100 YEARS AGO

July 14, 1922 — Road wage scale here is highest in state

Because it is impossible to employ men for Central Oregon Highway construction at less than $4 a day, a scale is being paid here by contractors in excess of that prevalent in most parts of the state.

J.K. Shotwell, contractor now installing a rock crusher at Cline Falls, is also paying $4 a day as a minimum wage.

A wage slightly lower is being paid for hay hands, but a shortage is reported. A party of 16 men arrived Tuesday from Portland to make harvest jobs on alfalfa farms where the scale is $2 a day plus board.

75 YEARS AGO

July 17, 1947 — Creamery begins cheesemaking
Manufacture of cheddar

By next week, the cheese factory will be on a daily schedule, says D.B. McKenzie, creamery manager. The cheese must be aged approximately 60 days before being sold.

cheese has started at Central Oregon Cooperative creamery, the first batch having been made Saturday and the second Tuesday.

By next week, the cheese factory will be on a daily schedule, says D.B. McKenzie, creamery manager. The cheese must be aged approximately 60 days before being sold.

Wesley Hammack, who worked for four years at the Arago cheese plant in Coos County, is in charge of the creamery's factory here.

50 YEARS AGO

July 19, 1972 — Vandals strike local schools

The Redmond school district suffered over $200 worth of damage to sprinkler hoses and irrigation pipe by vandals over the July 1 weekend, reports superintendent Paul Eggleston.

Also damaged was the Redmond Youth Recreation Council concession stand. Although a dollar figure has not been determined, the door of the concession stand was forced open after entry was unsuccessfully tried by ripping a piece of plywood loose on the front of the building.

At M.A. Lynch school, three 69-foot hoses were stolen and four main-line (four inch) aluminum irrigation pipes and one three-inch pipe were run over. All pipes were badly bent and one was actually folded double, Eggleston said. Six more 60-foot hoses were stolen, three from Edwin Brown and three from Tumalo. Also at Tumalo, one 60-foot hose was badly cut.

All incidents were reported to the Redmond police and the Deschutes County Sheriff's office.

25 YEARS AGO

July 16, 1997 — Governor praises Westlund's work in legislature

Gov. John Kitzhaber has praised Rep. Ben Westlund, R-Tumalo, for the freshman legislator's work in the recently adjourned legislative session.

Kitzhaber said that Westlund, if re-elected, is a likely candidate for co-chairman of the budget-writing Ways and Means Committee in the 1999 session.

"I think they're clearly getting Ben ready to maybe play a larger role in the budget process," Kitzhaber said.

The governor, asked who he thought were the champions of the session, named just three legislators — including Westlund.

"He's a responsible moderate member of the legislature, and I enjoyed working with him," Kitzhaber said.

Westlund is optimistic about the powerful assignment: "I was in a position (this session) to make a difference, and that's unusual for a freshman," he said.

Four candidates for Redmond mayor; six currently seeking council seats

BY TIM TRAINOR

Redmond Spokesman

The number of likely Redmond mayoral candidates remains at four, but a number of people have thrown their hat into the ring to claim three open seats on city council.

As of press time Charles Baer, current city councilors Ed Fitch and Jay Patrick, as well as Ben Schimmoller, have declared their candidacy for mayor of Redmond.

Fitch, Patrick and Schimmoller must still collect the signatures of 127 registered voters in the city of Redmond in order to officially qualify for the ballot.

Candidate election packets are available online and at the Redmond city recorder's office. Deadline for filing required forms is August 31.

The candidates for the November city council has grown.

There is now a six-way race for three at large council seats — and that number could still climb before the filing deadline.

Current prospective candidates include John Nielson, Kathryn Osborne, current city councilor Cat Zwicker, Bill Trumble, Jeannie Gote-LaShonse and Branegan

Dixon.

Candidate election packets are available online and at the Redmond city recorder's office. Deadline for filing required forms is August 31.

All prospective candidates must be 18 years old, must be registered electors and must be a resident of Redmond for at least one year prior to the date of the election.
