SUCCESS ONLY THROUGH TOIL

Our young readers of this column—especially the young men—should remember that success is found most often in the path of toil. There is no way to genuine success except thru toil, either by hand or head. At the battle of Crecy in 1346, the Prince of Wales, finding himself heavily pressed by the enemy, sent word to his father for help. The father watching the battle from a windmill, and seeing his son was not wounded and could gain the day if he would, sent word, "no, I will not come; let the boy win his spurs, for, if God wills I desire this day to be his with all its honors."

Young man, fight your own battles all through and you will have the victory. It is a battle worth fighting. Two monarchs of old fought a duel, Charles V and Francis, the stakes were kingdoms, Milan and Burgundy.

Do not get the fatal idea that you are a genius, and that, therefore is no need of close application. It is here that multitudes fail. The curse of the age is the geniuses; men with enormous self conceit and egotism and nothing else. It is better to be an ox than an eagle; plain and plod, dim and useful, rather than high flying and good for nothing but to pick out the eyes of carcasses. Extraordinary capacity without work is extraordinary failure. There is no hope for the person who begins life resolved to live by his wits for the probability is that he has not any. It was not safe for Adam, even in his unfallen state, to have nothing to do, and therefore God commanded him to be a farmer and horticulturist. He was to dress the garden and keep it and had he and his wife obeyed the divine injunction and been at work, they would not have been sauntering under the trees and hankering after the fruit that destroyed them and their posterity; a proof positive for all ages to come that those who do not attend to their business are sure to get into mischief.

BENEFITS OF PARCELS POST

The parcels post that the government put in operation in the United States January 1st, will have results much like those of the first telephones. It will be a great system that will bring the consumer closer to the producer and the producer closer to the consumer. It will carry conveniences of the city to the country and the fresh produce of the country to the city kitchens direct.

If the country lass has a skirt she wishes dyed or a feather curled she will send them to town. If the rural housewife wants a pair of blankets she wants dry cleaned, she can send them to town in a parcel with a parcels post stamp affixed. Maybe she will send a dozen or so eggs or a pound of butter along to pay the bill.

How can the parcels post authorities know all this so far ahead? They don't know it ahead. England has been doing that sort of thing for years. They studied it in England. In London they send waists, curtains and linens to Scotland to be laundered. The parcels post makes it practical to send fine laundry work far into the country where there are communities that specialize in that business. Needless to say, both sides profit by the parcels post. They even send garments and cloths to Scotland to be dyed, for certain Scotch towns have developed the art of dyeing from generation to generation. The Londoner gets a better and also cheaper job of dyeing because of the parcels post and the Scots profit by the trade.

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY

Tomorrow is St. Valentine's Day. Perhaps you have heard the legend of St. Valentine, but if you have not, here is in as small a nutshell as such a saint could be well condensed: St. Valentine lived long ago; an emperor ruled him, and the emperor whose name was Claudius, became very jealous of St. Valentine or Fr. Valentine, as he was then called, and one day Claudius cut Fr. Valentine's head off and banished his remains so that nobody should know that he had been beheaded. "Now why did Claudius do this?" you ask. Well, he did it because Fr. Valentine was such a great favorite with the young people that Claudius was not in their affection at all.

THE KNOCKER

Try as hard as you please, you can never get the knocker to believe his home town is anything but a modern Nazareth. Nothing good can come from it. Even when some bit of successful hustling or unusual generosity sets the outside world talking, he finds some flaw, some manner in which the deed would have been better had it happened elsewhere.

Personally, his brain if changed to water would not be sufficient to dampen the dust on a gnat's whiskers, but he considers himself capable of giving advice to old man Solomon.

Country life has its drawbacks but it has its great advantages which overcome them. True, those who live in the country are "Rubes" and "Farmers" and "Hayseeds" to the cigarette smokers in town, but the boast of the business men in the world today is that they were born on the farm. Take away the surrounding evils that beset the young men or women on the threshold of life's journey in the city, and substitute the helpful influences of nature, and you fortify them for the sterner walks of life.

