principal industry has been the raising and selling of hay, and a small amount of grain. But the farmers and ranchers have come to see the hand writing on the wall, and are gradually getting into the hog and stock raising business.

Hog raising, stock raising, poultry and dairying is the solution of the future of this section, and the sooner the movement becomes general in this direction the sooner the people here will prosper.

It is a far better proposition to feed hay and grains to hogs and cattle for fattening purposes than it is to grow the hay and grain alone for the market. It has been ably demonstrated that hogs fattened on the products of the farm have brought in a big increase per acreage over selling the products outright.

Quite a number of farmers in the Redmond territory have begun to lay plans for extensive hog and cattle raising. On the John Alemeter place five miles north of the city, 160 acres are being fenced hog tight and the proprietor is going to put in a large lot of hogs.

Lee Davenport at his ranch southeast of Redmond now has about 150 brood sows, and is increasing his stock all the time.

F. M. White of this city, has a good sized bunch of hogs on his ranch near town, and expects to extend his operations in the hog and stock line.

F. H. Swayne, recently from Washington, is going into the hog industry, and his father will soon arrive here and also engage in that business.

These are a few of the ranchers around here who have found out that it is more profitable to feed their hay and grain to hogs and cattle than to sell the same direct.

The Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation Co. has published a book on hog raising that every hog owner in this section should have and read from "kiver to kiver" and get thoroughly posted on this important subject. The books are free for the asking. Send to the Traffic Department of the O-W. R. & N. Co., Portland, and ask for the booklet on "Swine Raising in the Pacific Northwest".

Father Sheehan will celebrate mass Sunday morning at 11:30 at Anker's hall.

Capp's Clothing

I have just received a large shipment of these celebrated goods in Spring and Summer weights and styles.

I want you to see this line of GUARANTEED CLOTHING, for I am certain you will be satisfied with the goods, fit and price. Better come in today.

E. L. RAPP

"The Head to Foot Clothier." Redmond, Or.

1911 CROP OF HAY IS GOOD

Cutting of First Crop Will Show a Very Satisfactory Yield

ALFALFA AND CLOVER GOOD THIS SEASON

Cold Spring Does Not Show Any Appreciable Effect On Crop

The 1911 hay crop in this section promises to turn out equally as well this season as in previous years. In a number of cases the first cutting will go way ahead of any other year, and throughout the Redmond District the second crop will be large.

Owing to the cold spring it was thought the haying season would be late this year, but the excellent growing weather that followed the cold weather early in June has brought the crop along in fine shape and only a few days later than in former years. Alfalfa and clover on the whole, will make an exceptionally fine crop this year, and the yield will be largely increased over that of former seasons.

Samples of the crop are being shown in Redmond, and some of the best specimens of grains and grasses have been sent to the exhibition cars of the Great Northern Railroad at Spokane to compete for the prizes to be offered by that road.

All of the practical farmers and ranchers in this section are well satisfied with the crop and increased yield.

W. B. Chapman has some timothy that it would be hard to beat any where.

M. E. Landes' crop is better this year than last, and only five days later.

B. A. Kendall's clover and alfalfa will go two tons to the acre if not better, and is a better yield than last year.

Farmers who have land plastered their land are getting a greatly increased yield.

KEEP COOL AND COMFORTABLE

We can help you do this if you will visit our place and let us serve you with some of the cooling drinks from our fountain, or a dish of ice cream. You will like our goods and service.

W. H. ANDERSON

The Postoffice Store

Hot Weather Goods

IN THE GROCERY LINE we have many articles that are just what you want for these hot days--- foods that you don't have to build up a hot fire to cook in order to serve on the table. Come in and let us tell you more about this.

IN THE DRY GOODS AND CLOTHING LINE we have a stock that will meet your requirements. Why suffer discomfort and inconvenience when by a moderate expenditure at our store you can buy the comfortable kind of goods.

Remember that your dollars go a long way at our store and have an enlarged purchasing power.

EHRET BROS.

BIG DEPARTMENT STORE

HIGHEST IN QUALITY, LOWEST IN PRICE