DEMONSTRATION FARM WORK IS TOLD ABOUT

JUDGE SPRINGER GIVES SOME OF INSIDE HISTORY

Tells Why the Work in This County Was Not Carried Out According to Agreement

To the tax payers of Crook county, Oregon, Greeting:
As the county court has been criticised from time to time for its failure to appropriate money for demonstration work, I take this opportunity to give you the facts in the case. About two years ago at a meeting of the Central Oregon Development League held at Prineville, the matter of demonstration and experimental work was taken up and a subscription of $10,000 was made for work, as I understand, in Crook county. The contributing parties were the two railroads, $2500 each; the Portland Commercial Club, $2000, and Crook county, $3000. In all $10,000, for which sum the Oregon Agricultural College agreed to carry on the work for two years. About the 15th of April last Mr. Powers, the party representing the college in this work, was in Redmond and I prevailed on him to come to Prineville that we might learn something of the status of the matter, when I learned to my surprise no one seemed to be looking after the matter, particularly as to collecting the contributions. Crook county had paid its contribution in full, and Mr. Powers informed me the railroads had paid up, but no effort and perhaps no demand for the remaining $2000.

I requested Mr. Powers to see the head men of the college and furnish me an authoritative statement that I might take the initiative in the financial department and gather in the balance of the funds. This he agreed to do, but to this date I have heard nothing from him or the college officials.

I withheld this public explanation of the case in hopes we might get the matter straightened out in a quiet way, but as the college has failed to answer my letter of some weeks since, written with a view of getting together for demonstration work for next season, I think best the taxpayers should know the situation.

The matter in a nutshell is: The Oregon Agricultural College contracted to carry on the demonstration work in Crook county two years for $10,000. The college has received $8000 and the work was done but one season; but little or nothing done the past season.

If I cared to plead the case of the county court, I would put a conundrum this way: If it costs $100 per acre to farm scientifically, how long will it take the dry farmers who are unaided, to make a fortune? But it is not a matter of great importance that the people should know who is to blame. What is needed is intelligent preparation for next season. Under the old law authorizing experiment stations the college was required to publish reports for distribution. In this case, the stations were created without state aid and there is no state law requiring a statement of receipts and expenditures. But the law of common decency, the custom-made law of business, requires that those who handle money contributed for any purpose, shall account to the contributors.

As the county court, for the people, contributed $2000 it feels under obligations to the people to report results, and in view of the present unsatisfactory status of the previous investment we feel that we should have a definite understanding as to what shall be undertaken in the future, and the failure of the college to respond to the request for such an understanding is responsible for the failure to have the work under way for next season.

The court is a unit in favor of demonstration work but wants a distinct understanding as to the extent and character of the work to be undertaken.
G. SPRINGER,
County Judge.

POWELL BUTTE

(Received too late for last week)
Powell Butte last week had a touch of all seasons of the year as far as the weather was concerned—rain, snow, sleet and a few days of real Central Oregon fall weather, with plenty of sunshine.

J. L. Foster and Miss Phoebe Heath visited among their Powell Butte friends Saturday. They have been to Alberta this fall and returned with a better opinion of this section than ever.

Cris Seitz took a load of oats to Bend Saturday. He reports a ready market and good prices for all kinds of produce.

The water question has been a serious one this fall. The ditch was turned off earlier than usual and but few were ready. A number of new cisterns and ponds are being built and preparations are being made to fill up when the water is turned on the last of this week. Alvin Riggs has been hauling from Golden's pond for his steers, and Hobbs and Morse have been hauling from the same place for their hogs. Mr. Landfare is hauling from Rhodes' pond for all his stock.

N. P. Alley has completed his contract on the Sears house, and Mr. Sears and family are now moving in. Geo. Hobbs and Clark Morse took in the dance at Redmond Friday night.

Rev. Ragan of Redmond, held services at the Shepard school house Sunday. The people here hope to have him every second Sunday.

Frank Bonalvy and wife of Clime Falls, visited at the Truesdale home last Sunday.

This Seitz has started digging his potatoes. He says they are not as good as in some former years, but far better than he expected after having others tell how light the crop was this year.

Earl Saunders dug about a quarter of an acre of his spuds and got over 40 sacks of good potatoes.

Jessie Beckman and Ralph Jones, who are attending high school in Prineville, spent the week end with home folks.

The mother and grandmother of Mrs. Shear left on Monday's stage.

