Men in a town who knock every enterprise unless they can get the big end of it are very little help to any community.

Reads pretty well when cattle from Redmond take first prize at big cattle show in Iowa. That's what a calf did at Waterloo, Iowa, that was bought here from G. A. Bradley.

The job of city councilman in a small city is a thankless one, but still there are always plenty of men who are willing to sacrifice their time trying to be elected for the position.

The trouble with some men in every town is that they are willing to let a few live men do all the boosting for the town, and then expect to reap the benefits of what accrue through the efforts of the boosters.

If a person wants to find a choice collection of dead beats in a community, let him get into the newspaper game for two or three years and send his paper to subscribers who "promise to pay"—he'll find the dead beats all right.

City election is not far off. It comes in December and at that time there are five councilmen to elect, the only councilman who holds over is R. C. Immele. Already candidates for new councilmen are being picked out for the coming race.

G. A. Bradley, the progressive farmer and stock raiser, is a valuable asset to any community, and the more men like him we can get in this part of Crook county the sooner the country will enjoy increased prosperity.

If you are looking for bargains just take a slant at the bargain The Spokesman is giving for the paper—14 months for one dollar, less than two cents a week. From November, 1913, to January, 1915. Can you afford to miss this opportunity?

Strangers in a town can tell the stores that advertise without looking at the columns of the local newspapers, for the advertising stores are always full of buyers, while the non-advertising stores are as empty most of the time as the inside of a bass drum.

Five councilmen, a $2,500 pump for the city water plant and an amendment to the city charter to create a public library at the expense of the city are to be voted on the first of December at the coming city election. That ought to be enough to keep the voters of Redmond busy for the day.

If a man in business in a town sends away to buy goods that could be bought in his own town he is not much of a help to his home town, and could not blame other people for sending away for goods of the same class he handles. It is a poor rule that doesn't work both ways.

The commission form of city government is becoming more and more popular in cities where it has been tried and is in force. By the commission form a lot of useless men in the council are done away with, and the responsibility of city government narrowed down to a few good men. The prediction is made that ere long all cities, large and small, will be working under the commission form.

ADDING MACHINE NOW WITHIN REACH OF ALL

They saw them do, with inexpert operators, the work of $150 machines. Then they ordered more. The fame of the machine spread from office to office.

Now the demand for this adder is overwhelming. It is nation-wide.

If you ever add figures you need it. Even for small usage you can afford it. If you are now using big, central machines, see what it means to have individual adders—portable adders—an adder for every desk.

The American Adder is an astounding success. It fills a wide-spread want.

The Redmond Spokesman has the agency for Crook county for these machines, and if you are interested call or write for more information. Read the advertisement of the machine on page three.

ALFALFA PEOPLE TO GIVE GOOD ENTERTAINMENT

There will be an entertainment in the Alfalfa school house on Saturday evening, November 15, for the benefit of the organ fund. The managers of this entertainment will do their utmost to make it one of the most pleasing of the season. One play especially will alone be well worth the price of admission. The title of this play is "Pride of the Prairie." This is a western drama and the setting of the play is in Central Oregon, and is interesting from start to finish, as it dwells on life on the range as it was in the early days. Everyone is cordially invited to come and see this entertainment. Don't forget the date—Saturday, November 15, 1913, at 8 p. m. Admission, adults 50c, children free.

THE JUNIPER READING CLUB HAS INTERESTING MEETING

On October 28 the Juniper Reading Club met at the home of Mrs. Reedy. The president called the meeting to order and roll call was answered by quotations from Bret Harte. After the business meeting Mrs. Osborne took charge of the afternoon program. She gave a very interesting talk on Alaska. She at one time resided in Alaska, so her descriptions of this far away land and its people were most vivid. Mrs. Anderson read an interesting article on the "Northern Lights as Seen in Alaska." Mrs. Wright read an amusing little sketch of an old Indian chief and his desire to dress and act like the white people. Mrs. Thompson read of the first religion and churches of Alaska. The hostess served a dainty luncheon and the meeting adjourned to meet November 12 with Mrs. Wilcox. Mrs. Rodman will have charge of the program.

"Papa, to which one of them shall I say yes?"

"Good heaven! Aren't you old enough to look a man up in Bradstreet's without bothering me about it?"
