N. P. PRESIDENT WELL PLEASED

First Visit of Howard Elliott Into This Section of State

COUNTRY LOOKED VERY GOOD TO HIM

First Locomotive in Here May Extend Glad Hand to the People

A party of railroad officials consisting of Howard Elliott, president of the Northern Pacific railroad; C. R. Gray, president of the North Bank road and Oregon Trunk railway; F. H. Fogarty, assistant general freight agent of the Northern Pacific road; J. R. Russell, general superintendent of the North Bank road and Oregon Trunk railway; J. P. Rogers, superintendent of the Oregon Trunk railway; Ralph Budd, chief engineer Oregon Trunk railway, and W. E. Coman, general freight and passenger agent Oregon Trunk railway, arrived here Tuesday in an auto from Opal City on their way to Bend. The party remained here a short time and renewed acquaintance with the citizens. This was President Elliott's first trip into this section of the state, and he stated to the newspaper representatives and others that he was agreeably surprised to see such a prosperous cultivated section in this irrigated district. He made a suggestion to Carl Gray that on the locomotive of the first train to arrive in Redmond a couple of large hands be placed, as some of the Redmond people had told him they wanted to shake hands with the first locomotive that arrived here. Gray said he would take the matter under consideration, and probably have painted on the hands the word "How".

MANY PEOPLE ENJOY FORREST CONCERT

New Singer in Redmond Is Greeted by Appreciative Audience

The song recital given last Friday evening in Anker's opera house by Bernice Halley-Forrest drew forth a large audience, who gathered to see the singer make her initial bow to a Redmond audience. Mrs. Forrest has been highly spoken of by the press and public in other places where she has appeared, and the audience Friday night went prepared to hear some good singing. And they were not disappointed, for they heard better singing than they anticipated.

The lady has a finely cultivated voice, with great range and flexibility, and the selections she rendered at the recital were of a nature to bring out the full compass of her voice. That her singing was appreciated was evidenced by the hearty and spontaneous encores she received during the recital.

Music lovers of Redmond are much pleased that Bernice Halley-Forrest has come here to live, as they are assured of always having good material now when they desire to get up musical entertainments.

Fine Ranches Looked Good

President Howard Elliott of the Northern Pacific railroad, and party of other railroad officials were agreeably surprised while coming into the city by auto Tuesday from Opal City, to see the fine productiveness of the Hanks, John Tuck, B. A. Kendall, W. S. Rodman and other ranches a few miles north of the city.

Edw. W. Mason is a recent arrival from Madras, and will have charge of the harness shop that B. S. Larkin has established here. Mr. Mason is pleasant gentleman to meet, and is favorably impressed with Redmond.

C. H. Irvin returned last week from an outing trip to Lake Odell, 96 miles south of here. He was one of the following party that went from here: Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Irvin, G. Ehlers and family, C. B. Hopley and wife, and Jesse Tuck.

the people right at our doors.

The Deschutes Railroad (Harriman line) is nearly completed to Culver Junction, and from there to Bend they will use the tracks of the Oregon Trunk road, having a joint trackage agreement with that line. Soon after the Oregon Trunk trains arrive here it is expected the Deschutes road will bring their trains to this city, thus giving Redmond a double train service.

The "Railroad Day" celebration committees are beginning to lay their plans for the monster two-days' celebration that will be held here soon after the entry of the Oregon Trunk road into the city.

The exact date for the affair has not yet been set, nor all the details completed, but it is an assured fact that the celebration will lay over anything ever before held in Central Oregon.

PLEASANT RIDGE

Mrs. Geo. Hunter is ill with typhoid fever.

Miss Linell is spending a few weeks in Redmond.

The patrons of this school district held a wood cutting bee Tuesday and cut enough wood to last the school during the winter.

Miss Hubbard, who has been engaged to teach the Cline Falls school, has arrived.

ODD CHAIR

The quest of an odd chair for the parlor---for something in stage parlance, will be the picture"---should lead here, of course. If it isn't here, we will get it for you, and we will be glad that you came to look, anyway; and we believe you will be glad to have come and "glimpsed" the store now, when it's at its best.

C. H. IRVIN The House Furnisher

Now She Calls Him Father.

Yes, he loved the girl, and he must seek her widowed mother's consent to lead the fair one to the altar. But he blundered sadly.

"Mrs. Desmond," he began in a voice beseeching and agitated, "I have come to ask you for the blessed privilege of working for your dear daughter, taking care of her, giving her a home and"

But he got no further. Eagerly the widow threw herself into his arms.

"Oh, Herbert," she whispered, "I gladly give you the privilege! You don't know how I have hoped and longed for a model man like you to be a father to my darling daughter!"

Improving a Proverb.

The class was having a lesson on paraphrasing, and the teacher wrote on the blackboard the following adage, telling the boys to put it down in their own words: "A wink is as good as a nod to a blind horse."

At the end of the lesson certain attempts were read out, and one was as follows:

"A spasmodic movement of the optics is as adequate as a slight inclination of the cranium to a horse void of its visionary capacities."

Auctions in Japan.

Sealed bids are used in auctioning property in Japan. There is no shouting. The auctioneer announces to the audience that he has such and such a piece of property for sale and invites bids. Those who wish to bid write their bids and names on slips of paper. The paper is folded and placed in a box. When the auctioneer sees no more bids coming he opens the box and sorts out the bids. The highest bid takes the property.

Not a Fighter.

"My father," the host says, "carried that sword."

The guest examines the blade with interest and discovers a stamped statement thereon to the effect that the sword was made in 1899.

"What war was your father in?" he asks.

"War? Oh, father wasn't in any war! He was a traveling salesman for a regalia house."—Judge.
