SUPERVISOR WRITES

Miss Cornelius, school supervisor, has written The Mail as follows concerning the local school:

"I am well pleased with the co-operation of pupils and teachers in keeping the yard free from paper and rubbish, thus listing it among the yards well kept.

"According to the records, there is no better made well in this county, than the one made by and under the direction of the Stayton School Board.

"The little ones are forming correct habits of behavior, which not only count now but in the school days to come. Mrs. Pratt, the Primary teacher is the originator of a device in phonics. She has named it her 'Indian Phonics.' This device is helpful in teaching the combined vowel sounds and the final e.

"Miss Crabtree, Mr Nance and Miss Mack report the names of several pupils who won 100 in the last county spelling contest. Miss Hollister has awakened an interest in Reading.

"I saw some neat books made by the 8th grade, carrying out the plan in a creditable manner."
