POTATO SHOW OPENS TODAY

Many Exhibits Are in Place and Much Interest Is Being Manifested

IT WILL EXCEL ALL FORMER EXHIBITIONS

Three Days' Session Will Be Held — Illustrated Lectures, Sports and Grand Mask Street Parade the Last Day

Everything is set and in readiness for the Third Annual Redmond Potato Show and Fair which opens here today and continues Friday and Saturday. The different committees have been hard at work to get the exhibits in position for the opening day, and their work has shown good results. The large store room in the Ehret building on north 6th street, is well filled with all kinds of potato, root crop, grain and grass, cullinary, art and school exhibits. By tomorrow the show will be in full operation, as there are yet some few exhibits to be received and placed. This year the show will have a fine display of exhibits from the school, something that has not been shown at former shows. The art and fancy work department is another feature that has been added this year, and is expected to attract considerable attention.

Tomorrow, Friday, is "Prineville Day," and a good sized crowd from that city is expected to be in attendance. Railroad officials from the Oregon Trunk, O. W. R. & N., Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads will be in attendance. A representative of the Northern Pacific dining car service is expected to be present to look over the potato exhibit and try to secure for their dining cars some of the large, mealy potatoes grown in this section. F. W. Graham, western industrial agent of the Great Northern railway, the "father" of the Potato Show—he being the first one who broached the subject of holding an annual potato show in Redmond—will be here Saturday.

It has been stated by the music committee that there will be plenty of good band music during the show to liven things up, and the sports committee has given it out that there will be something doing all the time. Illustrated lectures will be given during the three days and everything done to make this show an interesting one to all who attend. The last day will close with a big mask street parade in which all the business houses of the city are expected to be represented.

LITTLE GIRL DROWNS IN RIVER AT BEND

FALLS INTO STREAM AT MILL WHILE PLAYING

This Makes the Sixth Drowning in the Deschutes at Bend in Past Four Months

A Bend dispatch of the 16th says: The 5-year old daughter of Jack Savoy was drowned in the Deschutes river this morning at the same spot where Mrs. A. W. Allgood died in the river four weeks ago today. The little girl had been playing around the bridge near the Bend Co's mill. The body was recovered in about an hour after the accident, and efforts at resuscitation were made, but with no effect. There are two other small children in the family, both boys. The Savoy family is having an unusual turn of misfortunes at this time, the mother being down with pneumonia and the father laid up with an injured arm, the result of falling on a saw in the local mill on Tuesday. This is the sixth drowning in the Deschutes river here in the past four months.

PRINEVILLE PEOPLE COMING

Friday is "Prineville Day" at the Potato Show and Fair

The Prineville Journal says: The business men of Prineville are making preparations for a big turnout at the Third Annual Potato Show and Fair at Redmond on Friday, October 24. This is "Prineville Day." Everybody is going. Now, if the weather man will only be decent about it and give us good roads the Prineville folk will test the accommodations of our neighbor. Get your cars ready. There are 50 in town that should make the trip.

The show this year will not only include potatoes but grains, grasses, all kinds of vegetables and fruit and a fancy work department.

On the second floor of the Ehret building lectures will be given to farmers by prominent authorities from the Oregon Agricultural College. It is planned not to have an idle moment during the three days.

REDMOND FLOUR IS NOW ON THE MARKET

NEW MILL IS TURNING OUT A SATISFACTORY PRODUCT

"Snowflake" Is the Name of the New Flour and Baking Tests Pronounce It Good.

The Redmond Feed & Fuel Co. made their first "Snowflake" flour at the new mill on Friday, October 17, and the flour is now on sale at all groceries in Redmond, and the intention is to place the product of the mill on sale in other towns in the county. The flour is a high-grade article, and baking tests have shown it satisfactory in every particular and the prediction is made that it will soon become the leading brand in Central Oregon.

"Snowflake" is the name of the brand, and the flour bears out the name, for it is as white and fine as any flour can be made. It is made by the latest patent in the roller process by the Midget Marvel Mills. Owing to the unusually quick, short system employed in the Midget Marvel, the resultant flour is kept clear and free from impurities, its natural bloom is preserved, and its volatile oils, which contain the flavor and the sweet aroma of the crushed wheat, are not evaporated by reason of the insubstantial operations which are necessary in modern long system mills. It is these many operations in the modern roller mill that makes low grade flour, and it is just because the Midget Marvel does not wear out the flour stock or abrade the bran that such an unusual high grade of straight flour is made. Persons have said that the bread made from flour manufactured by the Redmond Feed & Mill Co. reminded them of the sweet, nutty flavor of bread made from flour ground on the old stone mills, save that the Midget Marvel flour bread was pure and white and had all the impurities removed which the old stone mills left in. More Midget Marvel roller plants are sold than any other make in the United States.

The Redmond Feed & Mill Co. has secured the services of an experienced miller, Allen Mulkey of Walla Walla, who understands every detail of the manufacture of good flour. The capacity of the mill at present is 25 barrels daily, and this will be increased as the demand for the product requires. Although "Snowflake" flour has been on the market but a short time, the demand for it is rapidly increasing among the housewives who want a flour that will give them satisfactory results.

TOMATOES AND POTATOES GROW ON THE SAME VINE

A curiosity, the like of which probably has never been seen before, is a combination tomato and potato—the two vegetables growing on the same vine, says the Portland Evening Telegram.

