LARGE SALMON CATCH

Portland, Or., Sept. 15 .- The vigcrous interstate war which is now raging along the Columbia assumed spectacular proportions this morning when Master Fish Warden Harry C. pot. McAllister, in connection with his arrest of F A. and T. J. Seufert at The Dalles last night, confiscated about two tons of salmon, which the fishermen had caught on the Washington side. These were the fish which McAllister disposed of, and the proceeds, about $120, less freight and costs, went to swell the state hatchery fund.

F. A. Seufert, one of the two salmon kings of the upper river, says the act of confiscation was grand larceny, and he declares he will have the Master Fish Warden arrested on that charge Mr. McAllister, however, took the precaution to secure legal advice on the point, so that the fishermen who have been violatesting chess game now being played.
