

DR. JAMES WITHYCOMBE

WITHYCOMBE EASILY WINS

Prohibition May Carry; Hawley and Sinnott Win; Chamberlain Ahead.

The election of the Republican state and Congressional ticket, with the ex-ception of United States Senator, is indicated by incomplete returns cover-ing the state generally. On the vote for United States Senator some re-turns have been received from, every county, and, although George E. Chamberlain and R. A. Booth are running not far apart in the state outside of Multnomah County, the large plurality for Mr. Chamberlain in Multnomah County seems to indicate his election.

Returns Favor Prohibition.

On prohibition while the issue may yet be said to be in some doubt the though Multnomah County may give a substantial majority against prohibi-tion it is not likely, on the basis of carly returns, that this majority will go as high as 10,000 in the state outside of Multnomah County, and if the pres-ent ratios are continued the amendment

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.-Sweeping NEW YORK, Nov. a.—Sweeping Republican gains throughout the coun-try, which reached a climax in this state by the overwhelming victory of Charles S. Whitman, for Governor, and James W. Wadsworth, to succeed Elihu Root in the United States Senate were indicted tonight in early returns of indicted tonight in early returns of the general elections. Heavy falling off of the Progressive vote in many states, the return to Congress of ex-Speaker Cannon, decisive Republican gains in New York and Illinois in the House membership and the overwhelming defeat of Rep-resertative Palmer by Senator Penrose in Pennsylvaria were features of the early returns, Massachusetts Comforts Democrats. Democratic leaders, however, were pleased by a triumph in Massachusetts, where ex-Representative McCall was defeated for the Governorship by Gov-ernor Walsh. Early returns indicated that the Democrats would retain control of Congress, with approximately no change in the Senate majority, but by a de-cidedly reduced majority in the House. At a late hour results in Illinois, Inmorning as it had been each succesdiana, California and Colorado as to the Senatorship were in doubt. sive morning since Dan's departure.

Roger Sullivan May Be Beaten. ization of the fact that Dan had not A close contest for the Illinois Sen-atorship was indicated by returns re-ceived up to a late hour. It looked as if the plurality rolled up by Sullivan (Dem.) in Cook County, might be offsome home-apparently did not intend She had waited up the night he had (Dem.) in Cook County, might be one set, if not exceeded, by Sherman's gains in other counties. The result probably will not be known definitely until late iffe, no matter where her husband was or how late he might be coming

The triumph of Senator Penrose in home. As the night hours lengthened Democrat, who was one of the original supporters of Woodrow Wilson, and clusion that Dan meant to stay away Pinchot, Progressive, was for the night. That he wouldn't be overwhelming. home at all through the day never oc-

Francis E. McGovern. Republican, was elected, according to early returns, curred to her. She reasoned that a to succeed Senator Stephenson, Republican, from Wisconsin.

Former Leaders Returned.

The triumph of ex-Speaker Cannon, Dan didn't "run in" that day nor the ocen elected over Fred Hollister. The incomplete returns give the following figures:

 In Representative in the Eighteenth Illi-nois District, also seemed certain. Other Illinois Republicans who were turned out of the House in the last Democratic landslide, who will be re-turned to Congress, were William B. A. Sterling. Republicans also made gains in New York, Oscar W. Swift defeating Representative James H. O'Brien in the Ninth District H.

Republican, over Frank T. O'Hair, for Representative in the Eighteenth Illinext. The days had become weeks, yet neither by telephone nor letter had he sent as much as a word. Finally Mary had mustered up her sourage and telephoned his club. It took courage for Mary to use the telephone on any occasion. She was afraid of the sound of her own voice the monnott gains in New York, Oscar W. Swift s are defeating Representative James H. nt: O'Brien in the Ninth District; Rollin 1.033 B. Sanford, defeating Representative 411 Peter G. Teneyck; Walter W. McGee, 339, ucceeding to the seat of Representa-tive Clancy, while R. L. Haskell, Re-publican, was elected in the Tenth Dis-trict ment she began to talk into the transmitter. This time she feared Dan's displeasure and his possible harshness. Mr. Slade was out, had left no message, they did not know when he would return, was the disappointing The vote on prohibition outside of trict. Multhomah County is as follows on in-The defeat of Representative Korresult as she hung the receiver on the bly, Democrat, of Indiana, by Merrill Moore, also marked the general trend book.

complete returns is 477, it must be re-membered that the up-state vote is twice as large as the Multnomah County, vote and that a greater pro-portion of the total vote has been counted in Multromat County, vote and that a greater pro-portion of the total vote has been counted in Multnomah than in any other county. Throughout the state there has been Throughout the state there has been Throughout the state there has been

Throughout the state there has been general vote against abolishment of be Senate and the $1500 tax exemp-souri and North Dakota and prohibi-telephone. With faitering voice site Throughout the state there has been a general vote against abolishment of the Senate and the $1500 tax exemp-tion and the universal eight-hour law. Returns from 19 counties on these tion in Arizona and Ohlo was indi-cated.

