Redmond and Vicinity

B. H. McMickle left Monday night for Portland, where he will receive medical attention.

Mrs. Anderson and daughter Helena are here from Portland for a visit with her sister Mrs. Wright.

Hay has gone to $30 a ton with none to be had, and it looks as though hay would have to be shipped in from outside before long.

Here's one way in which bald-headed men who stay at home can help win the war: Stop buying patent medicine hair growers that won't work, never did work and never will work, and put the money instead in to War Savings stamps. If trying to grow hair on a bald head isn't a waste of time and energy—and money, what is?

The Redmond Warehouse company is shipping from one to two carloads of potatoes a day to the dehydrating plant at The Dalles, and will soon have the warehouse clear of last year's crop. They have a contract to ship from 60 to 100 tons of Nettle Gem seed to Yakima, if there are still that many in the country, but few first grade potatoes are still in the growers' hands.

Last Wednesday, County Agent Ward inaugurated his livestock class in the seventh and eighth grades at Bend, and it gives promise of being a great success. For his first subject, Mr. Ward took the types and breeds of beef cattle and draft horses. He had prepared a bunch of charts, showing the different animals, which are valuable in themselves. He will prepare a test and those pupils who pass it successfully will go to a Tumalo stock farm for the judging contest as guests of the Bend Commercial Club. Mr. Ward would no doubt be more than willing to do his part in such a class in the Redmond schools.

PREMIUM LIST FOR FAIR

County Agent Ward has been at work for a week on the premium list for the Deschutes county fair to be held at Redmond this fall.

The list covers a classification which is satisfactory though simple and comprehensive. It employs as few terms as will fully identify the exhibits and is uniform for the several departments of the fair.

It embraces a plan of consecutive numbering throughout the list, places a double check on each exhibit, thus avoiding confusion and covers the live stock department very thoroughly, there being a class for everything from a Percheron stallion to an Easter egg.

DESCHUTES VALLEY FAIR ASSOCIATION

The Deschutes Valley Fair association has been incorporated with a capital stock of $5,000, of which $2,500 has already been subscribed by the local business men.

If all the small, local fairs could be consolidated into one, not only could larger and better grounds and buildings be kept up, but the combined displays would be worth going far to see. With the improvement of our roads and increasing numbers of automobiles, distance is not the drawback of times now past.

RED CROSS SHEEP COMING

J. R. Roberts yesterday received a message that "Bill," the famous Red Cross $5,000 sheep, was coming from Bend this evening, consigned to our local Red Cross society. He will be placed on sale here and then will be forwarded along the line to raise further funds.

LONG HOLLOW RANCH SOLD

At a meeting of the wateruser's association under the Squaw Creek system at Cloverdale yesterday, an important deal was made with the owners of the Long Hollow ranch of 2,600 acres, by which the ranch will pass to the association and in turn is under contract of sale to other parties. The purchase price is $115,000.

This gives the new Squaw Creek organization full and complete control of the system and removes all danger of controversy. The new district will soon proceed with a bonding issue of $150,000, which will give it a good surplus for the improvement of the system.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE ORGANIZES WOMEN

On March 25th at Terrebonne; March 26 at Bend Grange hall; Mar. 27th at Tumalo; March 28th at Sisters and March 29th at Powell Butte station, Mrs. Jessie McComb of the Department of Agriculture and County Agent R. A. Ward will meet with the ladies of each community at 2:30 in the afternoon on dates mentioned to talk on food conservation, food substitutes and their use, and to organize the women for more efficient work along those lines. All ladies are earnestly urged to make an extra effort to attend these meetings.

NEXT HORSE INSPECTION

County Agricultural Agent R. A. Ward is arranging for the second series of war horse inspections which will be held in Crook and Deschutes counties early in April by the war department. The dates for inspections are Bend, Ore., April 3rd; Prineville, Oregon, April 5th; Redmond, Oregon, April 6th.

County Agricultural Council members have been notified and are now locating horses and urging owners to take them to inspection points. The call this time is for cavalry horses weighing between 1000 and 1200 pounds, and wheel mules weighing over 1200 pounds.

Mr. Ward reports that farmers were well pleased with the prices they received at the last inspections and will make every effort to furnish animals this time. Prices of $140.00 for cavalry horses and $215.00 for wheel mules were paid at the last inspection.

The next inspections will be made by Captain Frank von Stade of the Q. M. R. C.

School Notes

(by Raymond Mead)

Last Friday evening the parents of the High school were entertained by the students at the gym. Each class furnished its own part of the entertainment.

The Freshman class was first on the program in which they produced the Elixir of Life. Many an old maid was changed from a modern old gossip to a young school girl, a small boy or a fashionable young lady. The old maids were typical, characterizing their parts in actions as well as in dress.

The next was the Sophomore class, who produced a living illustration of the song, "My Wild Irish Rose." It took well with the audience.

The Junior class held a kangaroo court; "Spec" Young was tried in Judge Butler's court, charged with stealing the Seniors' goat. Steryl Spies acted as prosecuting attorney, while Arthur Tuck pleaded the case for Mr. Young. Margaret Rodeside, Thelma Gooding and Paul Van Allen were witnesses for the defendant, with Mildred Smith, Helen Dittmore and Mary Comic witnesses for the state. A jury of twelve members were picked from the crowd. After the testimonies had been given, a sheep decorated with a Senior pennant, was brought upon the stand, and the prosecuting attorney, either by his hypnotic power or his excessive mastery of English was able to convict Mr. Young and prove that sheep to be the Seniors' goat. Just which of these powers were used is a mystery but the jury, after sitting a few minutes, returned with a verdict of guilty. The judge very leniently gave Mr. Young his choice of thirty days in jail or thirty dollars. Mr. Young took the thirty dollars.

