

MONEY SAVING GOODS

A few articles we carry in stock that we DEFY COMPETITION ON:

Dress Goods

Linen, Lawns, Silks, Worsted, Trimmings, Gingham, Percales, Prints, White Goods, Wide Sheetings, Bleached and Unbleached Domestic Flannels, etc.

Underwear, Etc.

Ladies' Knit and Muslin Underwear, Ready to Wear Garments, Waists, Skirts, Hosiery, Corsets, Children's Waists, etc.

Gents' Furnishings

Dress and Work Shirts, Collars, Ties, Suspenders, Arm Bands, Collar and Cuff Buttons, Underwear, Boys' Underwear, work and dress Shirts, Caps, etc.

Embroideries, Etc.

Embroidery of all kinds, Insertions, Laces, Ribbons, Knitting Silks, Silk and Cotton Threads, Needles, Thimbles, Handkerchiefs, Dress Shields, large and small rugs and a large assortment of Small Notions.

Combs and Hair Goods

A fine line of Dressing, Puff, Back and Side Combs, Hair Switches, Puffs, Turbans, Hair Nets and all kinds of Hair Trimmings.

Toilet Articles

Toilet Goods, Peroxide, Bay Rum, Queen Louises, Massage and Cold Creams, Perfumes, Witch Hazel, Vasalenes, Talcum Powders, etc.

School Supplies

This department is complete, all kinds of Crayons, Pencils, Tablets, Paper, Envelopes, Blank Books, Pens, Ink, etc.

Dishes and Glassware

Fine line of Dishes and Glassware, Granite, Tin and Porcelain goods of every description, Kitchen Furnishings, etc.

Miscellaneous

Baseball Gloves, Balls, Playing Cards, Card Games, Visiting Cards, Post Cards, Buggy Whips, Bridles, Bits, full line of Small Hardware, etc.

SPECIAL

Ten pieces Sheppard's Plaid Dress Suitings to close out, per yard 10c

We are agents for some of the Best Tailoring Concerns in the country. We are also agents for the Ladies' Home Journal Dress Patterns.

We guarantee satisfaction in every way when you deal with us.

YOURS FOR BUSINESS.

GREGORYS VARIETY STORE

Corner 6th and E Sts., Redmond.

I. D. BASEY'S

Meat Market

Macpherson Bldg.
Redmond, Oregon

THOSE who have been buying of us since we opened our market are well pleased with our meats and the service afforded. We are getting new customers daily, and would like to add your name to the list. Can we do so?

Let us fill your next order for meat; you will be satisfied

Tum=A=Lum Lumber Co.

Wholesale and Retail Dealers

LUMBER AND BUILDING MATERIAL

Will give prices delivered at yard or Roberts Bros' mill.

Office and Yard 2 blocks east of Redmond Hotel, Redmond

AROUND THE COUNTY

Brief News of the Various Happenings

A man near Prineville has an acre of peanuts that are growing satisfactorily.

The town well at Culver gives an unlimited supply of water and arrangements are being made to pipe the town.

The Culver brass band recently gave a concert and social that was a big success.

A group of hot springs have been discovered near LaPine from which water flows at a temperature of from 92 to 130 degrees. The springs are all of a different mineral.

A force of men are working day and night on the Deschutes Irrigation Co's. project near La Pine.

Madras people are trying to raise enough money to sprinkle the city streets with oil.

The new machinery for the Madras Flouring Mills will soon arrive, and when installed the output of the mills will be increased from 50 to 75 barrels daily.

The Madras city council is still wrestling with the problem of selling their municipal bonds.

An examination for the position of rural mail carriers will be held at Madras Sept. 2.

Laying of sidetracks to accommodate the Deschutes Railroad with the Oregon Trunk Line at Metolius has been completed.

The million gallon fuel oil tank for the Oregon Trunk Line at Metolius is finished.

The Prineville schools will open Oct. 2—when the new school house will be finished.

