

Vaccines open to all Oregonians 16 and older starting April 19

BY GARY A. WARNER

Oregon Capital Bureau
All Oregonians age 16 and older will be eligible for the COVID-19 vaccine on April 19, a week earlier than the previous earliest date, Gov. Kate Brown said Tuesday.

"We are locked in a race between vaccine distribution and the rapid spread of COVID-19 variants," Brown said.

The new April 19 target date is a new national directive announced early Tuesday at the White House by President Joe Biden.

Oregon originally did not plan on opening vaccine eligibility to everyone 16 and over until July 1.

Biden directed all states to lift any limits beyond the minimum age by May 1. After first saying the state would stick with its phased eligibility timetables, Brown soon announced the May 1 dates for open eligibility.

Brown had announced that counties that were ready to expand vaccinations could apply to move the date to April 26.

Now, April 19 marks the start of open eligibility.

The push to open up eligibility comes as Brown has announced a "fourth wave" of COVID-19 infections was hitting the nation and state, ending a long downward trend since Jan. 1.

The state has been reporting over 400 cases per day and rising hospitalizations. An Oregon Health & Science University forecast released last week estimated the spike will lead to an average of 1,000 cases per day by next month.

Oregon is one of only two states that the new Biden initiative means a significant change in their vaccination timeline. All but 14 states had opened or planned to open eligibility to all 16 and over by April 9, according to the group COVID Act Now. Oregon and Hawaii are the only states that were sticking with Biden's originally mandated May 1 deadline.

Kerry Gillette, a physician assistant with Mosaic Medical, fills syringes with the Moderna vaccine during a COVID-19 vaccination clinic at Bethlehem Inn in Bend in February.

Brown said Oregon will continue to use its current eligibility system until then. People with underlying medical conditions, essential workers and other groups are currently on the list. Anyone age 65 and older remains eligible.

The remaining time on the limited eligibility phases will allow for people with medical conditions, frontline workers, and minority communities that have been underserved during the pandemic will have a chance to get a jump on appointments earlier than the remainder of the general public.

"My office will work closely with the White House to ensure Oregon receives our fair share of federal vaccine supplies, so we can continue with a fast, fair, and equitable vaccine distribution process."

The White House announced that 150 million shots have been administered since Biden took office on Jan. 20. He had promised to get 100 million shots into American's arms by his 100th day in office, April 30.
