

Libby's Food Products

Libby's Veal Loaf

is made of the best selected meat, scientifically prepared and evenly baked by damp heat in Libby's Great White Kitchen. The natural flavor is all retained. When removed from the tin it's ready to serve.

It can be quickly prepared in a variety of styles and nothing makes a better summer meal.

In the home, at the camp, and for the picnic Libby's Veal Loaf is a satisfying dish, full of food value that brings contentment.

Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago.

A well-known bishop relates that he was in a small country town where, owing to the scarcity of good servants, most of the ladies preferred to do their own work, says a London paper.

He was awakened quite early by the tones of a soprano voice singing "Nearer, My God, to Thee!" As the bishop lay in bed he meditated upon the piety which his hostess must possess which enabled her to go about her task early in the morning singing such a noble hymn.

At breakfast he spoke to her about it, and told her how pleased he was.

"Oh, law," she replied, "that's the hymn I bawl the eggs by—three verses for soft and five for hard."

"Oh!" exclaimed Miss Gusch at the art exhibition. "Here's a clever thing in oil—'When the Cat's Away.' It isn't signed; I wonder who painted it—"

"Evidently a woman," replied Mr. Shoude. "Look at the mice; see what a ferocious expression she has given them."—Philadelphia Press.

Seized Her Opportunity.
He was not a very rapid wooer, and she was getting a bit anxious. Again he called, and they sat together in the parlor, "just those two." A loud rap came at the front door. "Oh, bother!" she said. "Who can be calling?"

"Say you're out," said the deceiver. "Oh, no; that would be untrue," murmured the ingenuous one.

"Then say you're engaged," he urged. "Oh, may I, Charlie?" she cried, as she threw herself in his arms.

And the man kept on knocking at the front door.—Illustrated Bits.

Within Her Rights.
"Madam, what is your age?" asked the lawyer.
"I decline to answer," responded the witness.
"On what ground?"
"On the ground that it would convict me of lying. I've always answered that question when not under oath."—Washington Herald.

One of the Essentials of the happy homes of to-day is a vast fund of information as to the best methods of promoting health and happiness and right living and knowledge of the world's best products.

Products of actual excellence and reasonable claims truthfully presented and which have attained to worldwide acceptance through the approval of the Well-Informed of the World; not of individuals only, but of the many who have the happy faculty of selecting and obtaining the best of the world affords.

One of the products of that class, of known component parts, an Ethical remedy, approved by physicians and commended by the Well-Informed of the World as a valuable and wholesome family laxative is the well-known Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna. Mrs. Stubb—Yes, I want to see the change in the style of hat the heroine wears.

GRANGE DECLARES ITSELF.

Outlines Plan of Action on Irrigation Question.
Resolutions unanimously adopted by the Oregon State Grange at Eugene, May 14, 1908, upon the following motion:

Moved that the resolutions be adopted as read and referred to the committee on legislation, with power to prepare a bill as outlined therein, submitting the same to the next session of the legislature for adoption, and further, that the chairman of the legislative committee be authorized to invite such state or national experts on water legislation who can be secured to assist the committee in preparing such bill, also one representative from any state organization which may hereafter adopt substantially similar resolutions.

Resolutions.
Whereas, Titles to water are of equal importance with titles to land, and it appears that a water right should be as easily ascertained, as clearly defined, as secure and in all respects as definite as a perfect title to land; and, Whereas, It is apparent that without a definite system of water right titles and adequate protection by the state, our water users are burdened with costly, and apparently unending litigation; our present constructed works are depreciated in value; the United States hesitates to construct irrigation systems; private capital declines to invest; home-seekers go to other states and countries, where the purchase of an irrigated farm does not mean the purchase of a lawsuit, and thus our development is seriously retarded; and,

Whereas, Our present water laws cannot be found by a study of the statutes alone, but must be sought for in a long series of decisions by our supreme court, and apparently are so conflicting that our ablest lawyers differ in opinion on the most fundamental points. This law is incomplete and inadequate, and has been, and is, in a state of flux. Disputes are decided by the logic of judges, rather than by statutes of the legislature. Few know what the law is today, none know what it may be tomorrow; now, therefore, be it Resolved, That it is the sense of the Oregon State Grange that it is the duty of the state of Oregon, at the earliest possible time, to codify and enact a complete, concise, and definite water law, leaving to the courts only the mere interpretation of this law on such occasion as it might be brought into dispute; and be it further

- Resolved, That such water law should be based upon the best experience of other states and countries, such as Wyoming, Idaho and Canada, and should include the following fundamental principles:
1. That no water right should become vested except by direct grant from the state.
 2. To provide a system whereby the priority and limitations of every existing right to the use of water can eventually be ascertained.
 3. To provide a reliable record in some central office of all water rights as determined, and of new rights as initiated.
 4. That actual measurements of ditches and streams be made as a basis for the adjudication of existing rights and the initiation of new rights to the surplus water, if any.
 5. To provide a definite procedure whereby rights to such surplus water may be acquired.
 6. That beneficial use should be the basis of all rights to the use of water, and that water for irrigation purposes should be made appurtenant to the land irrigated.
 7. All rights to the use of water for power development should be limited to a period of twenty-five years, subject to renewal under certain restrictions.
 8. To provide an efficient administrative system, with proper officers, for the distribution of the water supply among those entitled to its use.