Claims for water on Crooked River are being adjudicated by Water Supt. Cochran at Prineville.

Bend people are agitating the commission form of city government.

The Boy Scouts of Bend to the number of 13 made the first hike Sunday. They went as far as Tumalo creek, and brought back a 35-foot flag pole that will be erected in front of their lodge.

A soda water bottling factory has been started at Bend.

NEW ARRIVALS LOCATE HERE

James Trapman arrived here this week from Lyndon, Wn., and will make Redmond his future home. He bought a business lot on 6th street north of the Bank of Commerce for $1000, with the intention of building on it soon.

R. Dyksterous is another arrival from Lyndon this week. He bought land near the city and it is understood he will begin immediate improvements on same.

J. W. Moore and family of Eugene, have located in the city. They bought Miss Jones' house and moved it onto their lot on 7th street between C and D streets.

This County Gets $4,654.08

State Treasurer Kay has announced the apportionment of the common school funds among the various counties. Crook county's share is $4,654.08.

Subscribe for The Spokesman.

Your Trading

AT OUR NEW GENERAL STORE WILL BE ENTIRELY SATISFYING TO YOU

For we have opened up a stock of STAPLE AND FANCY GROCERIES and GENT'S FURNISHINGS that will appeal to you. No shelf-worn goods, but everything new and up-to-date. The prices on these we have made consistent with the quality of the goods, and solicit a share of your patronage.

Jackson Blk. opp. Postoffice

FREEBERG BROTHERS

ELEGANT DISCOMFORT.

A Glimpse of High Life in France Before the Time of Louis XIV.

Before the reign of Louis XIV. in France there was a period when palaces were not very comfortable places in which to live. They were magnificently decorated, but the windows were small and not well placed, and the rooms were filled with magnificent but not particularly comfortable furniture. Fires were seldom lighted in the immense, beautifully sculptured marble fireplaces. Usually the only fire was to be found in the bedchamber at the end of a suit of rooms. At Versailles, in 1695, it is reported, the water and the wine froze in the king's glasses at table. Mme. de Maintenon sat in a chair with wings to it to protect her from drafts. It was customary to protect oneself from cold by folding screens and portable braziers.

The furniture in the halls and parlors consisted of carved wooden benches, stools, heavy chairs and great gilded leather armchairs and ebony cabinets and coffer, which served for seats and even beds, and which held linen, silver and clothes. One might wander for a long time through these labyrinths of rooms before reaching the only inhabited room, the bedchamber, which was better protected from drafts, had a fire in it and more comfortable seats than the other rooms.

The bedchamber was the living room. Friends and acquaintances were received there. The door of this room was closed, but all the other doors were open, and persons came and went as they pleased, admitted and guided by no one, although there might be more than a hundred servants in the house. The master of the house, on leaving the bedchamber, might find persons entirely unknown to him wandering, sitting or even taking naps here and there about the rooms. The service of the servants was so poor, one chronicler says, that no one was surprised at being told that he must go to bed without supper.

The celebrated literary and social leader Mme. de Rambouillet introduced a change in the fashion of house building and furnishing, and royalty promptly copied her innovations.—New York Press.

How It Looked

A prominent churchman who is very fond of a joke tells of an amusing incident in conjunction with an ordination ceremony in Virginia. As is usual on such occasions, the bishop wore a red university hood at the back of his surplice. Among the most interested of the congregation was an old dandy from Richmond. After the ceremony he was asked by some one how he liked the proceedings.

"I was clean taken by de preachin' of de bishop," answered the negro, "an' at de same time I felt kinder sorry for him. He ain't got no wimmen to look after him, has he?"

"Why, what makes you think that, Sam?"

"I noticed, sah, whenever de bishop turned round dat de back of his coat was busted an' de red under-shirt was a-showin' through."

The Resourceful Count D'Orsay.

