OREGON TRUNK DEPOT HERE BROKEN INTO

Money Drawer Forced Open
But Nothing of Value Was Secured.

The Oregon Trunk depot at this city was broken into Sunday night, March 3d, and the money drawer opened, but as all the money and other valuables were in the safe, nothing was secured of value. Special Agent Crowley of the road was notified and arrived here soon after the burglary.

Fritz Newman, a boy about 12 or 13 years old, was suspected, and Agent Crowley put the boy through a rigid questioning, but he did not own up to being in any way connected with the burglary. The boy did, however, acknowledge that he had broken into the Tam-A-Lum Lumber Co.'s office some time ago and stolen stamps, etc.

What led up to suspicioning the boy was the fact that he had been hanging around the depot waiting room for a long time, watching the money drawer at different intervals, and when questioned as to what he wanted he said he was waiting for an express package, sometimes from one place and sometimes from another place.

It has not yet been decided what will be done with the boy for his burglary of the Tam-A-Lum lumber office.

Spring Hat.

If you are going to buy a new hat this spring, take a look at the line of millinery that Lynch & Roberts have added to their stock.

GET YOUR COPY IN EARLY.

As The Spokesman since being burned out is being printed in Portland until the new plant is installed, it will be necessary for advertisers and others to get their copy into The Spokesman office by Sunday morning of each week. This is due to the fact that copy for the current week has to be sent out from here Sunday night in order to reach the Portland office in time for that week's issue. This condition will obtain only until The Spokesman plant is installed.

Want ads well saleable things—usually quickly. The fact that you have something to sell means that you have something to advertise—a direct, logical use for want advertising.

Want advertise your real estate and sell, rent or exchange it profitably.

If every advertisement of a store makes known some items of real "Opportunity News" for shoppers, then every advertisement of that store gains new readers, new investigators, new patrons and friends for the store.

The Spokesman understands that Frank Elkins has entered the race for the nomination of sheriff on the Republican ticket.

Not once in a hundred times does an ad reader pay too much for anything.

The inclement weather last week retarded A. Anderson from commencing work on his new stone building on Sixth street between E and F streets. Just as soon as the weather will permit, Mr. Anderson intends to start the work and push it forward as fast as possible.

Efforts are being made here to establish an Elks club. There are several Elks here now, and the intention is to try and organize a club of twenty, and have the new members initiated at The Dalles the latter part of April.

A small boy arrived at Terrebonne last Friday night who had come alone all the way from Colorado. Directions to conductors were written on cloth and pinned to the sleeves of the boy's coat, and on his pants, and the youngster said he had had no trouble in getting through anywhere on the trip.

Born, March 7th, to Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Brady, a 10-pound son. Mr. Brady is painting foreman at the depot.

R. C. Wegant, assistant state engineer, arrived here Sunday night and left Monday for Prineville. He intends to return to Redmond this week and remain in this section for a week or ten days on business connected with his office.

T. M. Baldwin, president of the First National Bank of Prineville, came in Sunday night from Portland en route home.

W. M. Wilson, who is having plans drawn in Portland for an opera house he contemplates building here, expects to receive the plans in a short time, and then will decide definitely just what steps he will take in the matter.

The city has been well canvassed the past week by commercial men from Portland wholesale houses.

Station Agent Baukel informs The Spokesman that it is expected the Oregon Trunk railroad stone depot at this point will be completed and ready for occupancy about the first of April. Work on the building is being pushed forward as rapidly as possible, consistent with good workmanship. The interior is now being plastered and painted.

The Spokesman has heard many compliments passed on the courteous treatment accorded travelers over the Oregon Trunk and Deschutes railroads by the officials at the depot here.

W. Archer, who lives five miles north of the city, was in Redmond last Saturday on business connected on proving up on his land. Mr. Archer is one of the old-timers in this section of the state, and has seen the Redmond District grow from the sage brush into a flourishing agricultural section. While in the city Mr. Archer made The Spokesman a pleasant call and had his name inscribed on the subscription list of the paper, "for," as he said, "every little helps out when a man is in hard luck, and I know the recent fire hit The Spokesman a pretty hard lick."

Mrs. G. F. Johnson, mother of Mrs. Ike Buckley of this city, arrived here recently for an extended

The window display of good things to eat that Proprietor Page is making at his pioneer Market attracts the attention of all passers by, and shows that Mr. Page is up-to-date in his line.

If you can save money on the thing you must buy today, why not look at the ads in The Spokesman? There are many money-saving chances there.

