YUAN IS INAUGURATED.

Foreign Legations Not Represented-- Imperialists Gaining.

Pekin--Yuan Shi Kai was formally inaugurated provisional president of the Republic of China in the presence of a great gathering of delegates, provincial envoys, military and naval officers and other prominent personages, in the new foreign office. Many foreigners attended the ceremony, but the legations were not represented.

Yuan Shi Kai, who was in military uniform, read a declaration promising faithfully to develop the republic, observe the constitutional laws, and retire when the national assembly appointed a permanent president. The affair was solemn--almost pathetic--and typical of China's transition.

Most of those attending were attired either in uniforms or European dress. The only touch of Orientalism was the presentation of the scarfs to Yuan by two yellow-robed llamas.

A report has reached Peking that Tung Kwang, the famous pass on the borders of Shensi and Honan provinces, has been captured by General Sheng Yuan, governor of the province of Shensi, before whom, if the report is correct, the provinces of Honan and Chili are now open country.

The report says that 1,000 republican cavalry and infantry have deserted to the imperialists under Sheng Yuan and that a large part of the republican army in the North is showing strong symptoms of reaction and may be affected seriously.

If the report is true, it is probable that the difference between the North and the South will be brought no nearer a settlement because of the inauguration of President Yuan Shi Kai.

GALE LASHES COAST.

Storm Bursts Pier and Wrecks Boats at Long Beach, Cal.

Los Angeles--The loss of a number of fishing vessels and two fishermen, the disabling of a steamer and the wrecking of the $100,000 municipal pier at Long Beach sums up in part the damage caused by a terrific gale which wrecked the coast of Southern California. Much damage to trees and buildings was caused by the 60-mile wind at Avalon, Catalina island, San Diego and other places on the coast.

The weather has moderated somewhat, but a heavy sea is rolling. The weather was so rough in the channel at Avalon that the steamer Cabrillo could not make a landing there. Three inches of rain fell within five hours at Catalina.

The fishing boats were wrecked off San Diego when the storm was at its height. The hulks of the vessels could be seen in the surf off Lajolla. George F. Werner, of San Diego, and an unidentified companion, were the first victims of the storm. The surf cast up their bodies. It is believed that other lives were lost.

A dozen or more fishing vessels left San Diego before the storm and the two wrecks sighted probably were of the fleet. None of the fishing vessels has been spoken since.

MEXICAN CAPITAL FOR PEACE

Public Demonstration of Loyalty to Administration Made.

Mexico City--A big demonstration in favor of peace and in support of the constituted government was held here. Perfect order prevailed.

President Madero for nearly three hours reviewed the demonstrations from the palace and from time to time replied to impassioned speeches by the paraders. The speeches, while not laudatory of Madero, pledged him support in abolishing anarchy and expressed confidence in the government. The crowd, which filled the zoccolo in front of the palace, is estimated to have numbered 20,000 persons.

Derelict Vessel Reported.

San Francisco--The schooner Lillie, which arrived from Coos Bay, reported having sighted a derelict on March 5, at about longitude 126 degrees and 6 minutes west and latitude 40 degrees north. The wreck was apparently that of a three-masted schooner, floating bottom up. The masts and spars were towing behind. The exposed keel was about 100 feet long and the bottom was clean. Shipping men are at a loss to account for the wreck, as no vessel of that description is known to be missing.

Street Names Must Go.

London--Visitors to London have frequent occasion to note the quaint and frequently repellent names borne by streets and lanes of the great metropolis. Camberwell Borough Council is being petitioned to alter the name of Cut-Throat Lane to something less gruesome. Among long streets to whose present nomenclature objection has been taken, may be mentioned Asylum road, Beer lane, Dog Kennel Hill, Grundy street, Lizard street, Pickle Herring street and Frying Pan alley.

I. W. W. street speakers in jail at San Diego, Cal., plugged the locks of the cellroom doors with bits of tin and then tried to tear down the concrete walls of the building.

Patriotic German Cook.

The kaiser's patriot cook, Karl Jaedicke, a highly salaried official who played an important part in the emperor's campaign for purifying the German language, has just died.

Jaedicke was the first Imperial cook who scornfully rejected the flattering title chef, and called himself by the old German Mundkoeh. In collaboration with the kaiser, he worked out a complete dictionary of translations of the names of dishes from French into German, and it was under his regime that menus disappeared from the court and Spelsekerten, printed in Gothic letters, took their place.

The German language league, a very powerful organization, regarded Jaedicke as a hero, and wanted to make him its honorary vice-president.

The only dish for which Jaedicke could find no German equivalent was mayonnaise; but he got round that difficulty by spelling it "Melonneise," thus giving it a German touch.

The whole staff of the kaiser's kitchen turned out at Jaedicke's funeral, and a speech was delivered lauding him as "an honest German namer of German things."

Butterflies Without Heads.

Two European scientists have been making some curious experiments on caterpillars, the value and meaning of which have not yet been explained.

They had the curiosity to find out whether a caterpillar can turn into a butterfly if you deprive him of his head; also what will the butterfly be like?

By tying ligatures behind the heads, the caterpillars were decapitated. This didn't seem to bother them much, except that they didn't crawl as fast as before.

The greatest difficulty in the experiments was in getting the butterflies out of the chrysalis; most of them died, and it was necessary to help the others out. The butterflies thus obtained did not differ from the normal type--except for having no heads.

"Hard as a Garfish" Slogan.

A woman looking over costly jewel cases in one of the most expensive of New York shops the other day was struck with the beautiful, ivory like finish of a number of them. "What are they made of?" she asked admiringly. "Garfish skin, madam," answered the salesman. "Garfish leather we find, is very little known about outside of the trade and yet it has come to be of importance. It not only can be worked up to this polish, but it is wonderfully hard. They say certain tribes of Indians knew its secret and that among them it was used as armor, the tradition being that a breastplate of it would resist any tomahawk or arrow. It can be made now so that it will turn the edge of a knife or a spear."
