DANCE A SUCCESS

The Band Benefit Dance was a success last Friday night although it was not patronized by as many Stayton people as should have been interested in the success of the band. The out-of-town people were very much in evidence.

TENT MEETING A SUCCESS

The tent meeting being held near the Masonic Hall is attracting quite large crowds. Rev. James Crooks, who is in charge is a forceful speaker. The singing is all that could be desired and is conducted from a special book brought by the evangelist.

HORSESHOE CLUB FORMED

Now that the billiard halls have been closed on Sunday, the men are talking of forming a "horseshoe club." Seems like they just must do something. Most of us are too lazy to hoe the garden and don't care to attend church, so there you are. Let Er buck!

NOTICE

Rev. Rossell will be at home and will conduct services in the Christian church Sunday morning.

Twenty Stayton couples attended the dance at Sublimity last night which was held in the C. O. F. Hall.

Borrowers—Will the persons who borrowed our wheelbarrow, our icetongs and our scythe return the same at once as we wish to use them part of the time. Sestak & Thomas.

Beautiful Memorial Day Custom.

The most beautiful thought that has been born of the Memorial day celebration is that of sending a flower laden boat to sea, in tow of a steamer, that it may be cast off and consecrated to the sailors who have given their lives for their country.

The Greeks had a ceremony almost similar, but it was broken up by one of the heroes when he rescued Andromeda. It involved the sacrifice of a beautiful woman every year, and the fighting men of the time wouldn't stand for that.

Drove Sharpshooters Out of a Barn.

Numerous crack shots of the Confederate army had lodged in a barn between the lines of the two armies on the forenoon of the third day at Gettysburg. Their marksmanship was very annoying to the Federals, and the Fourteenth Connecticut Infantry was dispatched on the successful mission of driving them out. Not only did they accomplish that gallantly, but in the afternoon of the same day they added in repulsing the charge of Pickett's men and captured five stands of colors.

Arlington Cemetery.

That silent spot, alas, may weep Beyond Potomac's wave,
For there a nation's heroes sleep,
The loyal and the brave—

There, undisturbed, in calm repose,
Their pains and passions done,
Their battles fought, their triumphs closed,
Their final victory won,

No clouds of smoke to dim the eye,
No roar of shot or shell,
No onward march, no battlecry,
On plains where thousands fell,

No warlike blast or roll of drum,
No lonely watch to tread,
Ah, generations yet to come
Shall praise the fallen dead!

Year after year, how grand the scene,
By loyal hands that's true
The graves are strewn with garlands green
Of those who wore the blue.

The thunderstorms of heaven may rave,
But under God's control,
Serene and calm still rest the brave
While endless ages roll.

Sleep on, then, fallen comrades, sleep!
Your dreams of war are fled,
The land you saved will sacred keep
The city of her dead.
