Aug. 17, 1917 — 'Local happenings'

The Redmond garage sold a Ford touring car this week that carried off perhaps the largest cargo of extras that has been sold in these parts. When fully equipped and driven out of the garage it contained $300 worth of extras, which is some load of itself.

Mrs. H. F. Tinsley, who has been ill since July first, is reported very poorly at this time. She is very anxious to have her friends call upon her to relieve the weary hours of suffering.

Aug. 21, 1947 — Water discovered at 42 feet in well north of Redmond

A well pushing clear, cold water to within 25 feet of the surface was discovered accidentally last week at the Earl Dexter home located outside of Redmond city limits just north of Tite Knot Pine mill.

A hole started as a dry well for sewage disposal had been drilled to a depth of 42 feet. The drill first cut through a layer of rock, then hit a layer of black sand, which contains the water. Dexter intends to have the water tested for purity.

Earlier this spring a well was discovered by H. H. Hughitt about a mile northwest of the Dexter well. Hughitt's well is an open pit, and water was reached only 6 feet from the surface. It is still producing freely, and has been supplying water for the house and for the yard irrigation all summer. Tests have shown that this water is pure.

Aug. 23, 1972 — Circus coming to town

The circus is coming to Redmond — a five-ring spectacular featuring everything from wild animals led by 21 elephants to trapeze artists and clowns.

It will be the first time since the late 1940s that a full-fledged circus has come to Central Oregon. And it will be at the Deschutes County Fairgrounds on Friday, Sept. 15, for two performances, at 5 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Proceeds from the Carson and Barnes Circus will go to the Deschutes County Sheriff Search and Rescue. Sheriff E.C. "Poe" Sholes said the funds would be used to purchase needed radio equipment for the search group. Last year the sheriff's department had sponsored shows at Redmond and Bend high schools to earn money for the search and rescue unit.

An advanced ticket salesman for Carson and Barnes will be in Redmond this week and next week to contact merchants for ticket sales. Later ticket booths will be opened in downtown Redmond.

Aug. 20, 1997 — New charges expected against ex-officer

A former Redmond police officer may yet see a day in court on sex abuse charges.

Nearly three months after a charge of official misconduct against Richard Allen "Dick" Little was dismissed, new charges are expected to be filed by the end of the week.

According to Lane County District Attorney Doug Harclerod, whose office is handling the prosecution, paperwork on new charges should reach Deschutes County before the end of the week. He would not comment on precise charges.

Little, 54, resigned from the Redmond Police Department May 2 after an internal investigation into allegations that he made inappropriate sexual overtures to a civilian woman while on duty.

Little has been on paid administrative leave since mid January, when the department received the complaint. Oregon State police conducted the criminal investigation.

Little was indicted on misconduct charges in mid-May and, after plea negotiations, was to have entered a plea and received his sentence May 27.

However, the morning outside the courtroom, Little and his attorney, Ron Brown of Bend, told prosecutor Caren Tracy that the defense found a last-minute witness and wasn't prepared to follow through with the negotiated plea.

The charges were dropped "with prejudice" and a grand jury reconvened to consider new sex abuse charges. However, when little appeared for a scheduled arraignment on new charges, the paperwork had not arrived.

"The case has taken longer than it should have," Harclerod said. "The distance between Eugene and Bend has been a problem."

Little joined the Redmond Police Department in 1974 after serving as a reserve officer for a couple of years. He took early retirement after nearly 23 years on the force.
