Horseshoe Pike. Nearly every new person who travels the old Horseshoe pike stops to ask how the old road got its name. A former resident of Honeybrook explains that in the old days it was not customary to shoe horses because of the expense, and on the farm or dirt roads no shoes were needed. On this stone road, however, a horse could not travel without shoes, and so it was called the Horseshoe pike because a horse must be shod before being driven there.—Philadelphia Record.

The Best She Could Do. "We've got to cut down our expenses," said Woodby. "We are living in a style that makes everybody think my income must be twice as big as it is."

"Well," his wife replied, "what more do you want, seeing that there is no chance for you to double your income?" —Chicago Herald.

Miss Katie Shelley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Shelley of this place, and Charles H. Roscoe, of near Summit, Oregon, were united in wedlock at ten thirty o'clock Wednesday morning, December 8, at the home of the bride's parents.

At the stated time, Mrs. Ralph L. Putnam sweetly sang "Love's Old Sweet Song" followed by the entrance of the bridal party, to the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" played by Mrs. A. E. Bradshaw, the bride's sister. The bridal party consisted of Ralph L. Putnam, minister, Mabel Bradshaw, flower girl, Hilda Trask, ring bearer, bearing the ring in a dainty blue silk basket, and the bride and groom. The bride and groom were stationed under a beautiful bower of Chrysanthemums and greenery, while the impressive ring ceremony was performed. The bride was beautifully attired in a cream silk messaline gown trimmed in lace and her bridal veil was daintily caught up by Lillies of the Valley. She carried a large bouquet of white carnation and fern. The groom was dressed in conventional black.

After receiving a shower of hearty congratulations the happy couple were escorted with their guests, about twenty-five in all, to the dining room where a bountiful wedding dinner was served. They were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents.

The bride presented the flower girl and ring bearer each with a beautiful signet ring.
