The Right Kind of Hustler.

There is a good story concerning a certain trip of inspection when Louis Hill and a party of officials were taking a peek at the station agents somewhere along the line in Minnesota. At a station we may call Oscarville an agent, perhaps forewarned, was observed frantically moving trucks and cleaning up.

"There's a hustler for you," said one of the party.

"Humph," said Hill.

At another station the agent met them smiling, smoking a good cigar and clad in his best clothes. He was frankly idling, yet nothing was asked.

"Well, what do you think of that?" commented one of Hill's friends. "There's an agent who has time to loaf."

"Humph," said Hill.

A month later the "loafer" was promoted.

"If a man can get the work done without doing it himself he's the man for me," was the explanation of the railroad president.—Metropolitan Magazine.

April in Western Europe.

April is one of the driest months in the whole year in England. In the southeast of England, including London and its surrounding counties, the average April rainfall is only 1.64 inch. That of March, reputed the driest month, is 1.46, while May's rainfall is nearly a quarter of an inch in excess of April's. Not only is April a dry but also a very cold month. April 10th to 15th is a notoriously cold period.

All over the western part of Europe April is a month which is justly dreaded for its severity. Even in Spain this is the case. In central Spain there is an old story that a shepherd promised March a lamb if he would temper the winds to suit his flocks. March did so, but the faithless shepherd failed to keep his promise. In revenge March borrowed three days from April, which were worse weather than any experienced in March.—London Answers.

Jam Started as Medicine.

Jam in its early days seems to have been regarded as possessing medicinal properties. Gait in "Annals of the Parish" notes "a new luxury that got in among the commonalty about 1700. By our young men that were sailors going to Jamaica and the West Indies heaps of sugar and coffee beans were brought home, while many, among the cabbages in their yards, had planted berry bushes, which two things happening together the fashions of making jam and jelly came to be introduced into the village. It was found that jelly was an excellent medicine for a sore throat and jam a remedy as good as London candy for a cough or a cold or a shortness of breath." Did it ever occur to you that "jam" was abbreviated from Jamaica?—London Spectator.

Acute Sense of Hearing.

"Yes," said the prosperous lawyer in speaking to a friend. "I had a long wait before I got any practice, but I am certainly satisfied now with my profession and its emoluments. The early days, the waiting for clients, were hard, though. Why, do you know that I got so after awhile that when I heard a footstep on the stairs I could tell ninety-nine times out of a hundred whether or not the person was coming to my office?"

"Well that is strange," replied his friend. "Your sense of hearing must have been very acute."

"Not so much that," replied the lawyer. "You see, I made up my mind that they were not coming to my office, and ninety-nine times out of a hundred I was right."

When Death Cools His Sting.

There is a curious superstition in Jamaica that if a death occurs in the house all the water in it is poisoned at once and must be thrown away, the reason given being that Death cools his "sting" after destroying life in the first water he finds, and as no one can tell—death being invisible—what jar he may choose it is safest to throw it all away. Careful people to save trouble even carry all water out of the house immediately before a death is expected.

His Occasional Wish.

"Why don't you ever want to go to a wedding?" snapped Mrs. Enpeck. "I don't believe you've been to a wedding since you attended your own."

"No," mildly responded Mr. Enpeck. "I haven't. And," he added softly to himself, "I sometimes wish I hadn't attended that one"—Exchange.

Hollow, All Right.

Griggs—What odd expressions these novelists use! For instance, in this book you loaned me the author tells of the heroine speaking "in a hollow voice." Briggs—Well, that's all right in her case. You see, she had tried her voice on the stage, and there was nothing in it.—London Sketch.

Progress.

"So your son is going to high school?"

"Yes."

"How far has he got?"

"To the point at which I seem to be an intellectual two spot."—Chicago Record Herald.

Welcome Trouble.

Miss Newitt—May's in trouble. She's had proposals from two men and can't choose between them. Miss Passay—Heavens! And does she call that trouble?

His Treasure.

The Count (who has had a little tiff with his fiancee, the heiress)—But, my treasure—The Heiress—Your treasure? Your investment, you mean.
