road is completed to within a mile from where it drops down the north slope to West Branch creek. The tents and heavy articles of construction have already been hauled to the foot of the mountain on the north side in order to be available for use early next spring, when work will be resumed. There remains but five miles to be built to finish the road.

In addition to the money already spent on this road by the government, Uncle Sam has allotted $1,000 additional. This makes $1,700 contributed by the forest service in addition to the amounts allowed by Crook and Wheeler counties.

These roads will be a fine thing for Crook county and will return a hundred fold for every dollar invested. The Prineville-Mitchell road opens up a rich agricultural and fruit country that will seek an outlet to markets in this direction and the road over the McKenzie pass will furnish a direct means of communication with the Willamette valley and Portland. The automobile travel alone over this route will leave thousands of dollars annually in this county. Help along the good roads movement!

GOVERNMENT BEHIND M'KENZIE RIVER ROAD

PROJECT TO BE CARRIED BEFORE THE ENTIRE STATE

U. S. Appropriation of $10,337 Announced After Eugene Gives Promise of $11,000

A dispatch from Eugene, dated the 10th, says: A $10,337 appropriation from the government for the McKenzie River Highway into Eastern Oregon, to follow the $5,500 granted this year, and now being expended to reduce all grades to ten per cent, was announced yesterday by Clyde R. Seltz, supervisor of the Cascade Reserve, after private subscriptions amounting to $11,000 were raised in Eugene yesterday. It follows the announcement that the construction of this highway is the principal government road project in the Northwest. In view of the success of private subscriptions in Eugene yesterday, the McKenzie road project is to be carried before the entire state.

Plans for a more feasible mountain automobile road over this pass, connecting the Willamette Valley with Klamath Falls, Eastern Oregon and Central Oregon, have in three weeks been changed to the construction of a mountain boulevard, along the McKenzie, under the Three Sisters, and into Central Oregon. Traffic into California may eventually be diverted over this road.

Of the $11,000 raised in Eugene yesterday, $1,000 was in cash from 22 subscribers and will be used immediately upon the construction of four miles of macadam near Walterville with $1,200 which is being similarly raised in Springfield and at Walterville. The other $10,000 represents the sum expended by the Oregon Power Company four years ago upon 6,000 feet of road through solid rock. The right of way and this road, yet uncompleted, was donated yesterday by the power company. The forestry department followed this gift with the announcement that it will cut the remaining 200 feet of rock. The completion of this distance, with that at Walterville, will complete a macadam highway from Eugene to Blue river, 40 miles from Eugene.

At present actual construction is taking place at six different places between the summit of the Cascades and Eugene, involving the expenditure of $10,000, of which $6,500 is the government fund to reduce the grades to a ten per cent maximum on Dead Horse Hill, near the summit. This work is over half completed at present. The remainder is county money, being expended by supervisors of macadamizing and repairing.

At Walterville residents are installing a rock crusher, and have raised $750 among themselves for the work. The fund was raised to $2,200 by Eugene and Springfield, with which the worst four miles on the McKenzie will be macadamized this year. Never before in Lane county has money been so available for construction of roads. Two solicitors approached 23 persons yesterday, and 22 gave a total of $1,000.

NINE ACRES OF OATS YIELD OVER 82 BUSHELS TO ACRE

At the James Hutton farm, five miles north of the city, when the crew finished threshing nine acres of oats the measurement was found to be 743 bushels and 8 pounds—an average of over 82 bushels to the acre. This crop was grown on irrigated land, and farmers have told The Spokesman that many other fields of oats in the irrigated section in the Redmond district would yield equally as good.