Clark Morse spent several days in the Squaw Creek country where he is talking of homesteading. He likes that country very well, but don't think it compares with Powell Butte.

U. N. Hoffman, managing editor of the Bend Bulletin, was in this section the past week.

Ted Carlson of Stewart & Carlson, millers, was out from Prineville last Monday.

George Hobbs and Henry Spier went to the south side of the Buttes Sunday to look for potato pickers.

Powell Butte farmers are all getting their exhibits ready for the Redmond Potato Show.

The rabbit drive at Casey's last Sunday was not the success they had planned, although many of the pests were killed. There will be another drive in two weeks and they expect to allow guns to be used, which will be an inducement to many of the town people.

Frank May of Bend was in this neighborhood Friday.

Pauline Truesdale and Hazel Bayn spent the week end with the home folks.

Ross Hussett and Alma Johnson spent Saturday evening in Redmond.

A meeting was held at the Shepard school house to talk over the organization of a library society. There were not enough present to do anything definite. Another meeting was called for Saturday evening, November 1. At this meeting a short program will be given and all who are interested in this work are invited to be present and help organize a good club.

Lee Hobbs made two trips to Bend last week with oats.

Ralph Caldwell of La Pine spent Monday night at George Hobbs.

There is a great deal of work being done on the road between here and Redmond and it will soon be in very good shape.

The Sorosis Club met with Mrs. Glenn Mustard last Wednesday afternoon. It was decided to entertain the husbands and sweethearts at Mrs. Morse's on the evening of November 29. They also took up the question of asking the road supervisor, Munz Wilcoxson, to fix up certain roads which were in very poor condition.

George Hobbs and Clark Morse started to dig 90 acres of spuds last week. There are several other crews working on from 35 to 40 acre patches.

Redmond and Vicinity

Cattle Shipped—
Six cars of cattle were shipped from here Tuesday by the O-W. R. & N. to Portland for J. P. Diachman and Henry Cramm, both of Prineville.

Ore Shipment—
On Monday 102,000 pounds of gold ore was hauled from the Mayflower Mine in the Blue Mountains to Redmond by W. T. Davenport and shipped to a smelter in Utah. The ratio of value is from $60 to $700 per ton.

Baptist Services—
Commencing with next Sunday, October 26, there will be services every Sunday morning at the Baptist church. Sunday school commences at 9:45 a. m., and preaching service at 11 a. m. There will be no evening services.

Afraid of His Shoes—
A prominent young barber of Prineville recently went to Portland on the Oregon Trunk night train. The barber was nervous, and could not get to sleep. When he saw the porter gathering up the shoes in the aisle the barber yelled at him: "Hey, there, you ought to have enough shoes there to get you a good pair, and I want you to let mine alone."

Business Increasing—
A. G. Allingham returned last Saturday from Portland. He says the merchants there state business in all lines is picking up.

APPLIED LOGIC

An onlooker shook his head as he watched a steam shovel bite off the earth by the ton. He said: "It throws men out of work; it loads those cars faster than a hundred men with picks and shovels could do it."

But another onlooker answered: "See here, mister. If it would be better to employ a hundred men with picks and shovels on this job, would it not be better still, by your way of thinking, to employ a thousand men with forks and tablespoons?"

Tum-A-Lum Lumber Co. ORGANIZES AN ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT

We have recently organized, in connection with the Tum-A-Lum Lumber Co., an engineering department. It is the purpose of this department to aid in all questions along the building line that may be associated with the department and it is hoped that in the future we shall be able to render a real service whenever possible.

For prospective builders who are unable to get local architects to aid them in their problems, this department will submit estimates and will endeavor to advise in regard to the best methods of proceeding. For special jobs where such local service is not available, this department will furnish plans and brief specifications to our customers. Special instances superintendence during course of construction, whenever possible, may be furnished through this department.

In regard to the "Plan Books," copies of which we are now selling you, this department will be able to give plans and specifications, any design therein and for any changes that may be desired in the designs. Estimates of the cost, the lumber bills, and bill of materials will be furnished for each design. This book, by the way, is the Plan Book of the day and has in it a great many practical, fully described, also a number of excellent barn plans.

It is not our purpose, by organizing this department, to compete with local architects and contractors in the designing of local buildings, rather it is thought that we shall be able to aid customers who are not able to get such local men to serve them in this way, and are endeavoring to improve our facilities in rendering efficient service to our customers.

Trusting that we may be of service to you in the future, yours very truly,
