As The Spokesman since being burned out is being printed in Portland until the new plant is installed, it will be necessary for advertisers and others to get their copy into The Spokesman office by Sunday morning of each week. This is due to the fact that copy for the current week has to be sent out from here Sunday night in order to reach the Portland office in time for that week's issue.
This condition will obtain only until The Spokesman plant is installed.

Mendenhall's window display last Saturday at his summer opening of his ice cream parlor was pretty nifty and attracted the attention of many.

J. H. Cook left last Tuesday for Ontario, where he will make his headquarters for an indefinite period. His family expect to join him there later in the season.

Lewis Wyde was over from Prineville last week interviewing the voters in regard to his candidacy for the nomination for the office of county assessor.

Ben McCaffery, manager of the Bend hospital, was a Redmond visitor last week. Ben says that Redmond looks good to him.

W. G. Phoenix has an attractive window display at his real estate office on North Sixth street. He has a whole addition laid out, with street cars running on the principal street.

Easter services at the different churches here were attended Sunday.
Both the M. E. and Presbyterian churches furnished interesting Easter programs by the children.

John McLain and son and son-in-law arrived here last week from Sheridan, this state. Mr. McLain bought the Moore eighty acres three miles west of the city on the Deschutes river. He brought in a carload of goods and implements.

O. E. Anderson and wife arrived here from Oakville, Wash., last week and have gone out to their ranch of eighty acres two miles from Deschutes.

S. H. Snyder, Crook county agent for the Horticultural Fire Relief Insurance company of Salem, was here from Bend last week looking up business for his company.

There was a one-legged man here last week soliciting alms from the business men. He claimed he had a wife and children to support, and his story brought him in a good amount of coin.

W. Quackenbush and family have moved in from their ranch south of the city and are living on the corner of Second and A streets.

There is so much building going on in Redmond that all the carpenters are busy.

George Kohl and his force of painters are kept on the jump these days painting new buildings and touching up improvements that have been made on old buildings.

Bevard & Gant, who had the contract for putting in the new front of the Lynch & Roberts store on the corner of Sixth and E streets, made a good-looking job of the work.

W. J. Wheeler, the plumber on South Eighth street, is building an addition to his plumbing shop on the Muma property.

A nice shower of rain visited this section last Wednesday afternoon and laid the dust that had begun to get thick on some of the principal business streets.

Write your "Real Estate For Sale" ad without trying to condense it too much. Tell some details about the property—tell the facts which would answer obvious questions about the property.

Redmond is getting to be a city of high-class gold-lettered signs. A large number of the business houses have had their windows lettered with gold signs in an attractive manner.

President J. W. Brewer of the Redmond Bank of Commerce went to Portland last Wednesday morning on important business.

Frank Zumwalt was over from Sisters last week to get some material for the new building he is putting up there for his meat market and feed store. Frank says there is considerable building in Sisters this spring.

A small amount of money expended in advertising in the "Classified Column" of The Spokesman will bring results. Try it if you have anything you want to sell, buy, exchange or rent.

A. A. Morse, special representative of the traffic department of the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company, Oregon short line Railroad company, Union Pacific Railroad company and Southern Pacific Railroad company, was a Redmond visitor last Friday in the interest of the above roads. He was very favorably impressed with Redmond and surrounding country and stated to The Spokesman that we had the making of a great dairying and hog-ras-ing country here.

William Hamilton expects to leave this week for his old home in Iowa.
It is understood that he will play first base for the Monmouth, Ill., ball team this season. Mr. Hamilton's leaving will leave a void in the Redmond Concert band that will be noticed. He plays the BBb base, one of the important instruments.

J. S. Luckey and wife of Eugene and J. C. Luckey of Portland, former old timers in Crook county in the vicinity of Prineville, were in Redmond last week on their way to Prineville to visit friends. While in Redmond they met many of their old-time former friends.

A. J. Haney and Ashley Forrest went fishing in the Deschutes river near Cline Falls the second of the month. Haney stated they had very fair luck and caught about a dozen trout from six inches up—but how many inches up he didn't say.

The plate glass front that W. E.
Young has put in in the front of his Sixth street building improves the looks of the place wonderfully, and after the painters got through with their work one would hardly know the place.

"Store Service," which is a store's reason for being a store, is many phased—of course. But prompt publicity for all bargain news is an important phase of it.

L. Dally, the lathing and plastering contractor, who is doing the work on the Aug. Anderson stone building, is a high-class workman in his line and his work always gives the best of satisfaction.

"Store Service" is what links a store to the people of a community —and an essential of it is the full publication of all store news.

Carlton L. Pepper of The Dalles, Republican candidate for the nomination for district attorney for this district, was in Redmond the latter part of last week getting acquainted with the voters. Mr. Pepper says he is well pleased with the outlook for his nomination.

John McTaggart of Madras, candidate for nomination for sheriff on the Republican ticket, was circulating here among the voters last week.
Mac says he will get a big vote north

G. H. Stone has moved from Mica, Idaho, to this section of the state, of Crooked river, and considers his chances of landing the nomination as good as any of the candidates.

The wisely managed households are not so rare as they used to be—in the days when fewer people were ad readers.

C. M. McAllister, live stock agent of the Portland Union stockyards, was in Redmond last week advocating the raising of hogs by the ranchers in the territory around this city.
He is an enthusiastic live stock man and was much impressed with this country as a good country for hogs.

A practical potato grower can get a chance to put in potatoes on shares on seven lots in the city. Anyone interested in this matter should call at The Spokesman office at once.

The following Terrebonne people were here Sunday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Simpson at their ranch just west of the city: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moore, Mr. and Mrs.
Mitchell, James Voss and sister, William Grantham and William McEwen.

Mrs. Z. T. McClay left Monday morning for her old home in Missouri, where she will visit for several weeks.

The Redmond Concert band was out Saturday night playing at different points in the city. After the band was through playing on the street they went to the Commercial club hall and made a couple of band records for the phonograph which turned out exceedingly well for the first attempt.

E. E. Harader of Aurora, Mo., son of I. L. Harader of Cline Falls, arrived here last Thursday and will make this his future home. Mr.
Harader was here several years ago and notices a vast number of changes.

Z. T. McCaly and W. J. Buckley made a trip to Terrebonne Monday and inspected the improvements on the W. Archer homestead near the above place, on which Mr. Archer will prove up on April 13th. They found that Mr. Archer has one of the best improved dry land homesteads in this section.

Redmond Lodge No. 110, K. of P., will give a social session at their hall Monday evening, April 15th. An interesting program will be presented, after which dancing will be indulged in until midnight.

John Tuck's farm north of the city was selected as the site for the irrigated demonstration station in Crook county by the experts from the Corvallis Agricultural College.

The sum of $15 was realized from the sales at the soda fountain at Mendenhall's last Saturday from 1 p. m. until 10 p. m. This money was turned over to the Redmond Public Library fund.

Rev. D. Loree, colporteur for the American Baptist Publication society, preached an interesting sermon at the M. E. church Sunday evening. Mr.
Loree is now located at Redmond.

J. H. Washington and family expect to leave this week for Elma, Wash., their former home. Mr. Washington recently sold his fine ranch south of the city. He has a warm spot in his heart for Redmond and the folks here and will keep in touch with this section by reading The Spokesman each week.
