The Spokesman wishes all its readers a Happy New Year.

Under the head of "They Want Irrigation," published last week, The Spokesman failed to "credit" the story to the Madras Pioneer through an oversight.

The new editor of the La Pine Inter Mountain is printing some interesting reading matter in his paper these days. He don't seem to care whom he hits or what locality he takes a whack at, and some of his dope is so truthful that readers of the paper in this section smile to notice how close he hits the bullseye.

The assessed valuation of Crook county for 1913 is $13,593,589.
This includes the assessment of railroads, telegraph and telephone lines, which are assessed at half their cash value. This assessment is much in advance of 1912, and shows that the assessor's office under Assessor Foster has been doing some good work.
The 1912 assessment for the county was $9,001,677.

Citizens of Redmond have shown appreciation of Gov. West's plan to have the federal government and the state take over the North Canal unit of the Central Oregon Irrigation Co's. segregation and complete it.
Numerous letters from here have been sent to the governor commending his action, and assuring him that the citizens here will work hand in hand with him to obtain the result he desires.

REDMOND WOMAN WAS ELECTED TO AN OFFICE

At the convention in Portland recently of Motion Pictur Men, Mrs. A.
B. Sparks, proprietor and manager of the Sparks Theater in this city, was elected sergeant at arms of the association for the ensuing year. At a banquet at the Oregon Hotel Mrs.
Sparks made an interesting speech.
One other woman in the state is in the moving picture business—Mrs.
A. C. Newill of Wheeler county.

MANY SAW THE LAWSON PRESENTS SATURDAY

The livestock and other presents that Thos. Lawson of Boston, shipped here by special freight to Henry McCall and his children, to be located on Mr. McCall's ranch on Crooked River, a few miles north of this city, arrived in Redmond Saturday and attracted quite a crowd at the stock yard where they were unloaded. The shipment was in charge of Mr. Robinson, foreman of Mr. Lawson's herds of thoroughbred cattle.

CHRISTMAS EXERCISES

Recitations by Forrest Ehlers, Wayne Lauderback and Bartlett Kendall.

lehem," by the school.

A most modern Santa Claus, who came by auto and used automobile trousers for a pack, arrived just in time to distribute the presents, and was uproariously welcomed. His departure marked the end of the program, which was concluded with benediction by Rev. Harvey.

SCHOOL NOTES

Several pupils were absent during the week on account of bad colds.
Attendance has been exceptionally good this year, and school interest better than for any previous year.

There have been some remarks about the bells being rung irregularly. We know that the school clock is to be depended upon and that for three months it has not varied two minutes. Excepting once or twice the bells have been with the clock. We have heard many say the bells are very regular. We believe you can safely depend upon the school bell. If the bell is not with the regulator, it is the regulator that is off. See?

There is some very fine paper cutting in room two. This is work that trains the hand as well as the head.
The new school texts are being received with much favor by both pupils and teachers. They lighten the work all around.

Wednesday evening, December 24, steps were taken to organize a school literary society.
The class in Agriculture is testing farm seeds now, and have found samples of high grade alfalfa containing Dodder seed, Buckhorn and Sorrel. It will pay any one who is interested in pure seed, to secure samples early and have them tested.
Prof. Thompson will be glad to test, free of charge, any seeds you may bring.

MAKE SUMMER HOME HERE

It is reported that Thos. Lawson, the Boston millionaire, intends to enlarge the McCall ranch, which is located a short ways from here on Crooked river, and make that his summer home. Also, it is said, he intends to ship out here a lot of fine thoroughbred cattle to put on the ranch.