Copyright, 1913 (Public a Hights Heserved) by David Beinso

SYNOPSIS. Daniel Slade suddenly advances from Daniel Siade suddenly advances from a penniless miner to a millionaire. He is ambitious to become governor of the state. His simple, home-loving wife fails to rise, to the new conditions. Slade meets Katherine, daughter of Senator Strick-iand, and sees in her all that Mary is not. Slade decides to separate from his wife and takes rooms at his club.

CHAPTER V.

talking even more cleverly, Slade and Katherine had come to a mutual understanding. The more they saw of each other the more each became convinced that their paths would inevitably converge.

Katherine talked animatedly and entertainingly of social life abroad and of the gay times in Washington, and Slade's heart warmed and his eyes flashed as he pictured himself a part of that charmed circle. With keen Mary Slade sat down to the break penetration he saw the longing of the fast table with a certain sense of begirl's nature, her iron will, her deterwilderment. It was the same this mination to gain social honors at almost any cost. He flattered himself that when he said the word Katherine She could not bring herself to the real-Strickland would be ready to cast her lot with his.

From the smoking room of Senator Strickland's big house came the strident sound of men's voices, raised in excitement, and, it would seem, acclaim. Now and again the senator's smooth, oratorical voice would sound and then Slade's slightly deprecatory. yet firm and pleased. Then would follow the patter of applause, laughter and the sudden dropping of voices that signified earnest converse,

To Katherine Strickland, sitting in the softly lighted library adjoining. and that he would have recovered every sound had its meaning. Her from his "tantrum" the next day. But eyes sparkled with keen interest. In her cheeks glowed the deep rose of excitement and exultation. In that other room she knew they were making history. In that other room they were putting up a man for governor, a man she admired and who had aroused her interest as no other man had ever

Nothing could stand in that man's way, she thought, with a catch in her breath, nothing could stop him now that he was fairly started. How different this domineering, forceful personality from Bob Hayes, the man who had first won her girl's heart, and yet for whom she had never been willing to renounce her interest in the political and social life which obsessed her This morning, as the maid served with the same compelling force as it done

did Slade.

With an effort she brought her mind back to the present and to Mrs. Wesley Merritt, who had dropped in on her way from a dance to pick up her husband.

"You simply weren't listening to word I said," Mrs. Merritt complained in her affectedly affectionate way. "I was asking if you know Mr. Slade very well

"Yes," Katherine replied, lightly, we know him very well."

"And does he ever mention his wife ?" in Mrs. Merritt's most perfectly feline manner.

ing a time of it in there. Good eve ning, Mrs. Merritt, your husband is certainly making it warm for Mr. Slade.

"Indeed," laughed Mrs. Merritt, gratified for the moment. "Dear, dear!" she exclaimed as she watched Hayes gazing wistfully at Katherine and looking very handsome and manly in his well-made evening clothes. "It's quite like old times to see you together." Unhappy herself. it gave her a certain pleasure to make other people unhappy. The jealousy she had long felt for the younger and more beautiful woman found expression now in her purring tones, as, with amiable cruelty, she reminded them of their earlier intimacy. She took delight in making Bob writhe and Katherine whiten as she recalled their passionate young love when only the senator's stern interference had kept them from wedding.

"Let me see," she recollected, "when I was your confidante, you were twenty-one, Katherine, and you, Rob. were twenty-four. 1 can feel Rob's hands gripping mine yet: 'O, Fannieplease see her for me-the senator doesn't approve of it.' And the tears you shed on my shoulder, Katherine

-why, it feels wet to think of it." "O! Fannie!" Katherine's voice was not as firm as usual.

"I always said," the woman persisted, "Rob, she'll come home to you in the end-

"I think I'll go back and listen to the discussion," and Bob flung dis-gustedly out of the room. At the door he almost collided with Merritt. Katherine had hurried out to see a reporter who wanted the wherefores and the whys of the dinner party to Slade.

"I can't possibly get away, dear," Merritt explained to his wife. "I've been buttonholed by some men from up the state. Shall you wait or go home-first?"

Mrs. Merritt refused to be dis missed in that peremptory fashion. "I'll wait," she returned with acid sweetness. "Then if you are not ready I'll run along."