How or why, is hard to explain. This plant was grown by Mrs. F. C. McKay of 865 Amherst street, this city, who has a small garden in the rear of her house. She planted tomatoes early in the summer and in another part of the yard, quite a distance from the tomatoes, she planted her potatoes. Both grew splendidly and after harvesting her crop of tomatoes she began pulling up the vines to clear the garden space. One of the vines pulled up extra hard and as it left the earth she found potatoes hanging to the roots. Investigation showed four perfectly formed potatoes, each a little larger than a big hen's egg. One of these Mrs. McKay broke off and cooked. Its flavor, she says, was fine, having the taste of both the potato and the tomato. The tomato vine is perfect, and upon the same stalk, hanging down above the earth, a cluster of good tomatoes grew. The potatoes were on the same vine, but, of course, grew under the ground. They are potato color, but contain small white tomato seeds, which are perfectly developed.

COUNTY WILL PAY $10,000 IN PLACE OF $50,000

Word has been received from Prineville that the Crook county warrant dispute has been settled by the county agreeing to pay $10,000 in place of the $50,000 worth of warrants issued by the county court in payment of road and bridge repair work. Last March some of the taxpayers brought suit to enjoin the county from paying the $50,000 of warrants that had been issued for the above purpose. The basis for the suit was the claim that these warrants exceeded the amount the county could legally issue for such purposes. The question of the legality remains open, as the case has never been tried, but is settled now by agreement of the parties, the holders of the warrants agreeing to accept 20 per cent of the amount they claimed, or about $10,000. Portland firms interested in the suit were Beall & Co., the Portland Trust Co., the Coast Bridge Co. and the Coast Culvert & Flume Co.

PYTHIANS' CHEERS HALT ALL BUSINESS

SCENE, UNPRECEDENTED IN 50 YEARS OF PYTHIANISM

L. R. Stinson Is Eulogized When He Is Put in Nomination at Grand Lodge Meeting

Three hundred delegates to the Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias of the domain of Oregon, who opened their annual gathering at Knights of Pythias Hall in Portland last week, absolutely tied up the business of the lodge for more than one hour while the delegates cheered and while one man after another paid tributes and eulogies to L. R. Stinson of Salem, grand keeper of records and seals.

The scene was one unprecedented in all the 50 years of Pythianism, so older members of the order declare. Mr. Stinson was being put in nomination as a delegate from the Oregon Grand Lodge to the golden jubilee of the order at Washington, D. C., next February.

At least 50 delegates leaped from their seats with the intention of nominating Mr. Stinson, who for sixteen years has been the peacemaker, the settler of schisms and the preacher of true fraternalism among Oregon Knights.

And so affecting did the tributes become that at one moment more than half the delegates were openly and unshamefully weeping, while the recipient of the laudations, Mr. Stinson, was audibly sobbing at one moment and smiling at the next.

W. M. Calk of Portland, nominated Mr. Stinson, but many contributed to what members of the order declare a most memorable event. Mr. Stinson is well known in Redmond, having been here when the K. P. lodge was organized, and later at the first anniversary of the lodge.

SETTLERS NOW TO GET MUCH MORE WATER

ENLARGEMENT OF CENTRAL OREGON CANAL BEING MADE

Will Rush the Work to Complete the Canal Before Winter Weather Sets In

Powell Butte settlers are to be congratulated on the fact that the Central Oregon Irrigation Co. is enlarging their Central Oregon canal which carries water to the Powell Butte district. The canal is being enlarged for three miles so that a greater head of water may be carried to the lower end. This will make it possible for the settlers to obtain patents for their land, which, under present conditions, they could not do as they had not sufficient water. A crew of 25 men under Claude McCauley was started on the work the first of the month and the intention of the company is to push the work forward as rapidly as possible so as to complete it before the winter season sets in. The improvement contemplates widening the canal five feet and deepening it two feet, extending from milepost eight to milepost eleven.

It is understood that a flume is also to be built by the above company to carry water to the settlers in the western part of the Terrebonne section, work on same to start soon.

Installed Motor

J. G. McGuffie last week installed the 15-horse power motor the Redmond Feed & Mill Co. put in to take the place of their gasoline engine. Mr. McGuffie is one of the most experienced electricians in Central Oregon and he did a satisfactory job installing the motor.

MONSTER RABBIT HUNT PLANNED FOR SUNDAY

WILL BE CONDUCTED IN THE LAMONTA DISTRICT

Drive Well Organized and Promises to Be Largest of Kind Ever Held in This Section

Extensive preparations are being made for a monster rabbit drive for Sunday in the Lamonta district near the place where the former drive was held, and at which time about 2000 rabbits were killed. The drive as now planned, will start from Lone Pine ranch and drive to the corral on the side of the hill. It is the intention to make this the largest and most exterminating drive in the history of Central Oregon, and people, both men and women, from Redmond, Bend, Prineville, Terrebonne, Powell Butte, Culver and Madras are making preparations to be present. Over 100 from Redmond have signified their intention of taking part in the drive.

Six marshals have been appointed for the event, and the drive is well organized. The marshals will be on horseback and will hold the driving lines in shape to do effective work. But a limited number of guns will be allowed, the intention being to drive the rabbits into corrals and kill them with clubs, thus making sure they are dead.

It is expected that a larger number of rabbits will be killed this time than at the former drive two weeks ago Sunday. A big dinner is to be served the hunters during the day.

"It was great," replied the loyal constituent. "It was one of those speeches that make you feel that whether a man has anything to say or not, you've got to give him credit for being a mighty fine talker."
