

NEWS BRIEFING

Bend-Redmond Habitat for Humanity seeks applications

Bend-Redmond Habitat for Humanity will be accepting applications for the Quince Townhomes in Redmond January 15-Feb 1. The Habitat homes for sale in this 10-unit land-lease development are 3-bedroom, 2-bath homes including a garage. People interested in applying for these homes must meet income and credit score guidelines for home loan approval. Applications are available at the Bend ReStore cashier counter Monday – Saturday from 1-6 p.m. or online at bendredmondhabitat.org/habitat-homeownership.

Redmond man arrested following weekend pursuit

Glen James Carroll, 47, of Redmond, was arrested on multiple charges following a pursuit by Deschutes County Sheriff's Office deputies Saturday morning, according to a press release from the sheriff's office.

Deputies attempted to stop a vehicle, a 2001 Volvo, at about 8:53 a.m. in the area of NW Sixth Street and NW Quince Avenue for violations including speeding, failure to use turn signal and expired registration. The vehicle continued westbound on NW Quince Avenue and made its way back to Highway 97 from NW Pershall Way and started to drive southbound through Redmond on Highway 97. Redmond Police officers deployed spike strips in the area of Highway 97 and SW Evergreen Avenue and the vehicle drove over the spikes with the rear passenger side tire and continued southbound.

After leaving city limits, at a speed of approximately 100 mph, the tire deflated and came off the car. The driver continued east of Highway 97 on Tomahawk Avenue, taking a BLM road, crossed the railroad tracks and started driving northeast through BLM land. Eventually Carroll exited the vehicle and a deputy was able to take him into custody after a short foot pursuit.

When arrested, Carroll was allegedly in possession of about one ounce of suspected methamphetamine and was charged with felony attempt to elude, misdemeanor attempt to elude, lawful possession of methamphetamine, reckless driving and driving while suspended. Carroll was cited and released at the scene for the above mentioned charges.

Housing Works is accepting applications for HCV waiting list

Housing Works is accepting applications for the Housing Choice Voucher program (formerly known as the Section 8 program) waiting list through 5 p.m. Jan. 15.

The program is open to low-income qualified residents of Deschutes, Jefferson and Crook county. Applicants must reapply each year for the waiting list. Applications will be randomized by a computer to give all applicants an equal chance, according to a Housing Works press release. All applications must be submitted online at oregonhousingworks.org.

The public offices of Housing Works are closed due to covid-19 restrictions, but technical assistance is available by phone or email from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. during the application week. For more information or to apply, visit oregonhousingworks.org or contact 541-923-1018.

Redmond Spirit Foundation taking grant applications

Redmond's Spirit Foundation is accepting applications of donation requests up to $10,000 from 501©3 organizations working with children, handicapped, elderly, or disadvantagged individuals in Redmond. The deadline to apply is Jan. 15. To request an application, email Redmond-Spirit@gmail.com.

Dean's list

Elizabeth McCook, of Redmond, has been named to the fall 2020 dean's list at the University of Evansville in Evansville, Ind., an accomplishment that requires a 3.5 gpa or better and at least 12 credit hours. McCook is majoring in literature.

Elsewhere: Procedural errors will delay pot tax in Grant County

Grant County will have to wait before collecting marijuana tax revenue.

Although county voters approved a 3% tax on marijuana products in the November election, Grant County officials did not consider an ordinance to officially adopt the tax until Dec. 30 and neglected to read the ordinance as required by law.

According to Oregon law for adopting an ordinance, "every ordinance of a county governing body shall, before being put upon its final adoption, be read fully and distinctly in open meeting of that body on two days at least 13 days apart." The ordinance can be read by title only if no member of the governing body requests a complete reading of the proposed ordinance.

County officials did not read the ordinance in full or by title Dec. 30, so the county must complete the first reading, wait at least 13 days and then complete the second reading for the ordinance to be properly adopted. At that point, the ordinance would take effect in 90 days because tax-related ordinances cannot be passed as emergencies in a single meeting, according to Oregon law.

Although the county court unanimously passed a motion to approve

PET OF THE WEEK

Meet Lumpy, a special senior cat looking for a loving home. Lumpy is gentle, laid back, and very affectionate. Even at 15 years old, he is still enjoying a happy and quality life. He does have a mass in his abdomen and it is unclear when he may display clinical signs from the tumor. Because of this, his adoption fee is waived for the right home. Lumpy is looking for somebody willing to love him and give him a soft place to land. For more info, call BrightSide Animal Center at 541-923-0882.

the ordinance, the text of the ordinance that was not read aloud includes blank spaces that were supposed to be filled in with the dates two public hearings and the dates of the first and second readings. The commissioners did not sign the ordinance.

County Judge Scott Myers said the county is getting guidance from legal counsel.

This is the second time the county has had trouble with a pot tax ordinance. After passing an emergency ordinance in 2018 to tax pot sales, Grant County officials rescinded the ordinance and returned $5,000 to the county's sole marijuana retailer, because state law prohibits passing tax-related ordinances as emergencies and requires a pot tax to go to the voters during a statewide general election.

In a 2019 press release, District Attorney Jim Carpenter said that "scrutiny by the Blue Mountain Eagle brought the issue to light, causing a reconsideration of the legality of the ordinance."

Haley Olson of Rocky Mountain Dispensary said she estimates revenue for the county during the first quarter of this year would have been around $10,000 to $25,000.