"Slade's had an ovation tonight," Merritt informed her, nodding toward the smoking-room. "The big out-oftown men are all here. Some of 'em in there yet. He's big, Fannie. He's big. We can't deny that. The brute attacks his point with all the force of a sledge hammer."

"Yes, that's what you lackpunch!" his wife turned on him petulantly.

"You're snowed under," she complained, bitterly. "If you'd taken my advice you wouldn't have come to this Slade feed tonight. What's your paper for," she demanded, "if you can't attack your rival candidate in its columns? Anyone would think you wanted to make him governor-instead of yourself."

"I can't attack him publicly," Merritt retorted. "He'd put up glue factories facing our property and, with a lake breeze blowing our wayphew! My position is very difficult. Of course, election's a long way ahead, but I'm the only stick in his puddle." "Yes, you're a big stick!" she "Why don't you do sometaunted.

thing?" "What can I do?" he groaned. "I've been told tonight by no less than ent ratios are co nued the am will have an affirmative majority of about 15,000. During the early evening the returns received presaged a close vote upstate, but these figures were from close-in business districts largely in the larger towns. As later figures became available the favorable vote for the amendment began to forge ahead with the probable result as already expressed

Tax Exemption Defeated.

On the various amendments figures on only three other measures were available at a late hour last night. These indicated conclusively that the $1500 exemption, the abolishment of the Senate and the universal eight-hour law had been decisively defeated.

The incomplete figures from all counties in the state outside of Mult-nomah gave the following totals on United States Senator:

Booth's plurality ..... ..... 63

Chamberlain in Lead But in Multnomah County, with nearly 6000 votes counted, Mr. Chamberlain had a plurality there of 991. The subtraction of Mr. Booth's plurality in the state gives Mr. Chamberlain a plurality of 928. It is practically impossi-ble to make an estimate of the plurality by which Mr. Chamberlain will be elected, as in many counties the totals, as computed, show only two or three votes difference. These figures have come largely from berlain's lead and sometimes give him the better of the vote. Lane County has given Mr. Booth a handsome plurality, probably as much as 4000.

Withycombe Easy Winner.

tween 25,000 and 30,000. The rural countles have gone very strongly for the Republican candidate while the cities are not far behind them. Outside of Multnomah County the figures on the contest for Governor Multnomah etween the two candidates are as follows:

 3.186

 Withycombe
 3.186

 Smith
 2.153

 Withycombe's lead
 1.033

 Withycombe's lead
 1.033

 With the vote in Multhomah County
 1.033

 With the forgress stand as follows:
 0 or at, and W. S. U'Ren, Independent, out of 41 are: For prohibition 100,

Smith

by Pennsylvania Returns.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3. - Election of Penrose, Rep., to the United States plurality, and also an easy victory for Brumbaugh, Rep., candidate for Gov- servatively at 25,000. ernor, are indicated by returns from election districts out of 6727 in the The vote: state.

United States Senator-Palmer, Dem. nchot, Prog., 31,831; Penrose, small. 32,987; Rep., 119,628. For Govern figures are not so complete as those returned on Booth and Chamberlain. Adding in Multnomah County Hanley has 1323 votes as compared with 4677 for Booth and 5605 for Chamberlain.

For Governor - McCormick, Dem.-Prog., 51,349; Brumbaugh, Rep., 124,-

Sinnott Evans Cleaver

....

Sinnott's lead Drys 392 Ahead Outside.

complete returns:

Prohibition, yes

George E. Chamberlain.

These figures have come targets with the exception of the baby have ship the Republicans probably have carried the county for all candidates coming in sometimes reverse Mr. Cham-With the exception of the Senator including C. N. McArthur for Congress and Thomas M. Hurlburt for Sheriff. The prohibition amendment has failed to carry in the county, according to the available returns. Among the other Withycombe Easy Winner. Dr. Withycombe has been elected by a large plurality unless early returns are deceiving. If the present ratios lead over Dr. C. J. Smith will be be-trace 25000 and 30000. The rural Chamberlain's Lead 991.

Chamberlain, Democrat, has carried Multnomah County over Robert A. Booth, Republican, and William Han-

PENROSE'S PLURALITY HEAVY WISCONSIN ELECTS REPUBLICAN

Republican Governor Also Indicated Emmanuel Philipp Wins in Contest

for Governor.

