The STAYTON MAIL

Published every Thursday by

E. M. Olmsted and W. C. Parry

Entered as second class matter at the postoffice at Stayton, Marion county, Oregon, under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879. All communications should be addressed to THE STAYTON MAIL.

SUBSCRIPTIONS, $1.50 per year in advance
Advertising Rates on application
CARDS OF THANKS—$.50 OBITUARIES—$1.00 up.

Positively all papers stopped on expiration of subscription.

The Democrats will never know peace until they have operated on the tariff.

Yet the Panama canal may change the climate. It has already caused a sort of chilliness between America and England.

Just as peace is about to be decided in the Balkans, Greece files a petition for an unknown island, and all the work has to be done over again.

A professor says there are 10,000,000 tunes in the world. It seems strange that only three or four of them have ever gotten into musical comedy.

Dr. Cook, of Pole discovery fame, says his object in going into vaudeville is to get into close contact with the people: also, no doubt, the people's dimes and dollars.

Inasmuch as the Democratic national platform failed to fix the waist line for women, the waist line will probably continue to fluctuate as usual during the coming four years.

Since prison yawns for physicians and surgeons in Colorado, who take out perfectly healthy appendixes, while looking at the pocketbook of the patient, the fashion will decline. But the man who really has appendicitis should worry and call the doctor nevertheless.

A Forest Grove man has discontinued his home paper for a short time in order to break his neighbor of borrowing it and in an effort to get him to subscribe. This is a new wrinkle, but if the neighbor could take a hint it should prove effective.

Mr. Lounsbury, who deserted the orchard and the spraying pump for a pistol and a mask, and harvested the main sacks instead of apples, has the delightful prospect of another prison term when he completes the one he's working on, says the Medford Sun. Which is very true. But poor man, if he had an orchard around Medford, he probably had to do some work on the side to keep his orchard going.

Squawks

Hezekiah Alfaifa Butterworth came to town this week. The event was not so notable except that Hez came for the express purpose of getting a haircut and a shave. As his hirsute appendage had not been pruned for over ten years there was something doing in the tonsorial parlor. When the barber got through with him he looked like an old he-goat in the merry month of May. The lively stable men would not let Hez have his horse till he produced an identification card and a flour sack full of amputated whiskers.

Skit Peeper traded one of his hound dogs for a phonograph last week. Mrs. Peeper says she wishes he would trade back.

Mrs. Beryl Kornbubble cleaned out her husband's calabash pipe the other day. She was much surprised at the contents, which consisted of a 5 cent cut of Standard Navy, two large chews of Spearmint and a large irregular hunk of vascular substance that looked like it might be the major portion of Kornbubble's left lung.

Colonel J. Filibuster Flounce, the oratorical wind jammer and promoter was in town last week and handed out his usual line of "bull." As he did not pay the office of the Squawker a visit we cannot tell just at what moment he will come back, but that he will come at some time is certain. He intends to put Squabtown on the map or bust a suspender. The Colonel always has a long-necked bottle and a box of Washington Cabinet cigars handy. Watch for him.

Squabtown Squawker.

Tangent citizens are making an effort to secure incorporation papers from the Legislature.
