Questions the auto buyer should understand.

- How long has a model been on the market?
A new model requires three to five years of selling to eliminate the experiments.
- Where is the transmission located?
When it is on the rear axle the owner finds it expensive even tho it reduces the first cost of the car.
- What is the size and stability of the manufacturer?
When concerns are run by directors dividends must be forthcoming, otherwise the man in charge of the production loses his job. R. E. Olds is responsible to no man for the permanent success of the Reo.
- How about service?
The car you buy must be distributed by a concern that is morally and financially able to carry and replace parts without delay.
These are a few of the main reasons why we were selected and why we accepted the obligation to represent—thru our agents—the makers of

REO The Incomparable Car.

Anti-Rust Preparation.

An ounce of camphor dissolved in a pound of lard is a good anti-rust preparation that farmers may use to cover the bright parts of their machines. The acum that forms in making this mixture should be taken off. If it is desired to have the preparation the same color of the machine, lead may be added. The mixture should be applied to the well cleaned parts and allowed to remain about twenty hours. Any excess may be rubbed off. The mixture forms a coating that will take a good polish when rubbed with a soft cloth. Axle grease is also excellent for keeping plow bottoms from rusting and may be used for the bright parts. Paint is a good rust preventive but is hard to get off.—O. A. C. Bulletin on Care of Farm Machines.

Story of the Lazy Servant.

Once there was a lazy servant who wished she was rich. So a fairy appeared and gave her a lamp. "Rub that lamp," explained the fairy, "and you can have what you want." But the lazy servant was not impressed. "It's just a scheme to get the brass work polished," she yawned. And so her fortunes remained as they were.

Farmers of Northwest Refuse to Sell Wheat

Reports from the Northwest wheat markets are that it was impossible to buy. The largest dealers did not appear to be in the market, but there was a fair demand from other quarters, but farmers could not be interested to the point of selling. Bids were unchanged at interior points, but on the Portland [exchange] the prices offered were 1 cent to 2 cents under those of a few days ago, as a consequence of the easier trend at Chicago.

March promises to be an interesting month in the Northwestern markets. It is understood that a large quantity of wheat has been sold for shipment to the East during the month, and it is not believed the sales have been covered to any great extent. With farmers in a holding mood and likely to continue so, full prices may have to be bid to get the necessary supply. March shipments are expected to equal those of recent months. Unsold stocks in the Northwest are variously estimated at from 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 bushels. But little more wheat will be bought to come this way, aside from probably 2,500,000 to 3,000,000 bushels that California will take, and the remainder, if sold, will have to go East. It will be a large quantity to move in the ordinary course of trade. The prospects are that much wheat will be carried over, perhaps more than in any former year.

500 Horses and Mules Are Sold.

Caldwell, Idaho—At a public auction of horses and mules held at the Union Stockyards here 600 animals went under the hammer in four hours and a half, averaging better than two a minute, and established a selling record for the Northwest. Bidding on the offerings was spirited, the prices ranging from $150 to $200 a head. Manager Smeed estimates the sales at $100,000. St. Louis, Omaha, Kansas City, Seattle and Chicago men were heavy purchasers. The Caldwell Horse & Mule Co. still has 1500 head.

Egg Market Is Ruling Steady.

The Portland egg market was firm with moderate receipts. The bulk of business was reported at 18 1/2 cents, with small lots bringing 19 cents. Canned eggs jobbed at 20 cents.

Poultry is scarce and as the demand is good, prices are on a firm basis. The street is oversupplied with veal and the price dropped with sales at 11 cents. No changes were reported in the butter market.

NEVER TOUCHED MULES.

But the Automobile They Clashed With Was Wrecked.

An auto driven by J. L. Long and a span of mules met in a head-on collision at night on the state highway at Live Oak, California.

The mules were knocked down, but before they could be released from the entanglement Long was kicked in the left side and sent into the ditch.

The auto's steering apparatus was smashed, the windshield shattered, a hole punched in the tonneau, and a slice cut out of a tire.

The mules escaped without a scratch.

Care of Hatching Eggs.

Eggs to be used for hatching should be gathered at least once a day. Twice daily or oftener is better if there is danger of freezing or severe chilling, or if they are liable to become muddy from feet of hens or set on by broody hens during the day. The egg is laid for one purpose only: the hatching of a chick. Help this purpose along by taking proper care of the egg before setting. The fresher the eggs are at time of setting the better. However, eggs can be kept ten to twelve days before setting. When this is done they should be kept in a cool, reasonably dry place away from the sun's rays and turned once daily. A temperature of 60 degrees to 65 degrees F. is right for keeping the eggs. Avoid keeping them many days, as the vitality of the living germ is lowered by holding. Do not keep the eggs in a temperature above 80 degrees F. Select for hatching the kind of eggs you wish to produce. The size, shape and color of the eggs are inherited characteristics. Select well proportioned eggs. You cannot tell the sex of the chicken an egg will produce by its shape.

Had Use For It.