Philipp, Rep., of Milwaukee, today de-feated Judge John C. Karel, Dem., of Senate from Pennsylvania, by a large Milwaukee, in the race for Governor of plurality, and also an easy victory for Wisconsin by a plurality estimated con-The estimate is from widely scattered returns. The vote for John J. Blaine, Ind., candidate for Governor. is decidedly McGovern, Republican, for the United States Senator, is leading Husting, Dem-ocrat, according to scattered returns in Wisconsin outside Milwaukee.

Republican, of Connecticut, who was opposed by Governor Simeon E. Baldwin: Albert B. Cummins, Republican, of Iowa, who deteated Representative Connolly; John Walter Smith. Democrat, of Maryiand; William J. Stone, there or not never occurred to the Democrat, of Missouri; Jacob H. Gal-linger, Republican, of New Hampshire. Who was opposed by Representative Stavens Stevens.

were re-elected without difficulty, new Senators from Southern states chosen being Representative Oscar W. Under-Thomas W. Hardwick, of Georgia. man to waver, he did not once look Ex-Governor J. C. W: Breckham, Dem-back to the wife he had so coolly dewood, of Alabama, and Representative ocrat, of Kentucky, was chosen for the ong term.

In California there was an excepreturns as were at hand from that He was sniffing the first breath of fu-state indicated a landslide for Govr- ture glories with keenest delight. This tion to the Progressive slump. Such nor Johnson, the Progressive executive, at the amendments appeared to have been beaten decisively. State-wide prohibition was beaten in Obio, but in Colorado the early vote was more noticeable as he walked was in favor of it.

Early Returns Indicate Prohibition

Issue Is Losing.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 3 .- Early partial returns from various precincts throughout the state indicate that the race for Governor between the incumbent, James M. Cox, Democrat, and Frank B. Willis, with the former slightly in the lead, is extremely close. James R. Garfield, Progressive, was conceded early to have desirable. chance.

Partial returns from almost every part of the State of Ohio up to 9 o'clock indicate that Warren G. Harding, Re-publican, is establishing a substantial lead over Timothy S. Hogan, Democrat. Chamberlain's Lead 991. Incomplete returns from 225 of the 326 precincts in the county at 3 o'clock 326 precincts in the county at 3 o'clock Fifteen precincts in Cuyahoga County Fifteen precincts in Cuyahoga County 1934. Four precincts out of 56 in Scioto County give prohibition 261, against 221.

MICHIGAN CONTEST IS CLOSE

DETROIT, Nov. 2 .- Fragmentary returns received up to 10 o'clock tonight bore out the prediction of all party leaders that the Michigan party gubernatorial contest between Govfor Governor. MILWAUKEE, Nov. 2. — Emmanuel Osborn (Rep.) would be an exciting > precincts out of a total of 2132 gave Ferris 32,924; Osborn, 26,136, and H. R.

Osborn followers counted on a big majority in the upper peninsula. The Progressive vote was falling below that cast in 1912. Frank E. Doremus, in the Fifth District, and Samuel W. Beakes, in the second, the two Michigan Democratic Representa-tives in Congress seeking re-election, ware in the lead in the cash returns ote was falling 1912. Frank E. fth District, and were in the lead in the early returns.

was repeated the call, only to receive a similar reply. The possibility of her by her, and if an untruth, more or Democratic Senators in the South less, were necessary, the telephone boy was easily bribed.

Meanwhile Slade was eagerly lookserted. He was being dined and banqueted and feted, being everywhere hailed as the candidate for governor. was the sort of thing that made a man was the sort of thing that made a man Woman suffrage apparently fared ill feel big! This was the sort of life to lead-with men bowing and salaaming e hands of the voters. In Ohio, Dakota and Missouri suffrage all around him. He walked with a firmer tread. His shoulders were thrown back a bit more arrogantly. His chest down the street.

The innate concelt and self-esteem HARDING LEADING IN OHIO of the man made him overlook the fact that the party needed a rich man. He was quite satisfied that he was being boosted by Strickland and the others because of his brains, his unusual ability, his oratory and his power to lead men. He was happier than he had been for years. Every day the new life looked brighter and the old less

> If he gave a thought to Mary it was a passing one. Mary was "comfortable." She had everything that money could buy. The servants would be tak ing good care of her, of course. Of the lump in Mary's throat as she sat at the lonely breakfast table and as she went through the still more lonesome ordeal of the formal dinner, he knew nothing. Of the woman's aching > tears as she tried to keep up before the servants and make excuses for his absence, Slade was heartlessly oblivious. Or perhaps it was self-esteem again, that made him unable to feel cessful man who feels no wounds neither knows nor cares that others unpleasantly like Pharaoh's.