D'Orsay was once dining at the Old Ship hotel at Greenwich when some one called his attention to an inscription made with a diamond upon the central pane of the bay window overlooking the Thames, in which his name was improperly connected with that of a celebrated German dancer. D'Orsay took an orange from a dish, coolly remarking upon the good quality of the fruit and tossed it up in the air several times, then, as though by accident, he gave it a wider cant and sent it through the offending pane, knocking the glass into the Thames.—"Beaux and Dandies."

Suspicious Praise.

"A good wife is heaven's greatest gift to man and the rarest gem the earth holds," remarked Mr. Jarphy the other morning. "She is his joy, his inspiration and his very soul. Through her he learns to reach the pure and true, and her loving hands lead him softly over the rough places. She is"—

"Jeremiah," said Mrs. Jarphy solemnly—"Jeremiah, what wickedness have you been up to now?"—Truth.

Political Science.

"John," asked Mrs. Dorkins, "what is a 'political con game'?"

"Why, it's—it's a frameup, you know."

"Yes, but what is a frameup?"

"A—er—piece of bunk, of course; can't you?"

"What is a piece of bunk?"

"Oh, shucks!" exclaimed Mr. Dorkins. "What's the use of trying to tell a woman anything about politics?"—Chicago Tribune.

Her Sentiments.

It is related of a clergyman who was the father of a charming and beautiful daughter that one day while preparing his Sunday sermon he was suddenly called away from his desk on a mission of mercy. The sentence at which he left off was this: "I never see a young man of splendid physique and the promise of a glorious manhood almost realized but my heart is filled with rapture and delight."

His daughter, happening to enter the study, saw the sermon and read the words. Sitting down, she wrote underneath, "My sentiments, papa, exactly!"

Conditional.

A Scotsman was on his deathbed, and his friend persuaded him to forgive a neighbor with whom he had had a standing feud for some years.

The neighbor came to the dying man's bedside.

After they had shaken hands and made peace the dying man exclaimed:

"If I get better, Donald, remember all this goes for naught."—Pearson's Weekly.

A Race For Fun.

The younger Dumas is said to have thus passed judgment on the efforts of a would be humorist. Of this man some one said to him, "Poor fellow, he is always on a chase after a joke."

"And the joke always wins," Dumas observed mildly.

Might Mean Either.

Figg—Hear about Smith being in a bad railroad accident? They say he cannot recover.

Fogg—From the accident or the railroad?—Boston Transcript.

MONDAY NEXT IS SALES DAY

Second Horse and Stock Sales to Be Held Here on Above Date

The Central Oregon Livestock Association, with headquarters at Redmond, will hold their second horse and stock sale on Monday, August 21st, and continue until all the stock listed is sold. It is stated that there will be plenty of buyers at the sale, and anyone having horses or stock they are desirous of selling are requested to list same at once with W. G. Phoenix, secretary of the association.

Stinting space in store advertising has the inevitable effect that "stinginess" produces in any other enterprise.

Heavy Rain Monday Night

Two heavy rain storms visited this section Monday. One occurred in the afternoon about 5 o'clock, and the other during the night. Much rain fell and the ground received a good soaking. This is the first rain in this section for a number of weeks.

Acknowledgement

THIS IS TO CERTIFY that I have received settlement in full for damage done by fire to my Hall or Opera House, on July 17th, 1911. The Northern Assurance Company Ltd., insured my building through their local agent, G. M. Slocum, and adjusted my loss very satisfactorily. I heartily recommend this company to anyone wishing to insure their property.

S. J. Anker,
Redmond, Oregon.

Miss L. T. Jones left this morning for Pueblo, Col., her old home. She was accompanied by her father and her niece, Miss Laura Graham, who had been spending the summer here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Oakes and Miss Hila Morse left today for the Willamette Valley, in the vicinity of Eugene, on a trip for fruit.

A consignment of goods for Mr. McMicken has arrived here and he is requested to call on S. R. Snider at the Home Restaurant, Redmond, Ore.