Every man talks in an important way about his mail. He has to go down Sundays to get his mail; hates to leave town because he misses his mail, and all there is in it is a bill or two and circulars advertising a mining scheme. If he chances to be at home when he opens it, "hush," the mother will tell the children, "don't disturb father while he is reading his mail."

Bend seems to be unfortunate in the matter of destructive fires. In the past two years that city has been visited with several big fires, and it is reported the insurance companies are getting to think there is a hoo-doo or jinx on the town.

The city council of Prineville is going to enforce the ordinance against chickens running at large. Redmond has a "chicken" ordinance but it has never been enforced. Why not?

A doctor has declared that walking is a tiresome exercise, and not especially beneficial. However, we never knew a man to have a puncture or burst a tire while he was walking.

TWO SESSIONS ARE PROPOSED

RESOLUTION OFFERED IN SENATE ON WEST PLAN—BILLS ARE TO BE INTRODUCED AT FIRST SESSION AND ACTED ON AT NEXT SESSION, IS THE PROPOSED MEASURE

President Malarkey of the Senate, and Senator McColloch have jointly introduced a Senate joint resolution carrying out the idea advocated by Governor West in his message, for referring to the people a constitutional amendment providing that the Legislature, starting in 1915, shall meet for 20 days, adjourn not less than 60 days nor more than 90 days, and then meet again.

No bills shall be passed during the first 20 days of the session and no bills shall be introduced during the second period of the session. The object of the plan is to give the Legislators time to thoroughly digest and the people thoroughly to discuss proposed legislation which is introduced during the first 20 days of the session. The joint resolution of President Malarkey and Senator McColloch is as follows:

"Be it resolved by the Senate and the House of Representatives, jointly concurring: That Section 10 of Article 4 of the constitution be, and the same is hereby amended to read as follows;

"The sessions of the Legislative Assembly shall be held biennially at the Capitol of the State, commencing on the second Monday in January in the year 1915, and on the same day of every second year thereafter, unless a different day shall have been appointed by law. After the session shall have continued not more than 20 calendar days, an adjournment shall be taken for not less than 90 calendar days. No bill shall be placed by either house on its 3rd reading or final passage prior to said adjournment, and no bill shall be introduced nor read for the first time in either house after said adjournment."

CHEESE FACTORY IS TO BE STARTED AT LAIDLAW

Another impetus to the dairying industry in Central Oregon is the establishment of a cheese factory at Laidlaw, says a dispatch to a Portland paper. John B. Wimer, a Laidlaw merchant and rancher, is the promoter of the enterprise, the first in Crook county and the second in Central Oregon.

Mr. Wimer has already placed orders for machinery and is now on a trip to Corvallis and other Willamette valley points, purchasing cows, which will be imported. Mr. Wimer will buy nearly 100 head, which will be distributed among the ranchers. The estimated daily cheese output is estimated at 300 pounds.

SIX POTATO DISEASES ARE CAUSING GREAT LOSS

That there are at least six well defined potato diseases, some of them causing great losses in Oregon, has been determined by the crop pest investigations at the Oregon Agricultural College. The experts have devoted their attention thus far mainly to a survey to discover the extent and distribution of potato diseases, but it is planned in the future to study each of the six principal diseases in detail with special reference to conditions in Oregon.

Cooperative work is under way to test different varieties of potatoes for disease resistance. The seed for these tests is furnished by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and a small field of the college farm has been planted, both good and bad potatoes being used, for comparison.

Too Much of a Good Thing

"I was very happy," said the confessor, "when, after years of wooing she finally said 'yes.'"

"But why did you break the engagement so soon after?" asked the friend.

"Man, it was she that dissolved it."

"Really?" said the friend. "How did that happen?"

"It was due to my accustomed absent mindedness. When a few days later, I called at her home, I again asked her to marry me."

February 13

DEAR FRIEND:

Every morning before I get to school I sweep out the dining room and kitchen for mama. Yesterday she told me that I might have a new broom. I went down town and bought a new broom for 45 cents. While I was down at the grocery store I saw lots of good things to eat. I bought a pound of cheese for 25c.

Your friend,

JACOB
