Enrollment climbing at Redmond schools in 1947

Nov. 30, 1922 — The Oregon City-Redmond game is won by visitors

Scoring early in the third quarter in an evenly matched and hard fought game Oregon City High School administered Redmond's first defeat in two years in the Thanksgiving Day game on the local field. The score was 7 to 0. The fray was witnessed by more than 1,000 people.

Redmond made 284 yards from scrimmage as compared with Oregon City's 105, but the visitors put over a successful pass at the crucial moment and won the victory.

Dec. 4, 1947 — Enrollment still climbing at both Redmond schools

Enrollments in Redmond's public schools are still climbing, with more students crowding the classrooms at both the grade and union high schools than at any previous time.

At the grade school, the enrollment has jumped to 690 pupils, an increase of 64 over the opening day's turnout, it was reported by Principal Hugh Hartman. And at the high school, enrollment has bounced to 383 students, which also represents a new high level.

These increases were expected by school officials when classes took up in the fall with record numbers of students at both institutions. Although both schools are extremely crowded, space requirements are being met by judicious use of facilities available, including annexes, and by running some of the grade classes in the morning and afternoon shifts, it was pointed out.

This 1997 design for the new Deschutes County Fairgrounds in Redmond calls for a distinct main gate.

Space problems at the grade school will be alleviated later by the new class building, which is now under construction on north Tenth Street.

Zoning of the greater Redmond area will be tackled Thursday evening, Dec. 7, by the Deschutes County Planning Department, with input from citizen advisors.

County planning officials will meet at 7:30 p.m. in council chambers Redmond City Hall with members of the Redmond Comprehensive Plan Citizens Advisory Committee (members of the county-wide advisory committee were appointed several years ago to develop the Deschutes County Comprehensive Plan) and individuals who earlier this fall responded to a call for volunteers to participate in the zoning of the Redmond urban area.

County planner Lorin Morgan said his department would present recommendations for the Redmond area zoning Thursday evening, based on both the city's and county's comprehensive plans. Morgan also will be seeking feed-in from the citizen advisors present.

Dec. 3, 1997 — Report issued on city effectiveness

In a rapidly growing community such as Redmond, the city government can't afford to waste time or money.

It must budget scarce resources prudently, invest in employee training at all levels, and measure performance to ensure department heads succeed.

Those are among hundreds of observations Interim City Manager Vergie Ries has made in a six-month review of city operations.

Ries, hired to fill in for City Manager Joe Hannan during his Army Reserves Service in Bosnia, will present her page "report card" to the city council at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at city hall.

Ries stressed that her report, which the city council asked her to prepare, is not intended for debate but as "food for thought." A public administration consultant, Ries is the former administrator of Vernonia and worked as a Beaverton policy manager for 10 years.

Drawing from her previous work experience and making new comparisons with other cities of populations around 12,000, Ries reviewed the effectiveness of city departments, policies and the city council. She plans to finish analysis of the city budget and processes in January.