J. S. Campbell, of Portland, arrived here last week with his family, and will become a resident of Redmond. He is foreman at the freight house of the Oregon Trunk and Deschutes railroads, and is an experienced man in that position.

E. L. Rapp, formerly in the clothing business in this city, is now engaged in the same business at Elmira, near Eugene, and doing well.

Mr. Davidson, who is interested with Louis Hill in the 800,000 tract of land in the eastern part of the state that is to be thrown open to settlement, was here last Saturday and bought a ticket for St. Paul. He had been looking over land in that section and also in this.

The cheese that the Redmond Creamery is putting on sale is meeting with favor from Redmond housewives.

There is a conductor on the Oregon Trunk line who is of a humorous turn of mind. Sometimes when calling his train after supper at Metolius he hollers out: "All aboard going south for Culver, Opal City, Terrebonne, Redmond, Bend, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Pasadena, San Diego, California, and other southern points."

Miss Butler, saleslady at Lynch & Roberts' store here, returned from Portland last Friday night, where she had been buying goods for the dry goods-department of the above firm.

Allen Willcoxon, of Powell Butte, deputy assessor, was in Redmond Monday, assessing personal property. Mr. Willcoxon predicts a bumper crop in all sections of the county this year.

Frank Zumwalt and family moved to Sisters Tuesday, where they will reside in the future. Mr. Zumwalt will engage in the feed and butcher business there in partnership with W. E. Graham.

The picture of "Paddy" that was on exhibition at Ehret's hall at the dance last night was the work of Geo. Kohl, the sign and art painter of this city. He received many compliments on the excellence of his work.

W. W. Main, who has been telegraph operator at the Oregon Trunk depot since the road entered the city, leaves this week to become station agent at Sinamox, 26 miles this side of Fallbridge on the Oregon Trunk line. Mr. Main made a number of friends in Redmond during his residence here who are sorry to have him leave the city, but extend him their best wishes for his future success.

Dave Miller Badly Burned.

While trying to start a fire in the kitchen stove with gasoline Monday morning, D. L. Miller, of this city, was badly burned, and his wife also sustained severe injuries. Mr. Miller has been in the habit of pouring gasoline on the fire to start it burning better, and kept gasoline in a glass can for that purpose. Monday morning the gasoline in the can exploded and pieces of glass entered Mr. Miller's face, inflicting painful injuries. His hair was burned off, and he also was badly burned on the hands, arms and body. Mrs. Miller's hair was burned, and she received a severe burn on the wrist. The kitchen was badly scorched from the flames. C. A. Adams, who lives close to the Miller residence, reached the place immediately after the gasoline exploded and by heroic work assisted Mr. and Mrs. Miller in putting out the fire. Mr. Miller will be confined to his bed for several days.

A Roofing That Is Fireproof.

While here the first of the month adjusting the fire losses of the Feb. 28th fire, Adjusters Shankland and Radcliff stated that the only roofing they would recommend for building purposes—a roofing that would stand a fire test—was the Malthoid roofing. They said they had seen this roofing put to the most severe tests and fire would not burn it. They further stated that buildings covered with Malthoid roofing could get a better insurance rate than those covered with other kinds. The Spokesman prints this information for the benefit of those who are going to build, in order to let them know what insurance companies think is the best roofing for fire protection.

ROBBERS HOLD UP TRAIN.

Texas Sheriff and Posse Ride Light Engine to Meet Desperados.

El Paso—Southern Pacific passenger train No. 19, westbound, due at El Paso at 6:30 a. m., was held up by robbers Wednesday morning at 2:15.

The scene of the holdup is two miles east of Sanderson, Tex., and the robbers detached the engine, mail and baggage cars and took them toward Sanderson. The sheriff and a posse, on a light engine, left Sanderson to meet the robbers.

Southern Pacific officials express the belief that the train holdup was committed by Mexican malcontents.

Muscles Are Grafted.

Baltimore—Performing an operation made possible only by recent discoveries in surgery, Dr. William S. Baer transplanted the muscles of Miss Ruth Coffey, of Lenoir, N. C., in an effort to stay the ravages upon her system caused by infantile paralysis. To connect the disjointed and paralyzed muscles, it was necessary to lance the joints of the patient and untangle a mass of useless fiber, cut off useless ends and transplant broken ends, thereby connecting them to the useful and healthy cords.

Corn Grows in Appendix.

Lawrence, Ind.—Three grains of corn that had begun to sprout were found in the appendix of James B. Powell, a wealthy farmer, when he was operated upon for acute appendicitis. The appendix was 11 inches long. Powell had a habit, he said, of eating a few grains of corn every time he fed his stock.