Last, but not least, was the Seniors part of the program. Promptly at 8:30, Miss Mabel Jarrett struck the opening chords of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus, and Lord Buckingham entered upon the arm of the best man, Robert Blair. They took their place before Frank Rice who acted as minister. Next came Miss Ruth Kaesemeyer who acted as flower girl, and scattered flower petals as she entered. She was followed by the bridesmaids, the Misses Lucile Parsons, Grace Riggs, Chrystal Sturdivan, Dolly McDowell and Lottie, who were dressed in white with green hats and carrying bouquets of juniper. Next came Miss Henrietta Marie Beauchamp, on the arm of her mother, Freda Buckley. The ceremony was performed and the program ended. A pleasant evening was spent playing games, and all retired at an early hour.

Wednesday afternoon the High school student body was entertained by a few patriotic speakers; M. A. Lynch talked on the Thrift stamps; Dr. J. F. Hosch talked on "Food Conservation"; and Rev. McVicker gave a general patriotic talk.

Thursday and Friday, March 21 and 22, the examinations for the third quarter will be held.

Last Tuesday evening an inter-class track and field meet was held. The result was a score of seven points for the Juniors; fifty-four points for the Sophomores and thirteen points for the Freshmen.

INCREASED WHEAT PRODUCTION

The Crop and Labor Survey of the farms in Crook and Deschutes counties just completed by County Agricultural Agent R. A. Ward, shows, among other interesting things, the Oregon farmers have responded to the nation's call for increased wheat production.

The 373 farms reporting acreage in wheat show that in 1917, these farms grew 4095 acres of wheat, while for the year 1918, they have planted or are planting 6984 acres. This shows an increase of 2689 acres or about 70 per cent.

The survey also shows the number of livestock on the farms this year as compared with last, and also the seed and labor required for the 1918 harvest. There is a great seed rye shortage, but lately the County Agent has located a few small quantities, which are rapidly being absorbed. Efforts to secure car lots of seed rye in Utah have been unsuccessful. The Crop Survey has already resulted in many local farmers being directed to supplies of farm seeds locally. As another result of the Survey, much livestock, principally cattle and hogs have changed hands.

Gus C. Moser of Portland, a candidate for governor, was interviewing our citizens on Thursday. Mr. Moser is president of the state senate and says he stands for economy, efficiency and vigorous law enforcement.

TITLE TO CEMETERY

A Commercial Club committee has at last secured title to the cemetery for this community. For years, the dead have lain in ground to which their relatives had no title, and this has been the cause of not a little anxiety to them.

The tract in which the cemetery is located was originally filed upon as a homestead by a Mrs. Joseph Jackson some twelve years ago, and afterward abandoned by her. Subsequently the land was relocated by Mr. Chas. Jarrett, and proved up on by him.

The committee has now purchased the tract from Mr. Jarrett and turned it over to a cemetery association, who are now prepared to give deeds to lots.

The board of directors are: E. W. Pratt, president, E. M. Eby, J. G. McGuffie and B. A. Kendall.

THRIFT STAMPS GOING OVER

The detachment of Redmond troops armed with Thrift stamps have bombarded unceasingly since the opening of the campaign three weeks ago. The sales manifest again the patriotic spirit of the community in which we live. During the first two weeks of the sales the returns totaled nearly $450.00.

In this matter much credit is due to the students of the public school, who have by themselves conducted a separate campaign. One suggestion that might be made to them, however, is that they secure their stamps from the selling stations, of which there are seven, so that the stations will receive the credit for the sales. Though the post office sells the stamps, it is not one of the selling stations and their sales are not classified with the returns from our stations.

Let us not lag in our enthusiasm. Let us renew our vigor each week and display as much "pep" in our portion of the fight here at home as we ask the "boys over there" to display.

As Empey quotes the command to the men in the front line trenches, "Over the Top, and Give 'em H—," so let that be our motto in the campaign for the sale of stamps.

The sales of the first two weeks following the organization in Redmond and up to March 9th, at the various selling stations, were as follows:
Redmond Bank of Commerce $275.19
Butler Drug Store..... 26.02
Mohler & Doty..... 85.89
Lynch & Roberts..... 34.15
B. A. Kendall..... 12.13
W. H. Hobbs..... 2.50

PLAN OF WORK OF PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Following is the basis of the Presbyterian work as planned by Rev. McVicker for Redmond and Terrebonne:

The morning services will be alternated. The fourth Sunday evening will be given to Terrebonne, and the other Sunday evenings at Redmond. Services at Plainview on the second Sunday at 3 p. m., and at Cloverdale on the fourth Sunday at 3 p. m.

This will be permanent unless in the future the work at Sisters demands a change, then it will only affect the evening service, and if that becomes necessary, due notice will be given. You will find the announcement of the services in this paper each week.

THE THREE SISTERS

(By Gladys E. Parberry, Age 15)

Snow covered from base to peak
Majestic and grand they stand;
As tho' placed by an unseen Power
To keep silent watch o'er the land.

Broad is the valley beneath them
As tho' modeled from sculptor's clay;
Rivers planted by nature
Like silver threads, wind their way.

At evening red clouds cover the heavens,
Roll along as Apollo's chariot of gold;
Stop to rest one moment on their splendid crests,
Then hurry on lest the fiery path grow cold.

Words fail to describe them!
They are beautiful beyond words of youth,
In their celestial garments of white,
They stand for pureness and truth.
