THE SPARKS THEATER The best show since the opening of the Sparks Theater was seen Sunday evening. The house was packed and everyone was well pleased with the program. The immortal masterpiece "The Two Orphans," in three reels, from Kate Claxton's authorized version and Partles' Weekly were very good, but the illustrated song of "Down by the Old Mill Stream," by the male quartet, Messrs. Buckley, Haney, Schee and Woodward, was, without question, the best ever heard in this popular play house. Mrs. Sparks certainly is running a good show and is deserving of the nice patronage she is getting.

POTATO BILL IS DUBBED FOOLISH

IT STANDARDIZES WEIGHT OF A SACK AND IS DESIGNED TO CUT OUT GRAFT ON FARMERS AND CONSUMERS BY SOME OF THE DEALERS

To prevent "slick tongued agents of commission men" from working a graft at both ends was said to be the purpose of Representative Gill's bill standardizing the weight of a sack of potatoes, which was passed by the Senate last Friday. Senator Dimick explained that certain agents of commission houses go out among the farmers and dicker for spuds, giving the impression that they will pay for them by the pound. Then the farmers, to save sacks, fill each sack chock full, giving it a weight of 110 to 120 pounds. When he goes to collect for his spuds he finds the contract says they were purchased at so much per sack. "Then some of the dealers," he said, "resack the potatoes into 95 lb. sacks and sell them to the public for 100 pounds."

Senator Smith of Coos said he had been growing spuds for 25 years and that he had discovered no need for such a law. Senator Farrell said he would go Smith one better, that he had been growing potatoes for 32 years, and that he thought the bill was foolish.

Senator Kellaher said there were from 2000 to 3000 peddlers in Portland who were working the spud graft from both ends, and he thought this law would put a stop to it and protect the public.

If you speak well of a child some disagreeable person is sure to say that you are spoiling it.

A. Bore—Yes, I learned to play en tirely by ear. Miss Bright—And have you never had an earache?

DETECTIVE'S METHODS GIVE REVENGE TO FOES

SPOTTER "GETS HIS" AFTER DOING SOME DIRTY DETECTIVE WORK

Two hundred dollars and costs, amounting in all to about $300, is what it cost E. Gardner, detective, employed by the city of Grants Pass, to get evidence against gamblers to bet a drink of soda water with a minor. Judge Jewell having imposed that sentence upon Gardner one day last week.

The detective was found guilty on the charge. Appeal has been taken to the circuit court.

The case is the outgrowth of the gambling prosecutions and convictions recently had in Grants Pass. Mayor Smith, for the city, hired Gardner to gather evidence against places and parties alleged to be violating the anti-gambling laws, and as a result of the detective's work 11 paid fines ranging from $50 to $125 in the police court. Friends of the convicted men were severe in their criticism of the methods used in getting the evidence for the convictions, and a complaint was filed in Judge Jewell's court charging Gardner with having contributed to the delinquency of a 17 year old boy, Willard Crawford, with whom he bet a drink of soda water over the outcome of a game of billiards. Gardner was arrested at Salem.

WANTS BOUNTY ON HARNEY JACKRABBITS

Senator Stewart of Grant county, who also represents Harney and Malheur, is after the scalp of the Harney county jackrabbit. This is literally true. He wants a bounty of 3 cents per scalp paid in that county in the years 1913 and 1914 and 5 cents thereafter.

So pestiferous are the bunnies in Harney that Mr. Stewart has provided in a bill he has introduced that the county court shall be authorized to levy a special tax of 2 mills on the dollar for the purpose of encouraging hunters, forming a rabbit bounty fund.

Malheur and Grant county rabbits will not be acceptable in Harney. A severe penalty is provided for any person applying for bounty on rabbits slain anywhere else than in Harney county.

BURNS IS NOW IN DARKNESS. Electric Light Plant Shut Down Because of Disagreement

The electric light plant at Burns is shut down and the city is in darkness. This condition is the result of disagreement between the owners of the plant and the owners of the Burns flour mills. The dynamo is situated in the mill and is run by the water power belonging to the mill, for the use of which the mill people demanded a rate of monthly payment which the electric people declare they cannot afford to pay.

The electric plant has never been able to give a steady, reliable service the year around, because of the changes in the water supply—sometimes too much in the river and sometimes not enough—so many business houses and residences have installed private gasoline plants and thus the patronage has been reduced so that the company says it cannot maintain the system by steam power and pay anything.