But of Katherine Strickland's statuesque beauty and her cosmopolitan manner he was delightfully aware. During the weeks since he had left home Slade had been calling regularly at the Strickland home, partly to consult with the senator and partly for the purpose of posing for the bust which Katherine was modeling. As they sat hour after hour, he posing of Hayes.

comfortably, she working defty and

"Never once," admitted Katherine, without even an attempt at an evasion. "And you have never met her?" Mrs. Merritt was in her glory if she could probe.

"No, I have never met her."

"How extraordinary! My husband -why. Wesley Merritt's name spells hearth and home, domestic puritywhile Slade's! They tell me he hasn't seen his wife for weeks, and it's town ing forward to his new life. Never a talk that he's living at his club. And to think he's never mentioned her to you!"

Katherine had guietly rung for a servant, and as Mrs. Merritt finished, remarked casually: "Martin, see that these letters are mailed at once."

Unabashed, Mrs. Merritt was moving eagerly about the artistic room, comfortable in all its appointments, its richness enhanced and mellowed with age, a blend of color that nothing but years can give.

Fannie Merritt was a decided blonde Her decision had been made more than ten years before. It was a decision that, once made, must be abided by, and the woman had been living up to it ever since. Her gown was the last word of sartorial elegance and style. Daringly decollette it clung to her long, svelte figure with loving emphasis, and trailed round her exquisitely dressed feet. Her hair did credit to the hairdresser's long and patient efforts, and long, bizarre diamond pendants flashed and sparkled from her ears. If ever a woman had become a slave to her own personal pleasure and dress, that woman was Fannie Merritt. Too self-centered and selfish ever to crave motherhood, she lavished a kind of affection on a watery-eyed little poodle, which repaid her with lap-dog gratitude, Tonight she was restless and ill at ease. Like Katherine, her mind was heart and her eyes bright with unshed full of one thought-Slade, Slade, Slade -but thoughts that took a different direction. She was sick of his name. sick of hearing of his money, sick of the talk of his power and of hearing him named as "the man of the hour." for her-the self-esteem of the suc- He was winning the very honors she had coveted for her husband, and takwhen fighting for what he wants, and ing them right out from beneath his very eyes and nose. There didn't seem feel them. He had a heart, but it was to be a doubt of Slade becoming governor, the very position for which her husband had been striving for the past six terms. Slade with his millions needed the governorship no more than a pampered child needs a new toy. while to her husband success or failure this time meant either the retrieving of his fortunes or his utter ruin. The abstraction of the two women was broken by the sudden entrance "Whew!" he whistled. "They're hav-men that they won't support me again. And Strickland's speech introducing Slade was a masterpiece!"

"Yes-Strickland's masterpieces are concocted by his daughter, we all know that. Just as I write your stuff." she finished with hateful emphasis on the possessive.

"My dear, I wish you'd be more careful!" warned Merritt, making sure that the door leading into the smoking-room was closed.

"Your 'Message to the Farmer'-that made you famous! What did I ever get for writing it?" and with self-satisfied deliberateness she arranged herself carefully in a low-seated chair near the fireplace.

"I never denied that you had a man's brain," placatingly, drawlingly, mockingly, "darling."

"Yes-I'm the family mosquito that buzzes behind your ears. God help us if it wasn't for me. Did you ask the senator for the $10,000 I want?" she demanded.

"He can't," Merritt was huddled in the nearest chair. The subject had been causing him appetiteless days and sleepless nights. When a woman of Fannie Merritt's persistency and tenacity wants something a man can't get then that man is very likely to be nagged into desperation.

"You look out, Wesley," she answered, alarm breaking the careful modulation of her voice. "That's the first time he ever refused us."

"He's broke-dead broke. I don't know how he can keep this up. The senator's nearly out. That's why he's sticking to Slade."

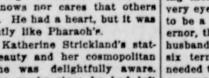

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Wonderful.

Her soldier son in India had sent a cablegram, and Mrs. Blunderleigh's voice rang with pride when speaking of it to her impressed neighbors. "Yes, they be wonderful things, they telegraphs," said she. "Just fancy, it's come from Indy-all they thou-sands o' miles." "And so quick, too," put in her best friend. "Quick ain't the word for it," put in Mrs. Blunderleigh. "Why, when I got it the gum on the envelope wasn't dry."

Explains Baseball's Popularity.

Nothing equals baseball as a popular sport. Baseball stimulates the mind and invigorates, instead of exhausts. the body. It can be played in any field, at almost no cost. Expense is the handicap which keeps tennis and golf out of the running as great popular sports. A baseball game may be played in two hours-an advantage which will ever make it more popular than cricket as an international game.

Three hundred and fifty-four state

Pattengill (Prog.), 6955.