At a dinner the other night a speaker referred to the witty remarks occasionally made by the feeble-minded, and told this story as an example:

Recently a man happened into a town where there was a county asylum, and in walking past the place he got into a conversation with one of the harmless inmates who had the privilege of the grounds.

"I suppose," remarked the stranger, "that you are familiar with the country around here?"

"Oh, yes," was the prompt rejoinder of the feeble-minded one, "I know all about it."

"Good," commented the stranger. "Then you can tell me where this railroad goes?"

"It doesn't go anywhere," seriously replied the other. "We keep it here to run trains on."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

ORDERS U. S. ARMY TO DISPATCH VILLA

Washington Determined to End Border Raids at Any Cost.

WATCHFUL WAITING PROGRAM ENDS

Whether General Occupation Follows Will Depend Upon Attitude of Carranza's Government.

Washington, D. C. — American troops were ordered across the Mexican border Friday by President Wilson to take Francisco Villa and his bandits dead or alive.

Under the direction, if not the leadership, of Major General Funston, who ended the Philippine insurrection by taking Aguinaldo, American columns are expected to move into Mexico at once.

They go to meet 3000 guerrilla troops in a mountainous region, from which Carranza troops have fled.

Whether this long-deferred armed action, which begins purely as a punitive measure, to clear Northern Mexico of menacing bandit bands over which General Carranza has no control, shall grow into a general armed intervention or occupation in Mexico depends, in a large measure, on General Carranza and the Mexican people.

"An adequate force will be sent at once in pursuit of Villa with the single object of capturing him and putting a stop to his forays.

"This can be done and will be done in entirely friendly aid of the constituted authorities in Mexico and with scrupulous respect for the sovereignty of that republic."

That statement was prepared by the President himself.

President Wilson's intention to depart from the policy of watchful waiting, ended by the Columbus massacre of Friday, was announced after it had been unanimously approved by the cabinet and administration leaders in congress. The president's position was explained fully to the latter, who agreed that he should not be embarrassed at this time by discussion of a minority which might arouse trouble in Mexico.

After a brief cabinet meeting, at which the President was described as being as determined to eliminate Villa as he was to eliminate Huerta, Secretary Baker hurried to the War department and sent orders to the border troops.

Allies Refuse to Disarm Vessels; Notice Is Expected Soon

Washington, D. C.—The entente allies have agreed to inform the United States that they cannot accept the proposal in Secretary Lansing's recent circular memorandum that a modus vivendi be entered into for the disarmament of belligerent-owned merchant ships. Conferences between the allies on this subject have ended and formal replies are expected in the near future.

Advices to the State department from the embassies at London, Paris and Rome some time ago made it apparent that the disarmament plan had met with no favor, and the department has been proceeding on the assumption that it would be rejected.

The United States does not question the right and international law of merchantmen to arm for defense. Disarmament by agreement was proposed purely as a humanitarian expedient on account of the development of submarine warfare.

Packing Cases Settled.

Washington, D. C.—From unofficial but reliable sources it was learned here that the long-standing cases of the American packers have been settled. The cases involved the detention by the British government of large quantities of meat products shipped from the United States to the neutral countries of North Europe. While details of the settlement are lacking, it is known the British government has undertaken to secure the exporters against loss by a system of long-time contracts.

Munition Train Chased.

El Paso, Tex.—A party of 50 soldiers from Fort Bliss began the pursuit of a number of Mexicans Saturday, who, with a wagon train of small arms and ammunition, were said to have taken a westerly course along the Rio Grande, on the American side. Six Mexicans, suspected of being Villa spies, were arrested by the El Paso police. Among the number was General Manuel Banda, formerly Villa commander of the Juarez garrison, and Colonel Pablo Luna, formerly a member of Villa's personal bodyguard.

Gen. Carranza "Sorry."

Douglas, Ariz. — "I am sorry that conditions are such that the United States deems it necessary to take the action of which you have advised me." This answer was made by General Carranza to a telegram sent to him by General P. Elias Calles, military governor of Sonora, asking the first chief of the de facto Mexican government for an expression of his opinion on the act of President Wilson in ordering a punitive expedition into Mexico.

Automobile Distribution.

Very few people realize how painstakingly the service end of automobile distribution is cared for by the factory as well as by the dealer considered worthy of representing a high grade car with a well earned reputation to maintain.

As an example of this personal desire to serve the users of Reo no less a person than H. T. Thomas, chief engineer for the Reo Motor Car Company has the Service Department of that great plant under his personal direction. When he was asked by Charlie Menzies, sales manager of the Northwest Auto Co., why he devoted his own time in part to this work he said:

"It has always been my idea to map out a course where I could be in daily touch with the performance of Reo cars. To do this I know of no better way than being in immediate touch with the detail work of this department, so I am touching elbows with the Reo owners through the co-operation of each department head and I am at all times open to the suggestions of Reo owners. We aim in particular to show our assent in this respect through prompt handling of all correspondence which relates to the service end of the business. I figure I cannot be in too close a personal touch with each owner and dealer and regardless of how much of my own time it takes—the results more than justify the efforts made in this direction."
