There is joy among some of the chicken raisers in the city, and especially the women who have been watching the spring pullets and keeping cases as to when they ought to begin producing hen fruit. Several families are now eating eggs of their own—that is, eggs that were laid by their own hens, hence the rejoicing.

The real live Santa Claus at Gregory's Variety Store is attracting a great deal of attention, and the youngsters have been busy confiding to him the different presents they want him to put on the Christmas tree and in their stockings.

A poor store is quickly "found out" when it commences to advertise—and so is a good one.

Remember the benefit dance tomorrow, Friday, night at the new Oregon Trunk railroad warehouse. The floor is the best in the central part of the state. Music will be furnished by the Redmond band. Tickets are 50 cents and the proceeds will go to Adolph Jacobson who was recently hurt and had to have his leg amputated.

What your store is to be in a year from now exists in your plans for it today—in the publicity campaigns you're creating NOW.

Chester L. Adams, representing the Mergenthaler Linotype Co. of San Francisco, was in the city Monday. He recently sold a linotype to The Spokesman, and the machine is expected to be installed in time to get out the first January issue of the paper. With this machine the paper will carry a much larger amount of reading matter, and take care of all the late news right up to the hour of going to press.

Wm. A. Dalziel, deputy commissioner and factory inspector for the state, was in Redmond last Saturday on a trip in connection with the duties of his office. He visited the different power plants in the city, and gave out advice as to certain things that would have to be complied with. He will make another trip here in May.