QUERIES BY FARMERS.

Experiment Station Called Upon for Advice on Various Subjects.
From the Washington State College, Pullman.

A correspondent at Cheney writes the following letter to the station: "I am interested in the subject of bacteria as an agricultural agency, and would like to know if anything is being done by the government along the lines of bacteria research. Is the use of bacteria cultures likely to prove an important factor in the agriculture of the Inland Empire? To what extent are fertilizers used in the Northwest, and with what efficiency? Please give me some information concerning the new theory of 'soil poisoning by successive crops.'"

Following is the reply given to this letter:

"At this station we have tested several different cultures, some of which were successful, while others failed. We have found that in the laboratory and greenhouses, where conditions could be controlled fairly well, the cultures possessed values. We are not sure that their use will become general, for most of the commercial product does not show up very uniformly. We have depended more largely on the use of inoculated soil from old alfalfa fields, in getting a stand of alfalfa, than on the bacteria. "Fertilizers have not been very thoroughly tested in eastern Washington, but we are learning that many of our soils may be vastly improved by certain treatments. The indications are that fertilizers will be used in the near future, more as a corrective agency, than to increase fertility. The theory of 'soil poisoning' is based on the fact that where a soil is overcharged with some element, the excess of this element becomes injurious to vegetation. It is necessary to counteract this by the use of some chemical fertilizer."

Bolted Down.
"Tired of hearing my 'sugary words,' are you, Pulsatilla Corkins?" howled the indignant Orlando. "Perhaps you will be kind enough to tell me, Miss Corkins, what a sugary word is! What is it made of?"

"It is made, Mr. Spoonamore," answered the fair Pulsatilla, "of verbum sap."

Without another word of any description Orlando Spoonamore grabbed his hat and groped his way out into the darksome night. The blow had crushed him.—Chicago Tribune.

Sufficient Recommendation.
Speedham—Yes, I want a chauffeur, but I want a man who is experienced.
Applicant—I don't know anything about an automobile, sir, but I used to be a motorman on a trolley car.
Speedham—Why did you quit the job?
Applicant—I didn't quit, sir; I was discharged for recklessness.
Speedham—Good! Consider yourself engaged.

An Aerial Sailor.
"So you were a sailor, my poor man?" said the good housewife. "Well, I wish you would go down in the cellar and bail out the two feet of water that has accumulated down there."
"Ugh!" grunted Dusty Dennis, with a shudder. "I dare not go near water, lady."
"What? A sailor afraid of water?"
"Yes, mum. Yer see, I was a sailor on an airship."

Relative Submergence.
"My poor man, you look as if you might have seen better days."
"You are right, ma'am. I have."
"And now, I presume, you are among what we call the submerged tenth."
"Worse than that, ma'am. I am an infinitesimal fraction of the submerged thousandth of the submerged tenth. My present occupation is stoking on an ocean steamer."

Why She Hesitated.
"I admit that I love you, Clarence," said the young heiress, "but I'll have to speak to mamma."
"Eh?" said Clarence. "You mean I'll have to speak to her."
"No, I will. She'll come home from Europe tomorrow, where she's been for the last three months, and she may have engaged me to some nobleman while she was there."—Independent.

Classifying Him.
The pimply faced youth had thrown a pop bottle at the umpire.
A policeman grabbed him by the collar, jerked him to his feet, and removed his hat.
Then he took a tape line from his pocket and measured the fellow's head.
"Size 6," he said. "That lets you off this time, young man. But don't do it again, or back you go to th' 'sylum for the feeble minded."
No more pop bottles were thrown from that particular section of the bleachers during that particular game.—Chicago Tribune.

The Quintessence of It.
"The gall of that fellow Stryker!"
"What's he done now?"
"Why, you know, he's a chronic borrower, and when I told him I'd have to stop loaning him money now that I had a wife, he went for me hammer and tongs for getting married at his expense."—Boston Transcript.

My Hair Ran Away

Logical Supposition.
Little Lloyd—Papa, was George Washington married to England?
Papa—Of course not, my son. Why do you ask such a silly question?

S.S.S. CURES SKIN DISEASES

When the blood is pure and healthy, the skin will be soft, smooth, and free from all blemishes and eruptions; but when some acid humor takes root in the circulation, its presence is quickly manifested by some form of skin disease. The skin receives its necessary nourishment and strength from the blood. When, however, this vital fluid becomes a humor-laden stream, it can no longer preserve the healthy, natural appearance of the skin, but by its acid, impure nature continually irritates and inflames the delicate tissues and fibres and keeps the cuticle in a diseased and disfigured condition. External applications cannot reach the blood, and therefore are beneficial only for their ability to reduce inflammation, and assist in keeping the parts clean. To cure any skin trouble the blood must be purified of the humors that are causing the trouble. S. S. S. drives out the humors from the blood so that the skin, instead of being irritated and diseased, is nourished by a healthy, cooling stream. S. S. S. goes down into the circulation and removes every particle of impure matter, all acids and humors, and restores the blood to its normal, pure condition, thereby curing every form of skin disease or affection. Book on skin diseases and any medical advice free to all who write.
